THE NEW ARMORY.

This is dedication day of Albany's new armory, built for the members of the Oregon National Guards, the strongest military organization in the United States. The National Guards are a great institution because they are the people, a volunteer organization, a reserve force for the safety of the government. It is a splendid local organization, and our people did well when they made it possible for Linn county to secure such a creditable building as a meeting and drilling place for the members. The closer these institutions are brought to the people the more powerful are they.

This first armory, under the new law, is a thing for local pride. Besides its primary purpose it also offers a much needed auditorium with a large seating capacity, for popular local gatherings, and promises to be a popular place in the doings of the city.

AFTER CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

A bill will be introduced in the next legislature asking for the abolishment of capital punishment in Oregon. It is a very important one and should be considered thoroughly before being passed. It is said the bill may possibly go through as there is quite a strong sentiment in favor of it among the members of the coming legislature. It should not pass, though, unless there is a better arrangement in the matter of pardons. There should be a board with enough members to it to insure the safety of the public against too many murderers being let loose, possible under a one man power. And then it is not certain that hanging should be abrogated in the interest of prevention of crime.

WHERE THE SETTLERS AND WEALTH COME FROM.

Twenty-one of the oldest and best developed agricultural counties in Nebraska have lost 16,793 people in the last ten years, while the state of Iowa has lost 7,082 people from some of the oldest counties in the state.

The counties in Nebraska showing the losses are those in the Missouri river valley about Omaha and Lincoln where land is worth from $100 to $135 per acre. Those who have left these farms are the men who have made a success of farming and are sure of success wherever they go as they take wealth with them.

It seems that of the men and women who are settling the new states directly west of Nebraska, eastern Nebraska and western Iowa are furnishing a good number of them. If 16,000 Nebraskans have come on out further west during the last ten years, it is sure that more can be interested in this country.

The state of Oregon and numerous enterprising land and development companies have arranged an honest and comprehensive exhibit of the products of this state which will be shown at the Western Land Products Exhibit to be held in Omaha January 18 to 23. This is one of the really big "land shows" to be held in the United States.
