Cleaning Up of Remnants MARCH 1, 2, 3 and 4, Four Days of Big Savings

All of our previous Remnant Sale Offerings drop in to insignificance when we stop to peruse the values and quality that are to be offered during this sale. We've been saving remnants for some time in order that we might make this our great effort. Then when we invoiced we culled from the stock every piece that showed signs of lagging—the half and quarter bolt pieces, novelties, staples, plain and figured. We don't know how many pieces we took from stock, but there is a great assortment and it wasn't long before our scissors had snipped through the folds of these pieces and converted them into remnants.

They are cut into lengths that are most commonly called for, neatly folded, pinned and labeled that you may easily and quickly make your selection. For the reason that we did convert so many pieces into remnants is to make this sale so much more attractive to you. Because when cutting the goods we also cut the price away down. So it is truly remnant goods at remnant prices.

We will place these remnants all through the store. Every table, counter and case will have remnants generously displayed thereon. Thus to be sure of missing none you must make the complete round—balcony and all.

This sale means to you, high quality, desirable materials, at prices that mean money left in your purse.

DISGRUNTLED.

After certain members of the state legislature had spent almost the entire session in getting even with people for politics sake, pursuing a policy of obstruction, now that the Governor has vetoed some of their bills, with others, they are declaring that it was all politics done just for spite work. Coming upon their own fierce policy of revenge for everything in the category it suggests worse grace than had characterized their entire career previously. A saving to the state of over $600,000 by the vetoes and the killing of several bills had on their face, will make it slow business for what has been called the gang in getting sympathizers. The people in a measure enjoy their predicament and as a rule they will not get much encouragement.

THE CITY HALL.

The people of Albany want a city hall somewhere. They voted that way emphatically by a big majority, the bonds have been voted, and all that is necessary is the securing of a site; but herein lies the trouble, for the council is all split to pieces over that matter and cannot agree upon a place for it. The city already owns plenty of property for the hall and should use it if other sites cannot be gotten that will be more satisfactory at a reasonable price. There is no occasion for a high price for a site so long as the city is already provided with plenty of land for the building.

Married.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 28, at the residence of and by Rev. Douglas, Chas. Masterson, of Astoria, formerly of Albany, now a salesman there, and Miss Frances Caldwell, daughter of the late V. H. Caldwell. Miss Caldwell has been teaching. They are worthy young people having the best wishes of many.
