GOOD BYE, ASSEMBLY,

There were other things but the great influence that defeated Mr. Bowerman was the fact of his being an assembly nominee. There were other assembly nominees elected by the customary republican majorities, but it seems the people looked upon the head of the ticket as the representative of the inflamous boss, system and made their fight against it on him, and they whacked it mighty hard. It deserved it, Hereafter the nominations will be made in the regular order, or there will be some political nooses thrust out. The laws of Oregon provide the direct primary for making nominations and parties will do well to take warning and abide by this system.

WEST WILL MAKE GOOD.

The rise of Oswald West is a striking one in Oregon politics. He had discriment to know when to strike, a great thing in the success of life. Some men strike on sentiment and they hit nothing; but West has the faculty to make his blows count. A comparatively young man, he has a bright future before him if he keeps straight ahead as he has been going, running his own machine according to what is right, the tool of no party or clique. The opportunity is a great one and the Democrat expects to see him make good, for he is made of the stuff that counts in the great battle of progress.

THE COMING OF THE OREGON

THE COMING OF THE OREGON ELECTRIC.

John F. Stevens, at the head of the great Hill system in the Northwest, says that within eighteen months the Oregon Electric and United Railways will show an added mileage of 200 to 250 involving an expenditure of $7,000,000 to $10,000,000. Among these is the extension of the Oregon Electric through Albany to Eugene within a year, which will mean the reaching of Albany during the coming summer. In order to do this the letting of contracts will begin this winter. This news is very satisfactory to Albany, the advent of the Oregon Electric being one of the things the city has been looking forward to.

Saturday Night Thoughts.

During the primary days the Democrat said it was to be hoped Bowerman was nominated so that assemblyism could be fought out in the regular election. He was nominated and the fight has been had, assemblyism receiving its death blow. Mr. West undoubtedly also run well because of his excellent record, but he could never have been elected this year if the republican nominee had been created in the regular way as provided by law.

In the great contest for prohibition of the liquor traffic the saloon has won out. The Democrat has believed right along that the fight at this time was untimely; but did its best in the interest of the home, against an evil that is emphatic and unmitigated.

This week Albany has had an apple show, something that deserves all the consideration that can be given it. The coming business of this part of the world promises to be the raising of apples along modern lines. The old-time slip-shod style of producing fruit will be a thing of the past buried for ever. The best will be the motto, something secured only through the very best methods.

This week Albany had an opportunity to witness some high school spirit. The new high school is a thing of life, as full of snap as ginger. It showed what it could do in suport, winning a striking victory in foot ball. Better than this it is doing splendlid things in scholarship.

A China Shower.

Wednesday evening Miss Sara Millard entertained a number of her girl friends at her home in this city at a china shower given honor of Miss Eva Huston who is soon to change her name and readence. A jolly time was had and at a late hour dainty refreshments were served. Many choice pieces of china were received MissHuston's popularity. Those present were: Mrs. Carrie Ward Nestof Salem, Mra. John Millard. Misses Edna and Sadie Smith, Myrtle Wyait, Hernic Gardner, Helen Gilbert, Louise Pirtle, Frances Pettibone, Anna Baker, Hazel Saylor, Evs Huston, Sara and Anna Yantis.

and Anna Yantis.

What think you fellow citizens, of a Dutch Booth, with saner kraut and "weenies" galore; of a Spanish Booth, which will serve "hot stuff" enough to pickle and preserve you, administered by soft eyed senoritas; of a French Booth, with all toothsome confections from the dainty hands of cequettish Madamoiselles; say nothing of a granufor American Booth where you will find the savery disless which your grand mathers used to concept, the very thought of which will make your mouth water, and here your wants will be supplied by Martin Washington, Bolly Madison, Mrs. Pat Henry Pochahon ias, Sacajawea and other historical characters. Also a Domestic Science Booth where anything you want may be purchased. Then add to all these the beautiful "More." —the significance of which is loveling and the refurence is the hewitening costumes and the very reasoning and the contractions and the resurred and some costumes and the contractions and the contractions and the previous and the contraction was a second contraction and the contractions are selected.

LOW FARES.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 4, 1910.—
Daily Democrat; I neglected to mention in my last letter the cheap car fares in Cleveland, which in my opinion is one of the most important factors in the promotion of its phenomenal growth. For nine years Tom S. Johnson contended for a three-cent rate. This, was opposed by all the street-car companies and allied incorporations. It was carried into state politics and Johnson's fad was at one time the state issue. He was defeated for governor and for mayor of Cleveland and even the state has were amended to defeat his plans. But before all this was done the low fares were securely established. He had energy, nerve and endurance, but is now broken in health and forbidden by his plysician to appear in public. One can now take a car at Union depot and were securely established. He had energy, nerve and endurance, but is now broken in health and forbidden by his physician to appear in public. One can now take a car at Union depot and go to the end of the line, ten miles, for three cents. You can have a transfer to any other line for one cent extra. This has added to the comfort and cheapened the cost of living and has not injured the street car companies for the number of riders has greatly increased. They are crowded into the cars like canned sardines. It appears to me only a short time since the fare was six cents and that odd ent bad to be dug up somehow. It is a shorter time since the poor, abused the horses gave way to electric power. I was so wrought up in sympathy for the horses that I laid awake at night and thought up a device to help them and had it patented. My device stored the power lost in stopping a car and applied it to assist the horses in overpowering the mertia of starting again. I took it to a car-builder having an office on Superior street. He commended my plan but said, as we walked to the street door and saw the street full of cars, all as yet drawn by horses, "I saw an experiment a few days ago which was a failure and yet there were elements in it that indicate future success and I do not think it will be long until all these cars are moved by electricity." I laughed at the absurd idea, but I am wiser now, and God has taken better care of his horses than my patent. I have no werry now for the patient brutes as I glide along in the "horse-less" cars.

Low fares, two cents per mile, is now the law for steam roads in Ohio. This was resisted with "tooth and toe-mail" by the railroads, but I am told by everybody that the travel has been so increases that the income of the roads has not diminished. In retaliation the clargy were refused the usual half-fare permits. However, the clergy are not feeling hurt about it. Before, the fare for a clergyman and wife amounted to four and a half cents per mile. Now only four cents, and the outgo for far the outgo for fares in a clergyman's family are less in the aggregate than formerly.

The political situation is more mixed than ever and will receive the finishing touches from Roosevelt tomorrow night. Garfield and Foraker are clinched in their fight. So, also, are Senator Burton and Boss Cox. Harding is begging to be elected governor to reform Governor Harmon's administration. Senator Dick wants the party to stand pat until he is re-elected to the U. S. senate once more, and Knox, Wilson, Wickersham and the rest of the cabinet, except Ballinger, are here pleading for the support of the honor of President Tatt in his own state. You will probably know what the people of Ohio say about it three hours before we do.

Pardon a little personal,—When fames R. Garfield was made a member of the Roosevelt cabinet. I wrote to congratulate him and sent him a copy of my book, "Usury," and called attention to page 172 where I refer to a great speech delivered by his father in which he said, "The problem of the next generation will be, how shall the people be protected against the eneroachments of incorporated wealth." He replied thanking me and the people be protected against the increachments of incorporated wealth." He replied thanking me and specially for the kind reference to his ather. While he is not here regarded a shrewd politician, yet he does seem to have set himself to do his part in he solution of the problem of this reneration as formulated by his father. Truly, J. C. ELLIOTT.

Asked as to how it happened. Mr. Waiden laughingly declared this morning that no was almost ashamed to tell how long his romance had existed.

"My wife is an old sweetheart of mine of 20 years ago," he said, and thus is explained the general surprise of his nany friends here when they learned of the wedding.

On his departure for the east but a ew weeks ago there were hat one or two of Mr. Walden's most intimate (sionds who had the slightest in-ling that wedding bells were seen to ring for the genial free hit and passenger agent of the Oregon & Eureka railroad, ir. ALBANY WON,

Beating the Crack Eugene High

One of the best games of foot ball seen in Albany was played yesterday afternoon between Albany high and Eugene high, won by Albany 17 to 5.

In the first quarter both sides scored a goal, Eugene upon a fumble by Myers. Albany's was done by fast foot ball. In the second quarter neither side scored. Eugene fairly outplayed Albany in this quarter; but after a rest of ten minutes Albany played foot ball and end runs and plunges counted fast, with Bain and Abraham doing great stunts, backed by good interference, hard to keep up on account of the fast Eugene work. One goal was made in the third quarter and two in the fourth, with the ball close to Eugene's goal when the game ended. A sensational goal was one made by Carson Bigbee, the bright quarter, who made a long run aided by splendid interference. The boy has splendid judgment in calling plays when he uses his own head. Albany did splendid work at full and the line is effective, though Eugene found a few holes. It is the best home foot ball aggregation Albany ever had and there are players in it who will be heard from.

A Charming Entertainer.

About the most entertaining reading ever presented in Albany was that of Mrs. Bess Gearhart Morrison, at the U. P. church last night in the regular college course. With a charming personality, a fine voice and a naturalness that is refreshing Mrs. Morrison gave a program that captured the audience. So many readers overdo a character sketch. Mrs. Morrison never gets excited. Her closing numbers were of a musical character accompanied by Miss Sox, whom Mrs. Morrison declared the best accompanist she had been favored with in five states.

The High School Boys.

The high school students held a rally last night, a rive one, preceeding the big game this afternion with Eugene. Great spirit was displayed by the students. Warm speaches were made by dents. warm speeches were made by students. warm speeches were made by students and professors, and at 3 o'clock this afternoon the boys went into the game of the season to win, with the regular lineup, all in good shape.

How much better Albany is without the saloon anyway, regardless of the election or anything else. Col. Roosevelt made the mistake of his life. Anyway an ex president does better to be seen and not heard so much. The man who goes into a primary election and is beaten has no moral right to run anyway. He should take his medicine.

Now Teddy Roosevelt is to be retired. His end has come, says the New York paperε. But Teddy won't be downed that easy. Watch.

Well people are odd anyway. That so-called infamous search law received a much larger vote than the prohibition law, but both go together.

Just as good apples in the bottom as at the top should be the motto of every shipper. You can't fool the buyer and a reputation is being made all the time.

If the home rule passes the home rule association is going to have the legislature pass a model saloon law. Think of a model saloon with alcohol as

The city council did the proper thing last evening when it made arrangements for more lights and water. The arrangement is a good one that will give general satisfaction.

Of the thirty-two measures it is doubtful if a tenth have passed. It will take a mighty good thing to get enough yesses to go through, or perhaps a mighty bad thing.

The new counties all failed. Voters said it was the business of the section affected to decide the matter; but they voted down a law for the very business to the section of the very business. they had been contending for Great is the voter. New counties hereafter will be hard to secure.

The truth is the temperance people of Oregon set the cause of temperance back a good many years by forcing the prohibition issue at this time before the state was ready for it. It has injured the cause of local option and it has foist upon the state the infamous home rule bill, which otherwise would not have been surgested.
