LAST DAY.

An address of particular value was that of Prof. Cordley on sprays and spraying something apple people need to know about.

The session last night was a social one, with some good orchestra music thrown in. A big crowd was present.

Today open doors have prevailed with good crowds present, and the fair will close tonight.

A plate of strawberries from the garden of A. C. Schmitt was noticed these November days. Some corn and other products were worth seeing.

The Albany Floral Store had some fine plants on exhibition, greatly appreciated.

Notwithstanding several handicaps the show has been a success and has done an immense sight of good.

Among the visitors were several apple men from other apple sections, a number from the Rogue River valley. Of course they were critical, and some had unkind remarks, but as a rule they have been fair and commended where it was due.

Next year there will be a better one, and it won't be the day after an election.

Election Notes.

West carried Multnomah county by 1205.

Five former dry counties voted wet, due to the state wide prohibition agitation at this time, Morrow, Klamath, Umatilla, Malheur and Polk and perhaps Tillamook. Linn county remains wet.

Monmouth Normal is the only normal carrying. Linn a next door neighbor voted against it.

The proposed tax amendments have all lost. U'Ren had four bills up and two have lost for sure and two may squeeze through. The new jury rule bill may possibly pass. It is close.
