MISFITS.

Dogs and lions growl, people should not.

The people who are always waiting for tomorrow never do much in life.

The democrats in congress will at least make a showing on the tariff question

Wonder if Jim Hill will have to pay that $50,000 by the time his R. R. gets tier.

The woman who really wears a harem skirt for keeps in a city the size of Albany will know what a strenuous life is

That bacteria are not the cause of disease, but rather the product, is the assertion of Dr. Vanderwalker, of Pendleton, now a Christian minister. He is probably about right.

According to the census returns just received three of Linn county cities have gone backward in ten years: Harrisburg from 502 to 453, Seio from 346 to 295 and Sodaville from 178 to 111.

DOINGS OF THE WORLD

Lebanon lacks just a few of having doubled its population in ten years.

H. E. Hilleary has been reelected president of the Brownville commercial club, a good one.

A crew of Oregon Power men are putting in a transmission line from Halsey to Brownville, where the Company recently bought the local light plant.

E. N. Tandy, a pioneer resident of Harrisburg, is now residing in Portland, at an old people's home, one of 23 inmates. He was county judge of Linn from 1872 to 1876.

The Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Des Moines carries $8,772,000 insurance in Oregon, an increase of $872,000 during 1910. The total insurance carried is $451,148,000, an increase of $41,168,000 during the year.

Speaking of ministerial names the bright Armenian pastor of the M. E. church, at Brownville, recently in Albany, Rev. M. B. Paroungian, will have to give place to a more desperate one to pronounce, Rev. M. P. Dommergues, of Eugene.

Cliff Roots, a cow boy near Billings, Mont., yesterday, killed four people, including his wife of only a few weeks, and then committed suicide. He had been married before. It is thought he has killed several others. It was one of the worst tragedies on record.

ELECTRIC FANS COST VERY LITTLE TO OPERATE

They are a convenience and a comfort in the home.

At the store or office where the comfort of patrons is desired the Electrician is a necessity.

For the business or professional man who will install three or more Electric Fans we have a very liberal proposition to make.

Ask the New Business Department about Fans.
