THIS MORNING OBERAM-MERGAU.

News From Albany's Six Early Trains.

Dr. J. C. Booth came down from Lebanon to attend the regular session of the pension board, with prospects of a full attendance of pensioners. Whenever an increase is asked for, of any kind, a new examination has to be made, calling for a good deal of business. Besides there are new applications, particularly among the Spanish war veterans.

Horace Steel returned to Portland, after being here a week looking after the apples on his father's place at Millers. These he sorted and gave a commercial packing, shipping them to Portland for the market there. Horace is an auto driver, having a Winton, doing a fine business over Portland.

Miss Flo Dannals went to Portland. Fred Lynes came down from Lebanon.

Prof. Wilson went to Salem with his violin. W. E. Parker went out to Plainview to put up a machine shed on the Parker farm.

Father Lane went to Portland to consult with Bishop Christy. Miss Anetta Burch, of the Jefferson schools, returned to her work after spending the night here.

A Park

Editor Democrat:—In yesterday's misfit you wondered if some one would give Albany a park. Yes, the Burkhardt brothers stand ready to give a good one, second to none in the state not even excepting the Oaks of Portland. If Albany wants it all they require is that it be kept up and attended to. It is located just east of town on the proposed Electric R. R. line, near the Salem wagon road. CITIZEN.

Changed Hands.

Fred Neeley, of Independence, has bought the Hotel Albany restaurant and rooming property, and will hereafter run it. Mr. Neeley is an experienced restaurant man. He expects to make some decided improvements and proposes to run an up-to-date place that will be a credit to the city.

The Ladies Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will hold a sale of fancy articles and home cooked food in the Rectory, 8th St. on Friday afternoon and evening, Dec 9th. Light refreshments will be served. You will find many useful articles which will help you in your Christmas list. Don't forget the date Dec. 9.

ALCO CHOCOLATES That KLASSY KIND

"Y NOT"

Just made and put up in neat packages. ELITE CHOCOLATE SHOP

In the regular college course a large audience last night were given one of the best numbers. In fact it will be hard to beat.

The illustrated address of Rev. W. H. Foulkes, D. D., of Portland, was a very instructive as well as entertaining effort, the story of Oberammergau being told in a way that kept the eyes riveted and the thoughts concentrated. Fifty ster opticon views made Rev. Foulkes' visit to the little village with its 1600 people, at the foot of a high mountain, very realistic. While the Passion play is being presented, which is done once in ten years by the peasants of the place, who live for it, there are four or five thousand outside people present, residing in the homes of the people, there being no hotels, going there from all over the world. By previous arrangement Rev. Foulkes and his three Oregon companions were stationed at the home of Antone Lang, who took the part of Christ, though their room was at the home of Fraulein Myer, the Virgin Mary of the play. The Passion play instead of being the entire life of Christ, is simply that of his last week on earth, the passion week, showing the triumphal entry, the last supper, the betrayal, the crucifixion, resurrection, etc., in a manner that is wonderfully impressive. It takes eight hours, four in the morning and four in the afternoon, with two hours intermission. The views of the players shown speak for the purity of their lives and Christian characters. Their well blending costumes are made by themselves, and there is no commercialism to the affair. Antone Lang himself in the leading part only making $300 for the entire season. Those who heard Rev. Foulkes and saw the very clear and beautiful views, felt that they had done the next thing to making the eventful trip itself to Oberammergau.
