SATURDAY NIGHT' THOUGHTS

The Mexican war may be the most conspicuous thing in the country, but it is having to hustle to keep ahead of Col. Roosevelt, who has been mal-ing remarks to crowded grandstands of a character to beat a marine band or a tom tom.

or a tom tom.

There have been several small fights in the war during the week in which several were killed, and an occasional talk of peace, but altogether it either has not been very exciting or clee we have gotten used to the disturbance. We also have gotten used to Teddy; but the Associated Press seems bound to help him out in his grand stand plays.

The New York senatorial flasco, a relic of the barbarism of the old cor-rupt system, has continued this week, a disgrace to the state that gave the writer birth. The evident fall of tam-many in the matter is a feature that partially redeems the unfortunate sit-uation.

This week the base hall season was formally opened on this coast, and the hest game played is on for a fact. It has seen wonderful progress, until it has become a scientific proposition, besides being a game it is a pleasure to witness.

This week saw the close of as fine a spring month as one ever experienced upon this mundane sphere, day after day of delightful sunshine, the air full of the sweetness of the spring incoming all matters, singing all patters.

air full of the sweetness of the spring time, all nature singing gloriously, while humanity has felt the tingle of love and life has taken on the rick costume of an invigorating season.

A country bank went to the wall this week, because of having too much real estate on hand. There are times when a bank in the course of business when a bank in the course of business gets possession of real property; but it has no business under any circumstances to seasons. There was another fine audience last night.

gets possession of real property; but it has no business under any circumstances to speculate in realty, and the law is deservedly strict on this point. Banks should stick close to the banking business, absolutely free from speculation, no matter how enticing the prospect may be, and Albany is fortunate in having that kind of banks.

The Riley meetings have continued this week with interest, but lacking the crowds anticipated, though having good ones. Those outside the church are not present in the numbers desired. But those who do go are abundantly paid and blessed for their presence. Dr. Riley presents the straight goods in a neat dressing, without sensation. Christian people are being wonderfully strengthened whatever the general result may be in the increase of the membership of the churches, a secondary matter.

A GOOD ILLUSTRATION.

Here is anoter good one dealing with mail order houses.

A man went into a hardware store to buy an ax. He was shown one and $1.15 given as the price, when he said:

"Why, I can get that same kind of an ax from a mail order house for 90 cents."

'Very well," said the hardware man; "Very well," said the narrowner and "I will give it to you for the same price, provided you will do the same with me as you will do with it."

"All right," replied the customer, as he handed over a dollar bill, the merchant giving him back 10 cents in change.

"Not so cheap after all," said the merchant, whereupon he picked up the ax, tossed it back on the shelf, and told the customer to call for it in three weeks, as that would be as soon as he could get it if he had ordered it from the mail order house.

A GRAND STAND PLAYER.

Col. T. R. Roosevelt is undoubtedly the greatest grand stand player in the world. Some men occasionally make grand stand plays, but the Col. does it all the time.

W. M. Parker this morning received from Cameron, Mo., a copy of the Daily Observer, giving an account of the golden wedding of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Jones, Mrs. Jones being a sister of the late E. A. Parker. The striking thing about the happy event was the procession. There were three generations represented on the trip to the old homestead for a gala day, each riding according to their generation: Mr. and Mrs. Jones on enchorse together, their children in a buggy, and their grandchildren in automobiles. About sixty were at the banquet besides one hundred fifty neighbors to extend them neighborly greetings.

In Interest of a General Sales Agency.

CONVENE

A convention of fruit men, of a good deal of importance was begun at the commercial club rooms this afternoon, one of eleven to be held in the Northwest, this one covering the Williamette district, with John F. The object is to get the consensus of opinion on a Northwest sales agency, first suggested by H. C. Atwell, of Forest Grove. president of the Oregon Horticultural Association, who presented the matter to this convention. A delegate will be appointed to a general Northwest convention, to consist of one from each district, to form the agency, if the opinion is that way.

A Good Hen Record.

F. M. Mitchell's hens, on the Mitchell place, just east of the city, made a good record during March, as follows: He has 194 hens and 5 roosters, 4 hens are caring for 58 chickens, hatched this month, and nine are setting. During the month he sold 1801/4 dozen eggs for $43.81, besides using 18 dozen for setting, having 12 dozen on hand and eating eggs right along. The expense was $9 for wheat, 90c for bran, 85c for oyster shells, total $10.75. Balance $23.06. This speaks for the poultry business when properly run. An automobile law passed by the last legislature has a joker of a startling character. It requires all vehicles to have lights front and side, after dark. Under the law the farmer will have to put lanterns on his wagon, and the put lanterns on his wagon, and the young man taking a ride with his best girl will have to light up.

The great sieve that lifts people into Heaven will be run by God, not man. The modern Pharisees and hypocrites will drop through like rain froma cloud and many there will be that will dangle from the meshes, perhaps some of those who have spent their lives judging their fellow men instead of serving them.
