A good picture of a regular attendant at the Riley meetings, afternoon and evening, sitting down near the front, intensely interested in everything said, bearing a great affliction bravely with Christian grace. Tommy Beard, his friend, drew it.

THURSDAY. BESETTING SINS.

At the armory meeting last night a good song service had as a feature a solo by a lady in the audience and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie.

Dr. Riley's throat had cleared well and he spoke with greater ease, and with an earnestness that was inspiring.

Heb. 12:1-2 was the text. Read it. A cloud of witnesses, our besetting sins, and a forgiving Savior were the heads used.

We have to beg the Minneapolis papers for space to speak for Jesus Christ; but foot ball, which is a devotion not an evolution, gets two pages for every game.

There will be a good many people in Heaven.

The sin that was in Adam was atoned for by Christ.

A sin in good social standing is a besetting sin. There are three prominent ones obstructing the church, card, dancing and theater going.

The stream that is narrow turns the wheel, the broad one breeds miasma.

A religion that counts requires endurance for Christ's sake.

Each person knows what his besetting sin is, different with different people. It should be discarded. After you have defined your besetting sin and discarded it, then disregard it, forgetting it and turning to the great purposes of a better life.

The subject this afternoon was: Jonah in a Wicked City. Tonight Dr. Riley will speak on The Unpardonable Sin.

Portland won the second game from Los Angeles 1 to 0.

A meeting of the Chauntauga board will be held this evening at 4:45.

75 rebels were killed in a battle at San Rafael yesterday, trapped and slaughtered like rats.

The Thorne truck is due from Corvallis this afternoon on its way to the Gold Creek mines by road.

Mrs. Albert G. Magers died at Salem Monday night of typhoid fever. Mr. Magers was once a resident of Albany.

M. Cel, a French aviator was killed yesterday while attempting a trip over the Seine. He lost his nerve and his life.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Giddings are again at their home on E. 6th St. Mrs. Giddings having returned from California.

F. G. Stearns, father of H. A. Stearns, is here from Webster, Iowa, and J. P. Andrus and W. L. Pray, from Ft. Dodge.

Eugene Guard:—Miss Aletha Lonsberry returned home last night from Albany, where she attended the wedding of a friend, Miss Verna Kelly, to Leon Stearing.

A millinery store has been opened in the room recently vacated by C. O. Anderson, the jeweler, in charge of Mrs. Parsons, neatly fitted up and well stocked.

It has just been learned that Addison C. Guman, supervisor at the asylum was discharged because he told the truth before the investigating committee. It is now being ventilated.

H. A. Rulter has sold his property at Shann Jefferson streets to a North Dakota man who recently arrived. Rulter and family will continue to do in Albany for a while anyway.

4,000 are injured and 100 in the French safe vault, when the floor was ing opened was an interesting event, but serious one. The government will probably make a rebate upon proof of the accident.

OR'S PEN.

C. A. James, the superintendent of the state penitentiary, passed through the city on his way home from Corvallis, where he addressed the students of the O. A. C. on criminology. Mr. James is called the "old woman" by the convicts. In his school he has men all the way from the college graduate down. There is not a woman in the pen now, and has not been for two years. There are five hundred men in the penitentiary and it takes about forty men to look after them. Prisoners are allowed to smoke pipes, but not cigarettes, and the sack is the medium of exchange. Moving pictures are shown on holidays. The indeterminate sentence and the parole system are giving men a chance to begin over again if they will.

The Democrat catches these things from a good review of Mr. James lecture given by the live G. T.

News from Albany's Six Early Trains.

Marshal Hill, of Hood River, came down on the Springfield train from Brownsville, and left for home. He was the son of a Linn county pioneer and a member of the first Baptist church organized at Brownsville in 1852, one of five out of thirty five, now living. One of the other five is A. W. Stanard, former county clerk, and once mayor of Albany, now old and not well.

E. C. Clement, postal inspector, returned north, after spending the night in Albany. He covers the Willamette Valley, but is also detailed for longer trips, recently to Boise, Idaho, and again to Vancouver, B. C. After those Alaska bricks were stolen from the mails there were several pouch robberies, evidently incited by it, but the robbers got a different kind of gold brick, some yellow journal or love letter. Mr. Clement is a very efficient servant of Uncle Sam, and is quite popular along the circle.

Bishop Seadling returned to Portland after delivering his fourth Wednesday night lecture at Corvallis, a series of interesting discourses to his people there and college students. He was accompanied by Arch deacon Chambers.

Narrow Skirts Demand Pretty Footwear.

To think the foot would be given so much attention, when it comes to dress would not seem possible until one looked at the enormous stock of beautiful footwear that is shown at Chambers & McCune's for women and misses to wear. They are showing over 100 styles of Oxfords, Pumps and Sandals from one to eight straps in ever conceivable kind of leather and cloth, even to burlap, which will be worn with Pongee suits and dresses.

The children's' one, two and three strap sandals are swell for little tots.

They carry the best lines of shoes made and make a specialty of selling the same brands for 50c pair, less than other stores and a warrantee for every pair, even to patent leather.

The Weather.

Range of temperature 75-41. The river is 3.4 feet. Prediction: fair tonight and Friday.

They will arrive in Portland on the 15th and come south on the morning of the 16th, arriving at 4:18, remaining in Albany by special invitation of the commercial club until 12:25. From 10 to 11:30 a meeting will be held at the armory in the interest of adult Bible study, with talks by the visitors.

Eilers Eight Story Music House.

The Eiler Piano House of Portland tomorrow will move into its new eight story building at 7th and Alder streets, said to be one of the finest stores devoted to the music business in the U. S. Besides the Portland store the Company has forty branch stores on the coast, doing an enormous business. Eilers Music House is a great advertiser, which has placed it in the front on the coast, perhaps the best known business house in the Northwest, one the newspaper appreciates doing business with, sure of a square deal without any hair splitting.

The Stayton Bank Failure.

The assets of the Stayton bank consist of $33,000 in real estate, $35,000 in loans, $3,000 in cash and $5,000 in bonds, while the liabilities are $35,000 deposits and $11,000 borrowed money. The banking laws do not allow large real estate investments and the report of the bank examiner drove the bank to the wall.

Other parties have been wanting to get into Stayton with a bank and it is said will do so now.

A Modern Box Kite.

General Crawford has made a kite that is modern in every respect, a tailless affair of the box character. Yesterday he let her go, and she went up like a bird. He is making arrangements to attach a camera and take a snapshot of Albany from a few hundred feet in the air, so our people can see how the city looks on top.

Found in Winona Park.

While surveying this forenoon, preparatory to making the plat for the new Winona Park addition, Robyn Nelson, who has charge of the work, struck a box, in digging for a corner. Upon examination it was found to contain about $5 worth of Star tobacco. This had evidently been hidden by some hobo who had stolen it.
