Prople continue to be interested in his part of the world, as shown by letters and cards re cived at the Com-mercial Club rooms from all over the U.S. ten or fifteen a day, some days more. One is from Swearengen, Tex., U.S. ten or lifteen a day, some days more. One is from Sweatregen, Tex., by some one wanting to get out of that state. Another is from Flat River, Mo., by a man interested in Oregon. Two or three are from oklahoma, one from Durrant, another from Lindsey. It is said a good many Oklahoma people have the Oregon spirit and will come out here. One Oklahoma man wrote to Congressman Hawley for in formation about this part of the U.S., and a copy of the letter was forwarded by the Congressman to Albany. Others are from Michigan, Delaware, Arkansar, Virginia, New Jersey, etc., showing the very wide range of territory interested. Some are the result of direct advertising by the commercial club and others come through the Portland commercial club, which very liberally furnishes all the clubs of the tate with lists of those particularly interested in the section.

ROYAL Baking Powder Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape c cam of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is more economical at its price than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a dangerous mineral acid, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

The label of alum baking powders must show the ingredients.
