(MONDAY.)

OBSERVED

By the Man About Town.

The Herald office has been moved into the former office of the Albany Citizen, after being at the corner of Water and Broadalbin street for several years.

The armory improves in appearance as it nears completion slowly. There is considerable talk among the boys about the dedication of it, probably in January, when Gov. West and other celebrities will be here. One thing is certain the affair should be a general one for everybody, not just a ball for a select few.

Prof. C. H. Palmer said has 28 students in voice culture. He resides at J. B. Leatherman's where he gives his lessons.

Some Albany men are said to have lost a thousand dollars on the U. O. O. A. C. foot ball game. The Man about Town could have given them a better hunch than that.

Close of the Apple Show.

The apple show closed Saturday night with a big crowd present. The display altogether was the largest and best yet, and will be a booster for Linn county. This forenoon the apples were sold at auction and private sale. The highest price paid was only $3, there being little competition. A good fund, nevertheless, was gotten from the sale. Next year there will be another and still better one.

Cook county went dry by 23 votes, the first time, and that means a dry Marshallfield; though the Marshallfield saloon men claim the charter of the city will permit them to sell anyway.

Fairmount precinct, across the river went 63 to 41 for West, 65 to 41 for Victor Moses for Judge, 52 to 34 for Hawley for congress, 65 to 42 against home rule and 55 to 49 against prohibition.

Thomas McCoy, right end of the Bethany foot ball team, Virginia, has been arrested for murder, it being claimed that he deliberately slugged a player of the opposing team, who died from his injuries.

That Lane county exhibit, a fine thing in the apple show, was packed entirely by Messrs. Bushnell, Beebe and White, all Lane county men, and not by an imported packer from Tacoma as was reported by a Eugene paper.

Jesse Willoughby, of Harrisburg, is in the county jail waiting trial for the same offense for which his brother was sent to the penitentiary for a year. He was in Vancouver at the time, and it is said was intoxicated when captured.

Big Piano Sale.

Prof. Head and C. M. Henderson have just returned from Portland where they have been carefully selecting two car loads of pianos for a big sale for Albany and surrounding towns. Prof. Head intends holding a big contest sale. There will be two brands of pianos given away free in the coming contest.

The instruments selected for sale are Chickering, Lawson, Leland, Hobart M. Cable, Hoffman, Lester, Hallett and Davis, Howard, Smith and Barnes, and the well known Kimball, one of the greatest and best varieties ever shown in this part of the country, for anyone thinking of purchasing an instrument, to select from as they are all well known makes in this coast country.

Prof. Head and C. M. Henderson are thorough piano men who have made a lifetime study of piano tone quality and construction and are exclusively piano men.

C. M. Henderson is tuner and repair man for the Kiler Co. and we recommend him first class in all branches of tuner pianos, pianos and piano forte.

PROF. P. HEAD, Mgr. for Elfers Piano House, Albany, Or.

Measure Votes.

The Home Rule bill has passed by about 3,000, and it is up to the H. R. A. to give Oregon a law for model saloons, but everybody knows there is no such thing, that it was simply a game to keep the saloon in Portland, and that when the smoke rises there will be the same old dives and rum holes. Prohibition failed by 16,500.

Monmouth normal carried by over 9,000. Weston is over 5,000 behind and Ashland 7,500.

The proposed jury amendment has probably passed, making three fourths a verdict. The labor tax amendment has 750 against it. The presidential primary bill may have passed.

Most of the measures are snowed under deep.

Changing About.

When the new Schmitt block is completed Tomlinson & Holman will go into the north double store room. The room vacated by them is to be occupied by the Oregon Title and Trust Co., while their present offices will be taken by the Northwestern Corporation, which will move from the present quarters next D. O. Woodworth Drug Co., which will use the vacated rooms for the piano business.

Several of the second floor rooms have been spoken for, Dr. Virginia Lewaux will have a suit of three rooms for her large osteopathic business, and Dr. Hunt will have dental parlors.

There is a live row on between U. O. and O. A. C. over the recent game at the depot in Corvallis. It transpires some Corvallis roughs attacked the Eugene people, stole their college caps, and Harold Bean was knocked down and is in a critical condition. The O. A. C. people lay it to Corvallis roughs. It was small business whoever it is to blame for it.

BOURNE IN WASH.

Says Knell of Bossism Sounded.

The Democrat has received clippings from Washington, where Jonathan Bourne is now looking after senatorial business preparatory to the coming session of congress in which the democrats and insurgents will raise both houses. Over long articles, one with Bourne's picture, the heads will tell the story, as follows: From the Star: Knell of Bossism. Senator Bourne predicts easy overthrow of dictators. Revolt of people begun. Present shake-up declared to be beginning of struggle. Nation to be congratulated. Oregon statesman says the new independence sweeping the country knows no party lines.

From the Herald: Political Mix-up pleases Bourne. Outcome he says sure to be helpful to nation. People vs. the bosses. Cause of popular government growing the country over. The Oregon election, the Senator declares, will be barren of partisan significance but will show an awakened spirit of independence and popular defiance of the party machine—call for honesty.

Eugene, Nov. 13.—Since my last letter to the Democrat I had the pleasure of visiting my old Albany friend of years ago, W. E. Gillett, at his fine stock farm, 24 miles east of Eugene, at the edge of the mountains, amidst pretty scenery. He has everything on the place but a family, and he certainly looks handsome. As predicted by the Rooster there was a great WEST-ern immigration, and brother Clem will stand up and take notice. The assembly plants have withered. You might as well try to make ice in hades as raise a crop of assembly in Oregon. It sprouted in Portland, had a few blooms in Eugene, but the cold West wave struck it hard on Nov. 8, totally ruining the crop, and there is no seed for next spring. But there may possibly be some roots in the Oregonian's hot bed.

The Utah Construction Co. has shipped its equipment used on the Natron road to California, so there will be no grading this winter.

The Eugene Asset Co. after a busy season on the Florence road will soon house their machinery. The celebration of the completion of this road will be held at the same time as the completion of the panama canal. Round trip tickets between Eugene, Frisco and the canal zone by way of Eugene half fare.

Eugene expects the Oregon Electric within a year. The autumn leaves are falling. The clouds begin to spit, The cold fog surrounds me, So right here I quit.

SAGE ROOSTER.

Geo. U. Piper Did It.

Now that woman suffrage has passed in Washington there is a good deal of interest in who was most responsible for it. Several prominent women did great work for it; but it transpires that Senator Geo. U. Piper, of Seattle, a former Albany young man, brother of Mrs. Langdon, and Mrs. E. D. Cusick is really entitled to the most credit. The bill was practically killed in the Senate by the submission of it, when Piper got interested and went to the rescue, through a speech and his influence getting the bill through.

Piper is considered one of the shrewdest men in the Washington legislature, to which he has been reelected. He is the man who secured the $1,000,000 for the Alaska-Yukon fair and Seattle people appreciate the effort.

Lebanon.

The paper mill will resume work on Wednesday, the ditch troubles having been settled. The mill will remain at Lebanon.

Mrs. Polly A. Morris died last week at the age of 75 years. She was a Linn county pioneer.

TUESDAY.

St. Mary's Quarter Centennial

Preparations are under way for a fitting observance of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the St. Mary's Parish. Rev. Louis Metzger was appointed in the fall of 1885 to establish this new parish and working here for nearly 20 years. His successor is the present incumbent of the parish, Father Lane. Archbishop Christie will deliver the sermon next Sunday and the service will be conducted by Rev. Prior Edelhelm of Mt. Angel who was present 25 years ago at the dedication of the first church.

Remembered by Homer.

Judge William Galloway, who is holding court here, prizes a copy of Homer Davenport's new book, "A Country Boy," from the author, with this inscription: "To my dear friend, Hon. W. Galloway; that this book may recall days of the past when our state fair was so bright a spot in our lives." The Judge used to help Davenport steal into the fair grounds when he was a long, lank, green country boy and Homer hasn't forgotten it.

The weather.

Range of temperature 48-32. The river is 2.9 feet. Prediction: Fair tonight and Wednesday.

MUM SHOW BEGUN.

Albany's annual chrysanthemum show, for the benefit of the public library began this afternoon, in the Alco gym, in a blaze of glory, in charge of Albany's leading and most accomplished women, hustling for a splendid thing.

The display of chrysanthemums is large and choice, embracing all of the leading varieties, light and cheerful, dark and unbragous, loose petaled, close set, fluffy or solid, a beautiful array of this autumn flower.

The judges will be Prof. Flint of the O. A. C. and Messrs. Duncan and Pennebaker of this city. Prof. Flint declares it the finest exhibit of outdoor chrysanthemums he has seen.

With the display are six of about the finest booths seen here, artistic and effective in their representations: first on the right the Jap booth, with its characteristic decorations suggestive of the orient; then the Spanish booth, with its mission front, and its hot aspect, including big red peppers; further south the Dutch booth, bright in mums and German effect; at the south end the American booth, with George and Martha there and the stars and stripes conspicuous; on the left a bright French affair, and in the east corner a domestic booth. In all of these are etables according to the nation, to meet the demands of varied tastes, with service each evening from 5 to 7. Get your lunch there.

Tonight, promptly at 8 o'clock, there will begin a program of rare merit. Six living pictures worth seeing will be presented by some of Albany's charming young people: Which, one of Christy's; St. Celia; For He is a Jolly Good Fellow; The Seven Ages of Woman; Queen Louise; A Duet without Words. Besides Miss Ireland and Miss Smith in vocal selections and Prof. Wilson, violinist, will be heard.

Tomorrow night entirely new living pictures will be shown.

Mount, of Eugene, was in the city today. H. N. Cockerline was in Eugene yesterday on business. Bon. Carl Abrams, of Salem, went to Eugene this afternoon. Waive Strickel Organ arrived this noon on a visit at Mrs. Geppert's. In Douglas county local option carried by 162 and the vote against home rule was 865. One of the new congressmen is Henry George, of New York, the father of the single tax theory. Mrs. Davenport went to Rosburg this afternoon to attend the opening of her father's new music store. W. Lair Thompson will represent Harney, Crook, Klamath and Lake in the next state legislature, lower house. During the last month the Albany schools had the remarkable average attendance of 97 per cent of the enrollment.

Born on Monday evening, Nov. 14, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, of the C. & E., a girl. Weight 12 pounds. All doing well.

The national apple show is now in progress at Spokane, the biggest thing of the kind in the U. S. $20,000 in prizes are up.

The high school foot ball team will play Salem on Saturday at Salem. On Thanksgiving there will be a game here, probably with Columbia of Portland.

Ex-Mayor David S. Rose, recently in Oregon in the interest of Portland's saloons, was married yesterday at Pawpaw, Mich., to a vaudeville actress, a widow.

Father Servais, formerly of the Albany church is planning a school at Corvallis, and as well a larger church. The church there is said to be the smallest in the state.

Judges Hamilton and Coke, one a democrat the other a republican, were re-elected in the second district, the proper thing, both competent men, who have been tried and found good.

Big Bill Walker and brother have arrived home from their trip to Tennessee, where they spent several weeks and saw the log house where Bill was born, and had a big time and saw a great election that went insurgent.

Sunrise has been connected with the Albany Electric light system and in a few days the modern light will be shining out that way. Fifteen families have agreed to take lights. Sunshine is up with the times.

Linn county again went dry and gave 527 against home rule; but Linn county is the banner temperance county of the state, giving the most for local option and the dist. against home rule. Eastern people wanting a good home county will take notice.

The Democrat received a post card from Chicago written Nov. 1 by Mr. and Mrs. Will Barrett, who arrived home last week. It was a picture of Pike's Peak, and the remark was made that it was a reminder of the Democrat's past. They had a great time while away, but of course there was no place seen equal to the Willamette Valley and the H. B.

News from Albany's Six Early Trains.

H. D. Ridders left for Portland with twenty dressed turkeys, weighing 225 pounds, which he expected to sell for about 24 cents a pound. Turkeys bring a high price this year and Thanksgiving promises to be a big day for the producer.

Custer Ross, a Silvertown attorney, left for home after a several days visit with Mark Weatherford, a former Michigan University fellow student. They saw the big foot ball game together.

A woman peddler left after selling her hooks and eyes in Albany several days. If a person refused to buy she seemed to think the world had it in for her, and her pessimism was intensity itself.

Geo. Taylor and family, among Eugene's most prosperous citizens, left for home after a trip to his farm at Lacomb, the old home place, now owned by him, in the coming fruit section of the valley.

High Class Lecture.

There remains six splendid numbers in the Albany College Lecture Course, season tickets for which are now only two dollars. Friday night of this week Harold Morton Kramer, novelist, author of "The Chrysalis" (a highly successful "house country"), a highly successful lecturer, appears in this course. Mr. Kramer has been a soldier, an editor, and a reform politician. "He is a lecturer whose eloquence arises from a heart beating in sympathy with his fellow-men." Albany College conducts its lecture course as an educational service to the community. No money is made or expected to be made. It appeals for patronage for a course of high class, uplifting entertainments that few people can afford to miss.

Seven Out of Thirty-two.

It transpires that seven measures were passed by the people of Oregon at the recent election, some just squeezing through, as follows: Establishing a branch asylum in eastern Oregon, which received an immense vote east of the mountains; Monmouth normal, home rule amendment, employee's liability law, the Rogus river fishing bill, preventing catching fish in Rogus river except with hook and line, the good roads bill and the judicial amendment.

The new election will be selected by the state officials and will be within five miles of Baker, Pendleton or Union.
