BRIGHT MEN HAVE SAID.

One of the saloon's paid speakers boasted that no men of high standing have favored prohibition. Of course it was the worst kind of falsehood. Here is the position of a few:

Bob Ingersoll: "All we have to do is to think of the wrecks on either side of the stream, of suicides, of insanity, of the poverty, of the ignorance, and of the desolation. Intemperance cuts down youth in its vigor, manhood in its strength, age in its weakness. It breaks the father's heart, bereaves the doting mother, extinguishes natural affection, causes the conjugal love, blots out filial attachments, blights paternal hope and brings down weary age in sorrow to the grave, and then follows a long, eloquent, list of its crimes, matchlessly worded."

William McKinley: "By legalizing this traffic we agree to share with the saloon keeper the responsibility and evil of his business. Every man who votes for the license becomes of necessity a partner in the liquor traffic and all its consequences."

Governor Hoke Smith, Georgia: "It is absolutely impossible to have permanent decent government where the saloon dominates municipal affairs. The elimination of the saloon will help municipal politics everywhere."

Governor T. M. Campbell, Texas: "About 50 of the totally dry counties, and many precincts in others, have become so since 1903, 147 counties absolutely dry. The effect has been to greatly decrease the consumption of intoxicants, and has greatly decreased the amount of crime."

Governor E. W. Hoch, Kansas: "Not a single good thing can be said of the saloon. It is everywhere and always an enemy to good society and good government. It is the devil's best recruiting camp."

Governor R. B. Glenn, North Carolina: "As for me, I am heart and soul against saloons. After thirty years' experience as a prosecuting officer in the courts I am firmly of the opinion that 60 per cent of crime is directly the result of strong drink and 92 per cent is indirectly caused by it."

SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN.

Albany people take a special interest in Senator Geo. E. Chamberlain's career. It has been a notable one and our people are proud of the splendid record of the senator, because of the fact that he made his start in Oregon at this city. Coming here a young man, a complete stranger, he made his way upward, through the country school house, the county clerk's office, a law office, the state legislature, district attorney's office, attorney general's office, governor's office twice, into the U. S. senate, the greatest distinction politically that can be accorded a resident of our state. It took something to do that. Not merely his personal popularity was enough. Back of it was a sterling integrity, reliability and natural ability that have never deserted him. Some have thrown mud at him, but it has spattered back, and an investigation has always spoken in his favor. The people of Oregon like him because he is close to them, and they know it. Their confidence in him is stronger today than ever regardless of the peanut thrusts of those trying to tear down the Oregon system, that has given Oregon a standing in the nation.

He is always welcome to Albany, and is sure of a large hearing whenever he speaks here.

WEST AND BOWERMAN.

As Mr. West himself stated, he is running on his record, while Jay Bowerman is running away from his record. West is standing on a platform of things he has done, while Bowerman is standing on a platform of promises he has made. Bowerman allied himself to the big interests, West to the common people. Bowerman is an assembly nominee, the result according to the Oregonian itself, of a secret session of certain interests, centered in Portland, and he never would have been a nominee except for the assembly, regardless of his claims of being a direct primary candidate. West was nominated according to the laws of the state by the people of his party.

Shall the people of this district elect a man to congress who has been dominated by the Joe Cannon system of politics, or shall they elect one who may be depended upon to stand with the people. It is an important matter, and voters will do well to investigate the excellent claims of Robert G. Smith of Grants Pass for recognition before voting.

OS. WEST IN BENTON.

Os. West, democratic nominee for governor, and Mr. Ralph Watson, a prominent Portland newspaper man, passed through the city this noon for Benton county, where Mr. West is billed for some meetings. Benton county promises to give him one of the finest votes in the state. Not only the Gazette-Times, but many other republicans are giving him a hearty support for the position.

He reported splendid prospects of his election, after having covered Eastern Oregon, and in fact most of the state, based on reports of a reliable character. Mr. West appreciates the good work the Oregonian is doing for him, its mud throwing everywhere reacting.

SATURDAY NIGHT THOUGHTS.

Let's see, wasn't Roosevelt this week training with the regulars? It is harder to keep track of him than it is a ball in a foot ball game; but back of all his greatness there is a character that stands for something, hence he has to be forgiven a little.

Oregon is one week nearer an election that has created a good deal of interest, and in a few days voters will be laboring with ballots six feet long if in a single column. A man of average agility can easily vote one in five minutes. He should know what he is going to do before hand and then do it quickly and correctly, and particularly be sure that he is right on the important issues of the day. The campaign has been one of education, and our people are knowing more about things than they ever have before, something needed.

A feature of a campaign that is always to be regretted is the deliberate vicious lying that is reported by some. It makes dirty what ought to be clean. It is natural for men to earnestly work for their candidates, but there is no excuse for deliberate dishonesty.

A man of national reputation in church work was in the city this week giving a talk that was greatly appreciated by a few of Albany's good people. This matter of Christian doing and living does not interest some; but it ought to be of vital concern to all; for it is the most important of all things under consideration. The life is well spent that has the good of our fellow men first, rising great above the throng of selfishness that dominates the world.

Some people don't even try to be decent.

Booze blasts all the time, a continual menace and disturber.

These days are pumpkin days, but don't be a squash on Hallowe'en.

The man who just thinks of himself doesn't half live.

(FRIDAY.)

The W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held this week. The report given by Mrs. Brown of the State Convention recently held in Salem was interesting and very encouraging, showing the increased interest throughout the state, and the determination by this organization to do all it possibly can to uphold the right in the present campaign for temperance in Oregon. The officers of our local union are as follows: President, Mr. L. E. Blain; Recording Sec., Mrs. Bilyeu; Corresponding Sec., Mrs. Garrett; Treasurer, Mrs. Williamson.

Good Word for Kimsey.

Scio News:—Wiley A. Kimsey, candidate on the democratic ticket for county treasurer should receive a good vote in the forks of the Santiam, for he is a product of this section of the county. He was born on the Crabtree creek a short way and received his education mainly in Scio. Owing to the fact that his left hip was dislocated early in life, he is a cripple; yet he does not claim sympathy on that account. He has had a number of years experience in teaching school and is well qualified to perform the duties of the office for which he asks election.

The Mexican Mine

News has just come from Mexico to Dr. Hill that another new rich vein has been struck and put through in the mine in which many Linn county people are interested. Those in charge in Mexico are crowding the tunnel to strike a large vein that they know can not be far ahead. When that is reached the intention is to open up the different veins gone through and ship ore to near by mills. The manager in Mexico asks the directors to permit him to dispose of stock to persons living near the mine, showing conclusively that experts there understand what is near at hand for them if they can secure an interest in the great property.

Books for the College.

The management of the college library is asking for small things, magazines to fill out the files, to classify and arrange pamphlets and leaflets of every sort, so that information can quickly be found. It wants a million books. Tomorrow the work of collecting material from the houses of Albany will be attended to, anything our people do not want will be taken. Help by having your offerings ready, and if missed notify the college at once. The request is a modest one.

Eugene Apples Here.

Guard:—A large number of boxes of the prize winning apples at the Eugene apple show last week will be exhibited at the Albany apple show, later at the state exhibition in Portland, and in different parts of the United States. Those that are to be shown at Albany and Portland are being repacked and will remain in cold storage until time to send them down to those cities. C. M. Stephens, an expert apple packer, has been engaged by the commercial club to repack and arrange the apples for these exhibitions, and he began his work this morning.

Harry Shea says that report by the Eugene paper of his capturing a Eugene girl is simply a joke of some of his Eugene friends. Nothing in it.

Corvallis Gazette-Times:—Mrs. Judge Hewitt, of Albany, came to Corvallis yesterday for a visit with the Irvines. She had not been here for ten years and was amazed at the change in this city, finally expressing the belief that Corvallis is as large as Albany. She was immensely pleased with O. A. C. grounds.

NESMITH

A Cottage Grove Editor Speaks Out.

Cottage Grove, Or., Oct. 27.—Editor Democrat: The Albany Herald, in an editorial of recent date concerning the creation of Nesmith, says: "The proposed county of Nesmith: takes from Douglas county 463 square miles, takes from Lane county 1472 square miles, from the center of both." This statement is absolutely untrue, and any voter with ordinary intelligence will at once detect the erroneousess thereof. The territory embraced within proposed Nesmith county comes from along the south boundary of Lane county and the north boundary of Douglas, and entirely comprises but 1940, of Lane and Douglas' joint more than 9,000 square miles. How then, pray tell, can Nesmith take "the center of both counties," as alleged by The Herald. The truth of the matter is that the editor of The Herald, having long resided at Eugene, has become so imbued with the characteristics of "the Eugene way" that it is difficult to shake them off and adhere strictly to the truth. The same article says Nesmith's north line comes within four and a half miles from city of Eugene, which is also untrue. The line is five and one half miles, but by any mode of travel one must go eleven miles to reach the Lane capital. This is shown by the facts, and is susceptible of demonstration, and is unquestionably known to the editor of The Herald.

LEW A. GATES.

Important Attraction.

Possibly the most important attraction of the present theatrical season at the Opera house is the engagement of Virginia Harned next Friday eve. Nov. 4. Miss Harned will proffer a new play "The Woman He Married," by Herbert Bushford, the well known dramatist, that deals with a new phase of New York life. Competent critics declare it is better than anything Miss Harned has had since her joint starring tours with E. H. Southern, not excepting "Iris" in which, under Charles Froman's management she had two years of immense success in London and New York.

J. H. Penn Dead.

Jas. H. Penn died at his home at Corvallis yesterday at the age of 73 years. He was in the U. S. mail service for many years, for several years running between Albany and Newport. He was prominent in Odd Fellowship.

The Weather.

Range of temperature 68-20. The river is 9 or a foot. Prediction: fair and warmer tonight, Saturday fair and cooler.

SATURDAY.

News from Albans Six Early Trains.

About twenty Ladies of Maccabee delegates, a fine looking lot of women, left for their homes down the road after attending the district convention here.

A crowd of O.A.C. students came over and went to Portland to see the big Pullman-O.A.C. game. The farmers will need rooting galore to win.

M. J. Simpson, one of the republican nominees for the legislature came down from Lebanon. People are wondering how the three men running stand on statement number one and the direct primary. No one seems to know.

S. H. Clevenger went to Portland for a few days rest.

Prof. Hargrave returned from his Lebanon visit.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lassell went to Salem.

Miss Nellie Hart went to Portland for a visit with Mrs. Alice B. Marshall.

Mrs. J. A. McCullough went to Portland to join Mr. McCullough, who is a U.S. jurymen, and for a visit with her son Chas.

Mrs. Nicholls and daughter Constance went to Brownsville for a visit.

A hallowe'en Party.

The Tuesday Club met last night with the president, Miss Evelyn Marshall in a Hallowe'en party, in which the husbands and a few other friends had the privilege of enjoying the festivities of a live evening. The house was decorated with black cats and bats galore making an unbragous, creepy appearance to things. Mrs. J. O. Love officiated as witch, splendidly made up for the purpose. Miss Peterson was fortune teller, doing the act well. Up in the dark of the attic apples were bobbed for and one young lady bobbed through the plaster. There was a contest in picture guessing, with eight complete guesses. J. Otto Lee drew the prize. Partners were chosen upon entering by matching programs and refreshments by grabbing bits at balls suspended down the stairway, the gentleman securing the young lady at the other end of the string. The refreshments were choice and the social session was a live one.

BIG HOUSE

Greeted Senator Chamberlain.

There was a genuine packed house, at the opera house last night, with men standing. Geo. E. Chamberlain always has one in Albany.

After music by the band Chairman W. R. Bilyeu set things going. State Senator M. A. Miller made a live talk of a few minutes upon his position on roads, the income tax, schools, the open river and the present Oregon system issue, making a splendid impression.

Oliver Turner, candidate for secretary of state, cut the recent assembly into pieces and made the present claims of friendliness to the direct primary by the republican candidates look like a 5c piece. The ticket was a slate affair dictated by the corporations.

Mr. Bilyeu in introducing Senator Chamberlain paid him a fine tribute. Senator Chamberlain showed how assemblyman was the real issue now, and gave a history of the convention, an exorcism that took the powers away from the people, not mentioned in the constitution or laws of the U. S., a system that has made politics rotten in New York, Pennsylvania, California, Illinois and other states. It is giving way to the Oregon system, now adopted by eight states, and Oregon has gone further than any of the states, giving it a name for government by the people.

The Oregon assembly has been dominated by a lot of old time democrats turned republican: Stapleton, Fenton, Huston and Pat McArdur, the son of a democrat. Bowerman has abused the Oregon system and cannot be trusted to maintain it. He has always refused to sign statement number one and in the last legislature was in the scheme to have an assembly law passed.

Oswald West has made good from the office boy up, the tool of no one. Bowerman is a railroad lawyer, his nomination the slate work of the interests.

It was shown how Bowerman had criticized Jonathan Bourne for doing just what Hawley had done. Hawley has always been the tool of Cannonism, and his only claim for votes are a few favors he has been paid to give. Smith ought to be elected in the interest of popular government.

L. E. Bean, running for joint senator, ought to be snowed under so deep as not to be seen. The author of their famous Brooke Bean bill he would not deserve a vote as a dog catcher.

Senator Chamberlain showed the falsity of the claims of a combination with Bourne. The only thing in common is the Oregon system.

The address was one of the best the Senator has ever made here and took hold of the large crowd.

A Hallowe'en Pa

The ladies societies assisted by the Westminster Guild of the First Presbyterian church will give an old fashioned Hallowe'en party Monday evening, Oct. 31. Jack O'lanterns, pumpkins, ghosts, black cats, owls, and the ladies will give a cordial welcome to all who come young and old. The young ladies will preside over a "Cave of the Ghosts" where many historical and traditional Hallowe'en experiences can be enjoyed. A splendid program of music and readings is being prepared. An entrance fee of ten cents will be charged and refreshments served. Come and help the ladies raise their pledge for the new church.

The Oregonian has a straw vote labeled victory. There is about as much in it as there is in the immense crowds and enthusiasm at the Bowerman meetings. 117 people in an audience packed to the doors and this straw man is about like that.

MISFITS.

The frost is on the vine. Senator Chamberlain day. What has become of Albany's new city hall. Stand for something in the world, not for nothing. Boost what is good and condemn what is wrong. The government should be in the hands of the people. The Bowerman campaign is a stab at the direct primary, the people. Some day the heating of houses will be entirely by electricity, the proper way. Roosevelt is an insurgent in the west and a regular in Massachusetts. He is anything to be odd. The census shows ten thousand less farmers in Iowa than ten years ago. That's startling. A coming problem for Albany will be a Y. M. C. A. building costing at least $50,000, a home for young men. Bowerman is up in Eastern Oregon, and the same old lies are being told about his meetings and the solid vote he is to get. A man once kicked at nothing so hard as to throw his leg out of joint. That's a good deal like kicking at the average whiskey arguer.

The press of the state generally, that element appreciating decency, is speaking of the dirty politics of the Oregonian and its evening edition.

On Tuesday over in Eastern Oregon Senator Chamberlain travelled 125 miles by auto and made four speeches. Roosevelt will have to try again.

If Annanias was to come down there is one fellow he would refuse to associate with and that is the Oregonian's correspondent traveling with Jay Bowerman.

Some one met the grandson of Senator Chamberlain in Irvington yesterday, and said "Well young man, you are a democrat are you?" "No," said the boy, "I am just a good little boy." A good answer for a four year old.

The Gazette-Times of Corvallis says the Oregonian is viciously and vindictively prejudiced, dirty, vile and mean, and when it makes a mistake there is not enough manhood in the office to admit it. Thanks, that makes the Democrat feel good.

There was a scheme once for all the porches of Albany to be lighted on a flat 25 cents a month rate. Guess it has gone a glimmering. But it was a good one.

"Oregon, Oregon, the great Northwest—Oregon, Oregon, in everything the best—The fairest of women, the bravest of men—Oregon dry in 1910.

Some of the Oregonian cartoons are too silly for even that sheet. The direct primary being stabbed by those opposing Bowerman, the assembly candidate, nominated under the direct primary is one of them. The Oregonian itself is the fiend that has been stabbing the direct primary.

A suggestion that the Alco Club and Commercial Club be merged, does not seem to meet with favor among most of the members of the Alco Club. It is held that the Club has its peculiar function and should be kept distinct. It has a good membership and the financial showing for the year will be a good one, a member of the board tells the Democrat. The association of young and older men is a good thing, and the greatest mistake a man makes is when as he gets old if he breaks loose from the association of young people.

The trial of K. O. Merrill, charged with disorderly conduct, took place before Recorder Redfield this forenoon, W. S. Risley appearing for the defendant and C. E. Sox for the city. Two or three witnesses testified to Merrill being on the steps and remarking "You can't come round interfering with my room," but no one saw him hit Monroe Ward, and Merrill swore that he did not, and in fact did not leave his room. The court held it a case of disorderly conduct and fined the defendant $20 or ten days in jail, with work on the street. The defendant said he would serve it out and began at once.

Ward's head is badly cut up, one gash being five inches long, and at another place there is a nick in the skull.

The ladies societies assisted by the Westminster Guild of the First Presbyterian church will give an old fashioned Hallowe'en party Monday evening, Oct. 31. Jack O'lanterns, pumpkins, ghosts, black cats, owls, and the ladies will give a cordial welcome to all who come young and old. The young ladies will preside over a "Cave of the Ghosts" where many historical and traditional Hallowe'en experiences can be enjoyed. A splendid program of music and readings is being prepared. An entrance fee of ten cents will be charged and refreshments served. Come and help the ladies raise their pledge for the new church.

The Oregonian has a straw vote labeled victory. There is about as much in it as there is in the immense crowds and enthusiasm at the Bowerman meetings. 117 people in an audience packed to the doors and this straw man is about like that.

PERSONAL

Frank Power is up from Portland for a hunt. Mrs. Rev' Abbott, after an Albany visit left this noon for her home at Eugene. B. H. Boles and family have returned from their Iowa trip, delighted to be home. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Warford arrived home last night from their eastern trip, declaring like everybody else that there is no place like Albany. Judge W. T. Slater, of the supreme court, arrived this afternoon, endorsed by the non-judicial lawyers association, a very competent official. J. E. Godfrey, democratic nominee for state printer, the most competent man in Oregon for the place, is in the city. He deserves election. Nels Wheeler this afternoon celebrated his birthday with a crowd of youngsters present and the event of his life was taking place.
