FLAKES, ALBANY HAS 6129

The rainfall for the 24 hours previous to 8 a. m. was 1.17 inches. Most of this was melted snow. Just how much snow fell is not known, but there was as much as four inches on the ground at one time. Most of it melted as fast as it fell. The range of temperature was 36 31.

All manner of shovels were brought out and the snow shifted to the streets. George Forgey, in front of Stevens did about the best job seen.

Young Con. Sullivan was out with his sled looking for a sliding place and found it out near the bridge, but it was slushy sliding.

Snow balling was prohibited at the central building. Like throwing stones.

There has been a big difference of opinion about when the big storm of the valley occurred. It began Monday evening, Dec. 15, 1884, and there was snow on the ground for two weeks, the next morning 12 1/2 inches, about 20 inches in all falling. The thermometer went down to 14 above and there was crust solid enough for men to walk on all the way to Lebanon over the fields. On Wednesday the 17th the old Cannon livery barn at the present site of the Democrat office, fell in, a great crash.

THIS MORNING

News from Albany's Six Early Trains.

Col. C. B. Montague, of Lebanon, was taken to Portland by his wife and son R. B. Montague, for special care in one of the sanitoriums of the city. The Col. has a long and eventful career, a noble specimen of the old Scotch blood. He is now over eighty and gradually failing, but a wonderful vitality continues to keep him up.

J. W. Baker left for Salem on a visit with his sister. He is also a prominent candidate for state game warden, and the Democrat hopes to see him appointed. He knows the business, and that is what is wanted. A man who will spend the money where it is paid.

H. A. Hinshaw and J. H. Mulkey, of the freight department of the S. P., left for parts north, up in the snow looking after the interests of the road.

Father Lane left on a Portland trip. Miss Vesta Eastburn returned from a visit with Lebanon friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morgan and grand child returned to their home at Plainview.

The Democrat has received a picture of a new berry, the Yankee Prince Raspberry Strawberry, just discovered by accident in Logan county, Ill. It is very large, with the shape of a strawberry, but with a hollow center like the raspberry, and is very handsome. It requires no cultivation, the stalks killing out everything around it.

An Albany Violin Maker

H. S. Richards, of this city, has a studio at his home at 615 E. 6th street, for giving instructions in violin playing and making or repairing violins, or equipping them. Mr. Richards has a long career in the violin business. There is a violin in Oregon thirty-two years old made by him, better than when made, and since then he has made twenty-one, twenty-two in all. As high as $125 has been offered for them, and they have universally given satisfaction. He now has two on hand. Mr. Richards has the specifications of both of the most famous makes, Stradivarius and Paganini, and his instruments are splendid patterns of those celebrated makes, for which as high as $12,000 has been paid for a single Stradivarius, besides which a Richards instrument makes creditable comparison.
