GOSSARD CORSET DAY.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 18, 19, 20, Miss Pharisier, the expert corset fitter and demonstrator, will be here to help you be properly fitted and explain the extra good points of the Gosard not found in other makes.

HOLT AGAIN. Mr. Holt treated us very fairly in the settlement for his lease on the property occupied by his market where we are about to erect our new store building. We purchased his stock of groceries so he could move at once. Just as soon as we get matters arranged we are going to offer for sale at prices that will move the surplus stock quickly the groceries this purchase leaves on our hands. Later announcements in a few days.

THIS MORNING

News From Albany's Six Early Trains.

State Land Agent Rheinhardt, of Salem, left on a trip out in the hills beyond Lebanon to look after some land owned by the state.

I. B. Rhoads, field secretary of the Y.M.C.A. for the N.W. after spending the night with A. C. Schmitt, left for Portland. He is busy these days looking after construction work, a number of buildings going up in different places.

R. R. Com. F. J. Miller returned from Corvallis and left for Salem. The R. R. Com. expected to have some duties under the public utilities law, but it is said it will be held up by the referendum until the next election.

Mrs. J. W. Taylor and daughter, Miss Vera, left for Walla Walla, Wash., where Miss Vera has been invited to perform at a college recital. Her excellent playing is attracting attention.

H. F. McIlwain left for Jefferson after a span of horses. He expects to dispose of his Albany property and move to his McKenzie farm, forty miles up stream, where he will make his home for a few years.

F. H. Colpitts left for Portland to attend the North West Mining congress, calling together the mining men of a great mining section.

Rev. F. C. Stanard, of Newberg, returned home from a Brownsville trip. Mr. Phil Swank, a married man for cars, came down from Tallman.

Mr. W. W. Bailey arrived from Brownsville.

Mr. J. B. Eddy, having planted his vines, returned from Lebanon.

Lawyer W. S. Raley went to Salem. Policeman Dougherty left for Salem to see the pen.

Mrs. Gebbert went to Portland for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Welch. Stowell Dawson went to Salem. F. G. Will left on a days visit at Aurora.

Mrs. H. H. Hewitt went to Salem. Rev. S. A. Douglas went to Corvallis to see J. W. Adkins, who is critically ill.

M. H. Titus, of Kingston, returned home after an Albany visit. Mr. McCully, of Eugene, a former Halsey man, left for Lyons to look after a farm owned by him there.

R. S. Shaw returned to Mill City. Prof. Wilson went to Brownsville to look after his violin class.

Returned from Electron.

F. W. Watson, arrived yesterday in his Ford, formerly owned by Dr. Davis, from Electron, Wash., where he has been the past two years, working for the great power company, one of whose plants is located there. Mr. Watson has resigned his position there and may again make Albany his home, something the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Watson hope for. Mrs. Watson came by rail several days ago. Electron is up in the hills, not a desirable place for a home, though all right as a business proposition.

Misses Taylor and Rawlings.

The third recital of the college conservatory season was given at the U. P. church last night, with a large and appreciative audience present. Two of the students of Miss Sox, Misses Laura Taylor and Madeline Rawlings, were heard, assisted by Mr. Earl Fortmiller, a pupil of Mrs. Adna Smith Flo.

Miss Taylor presented selections from Mendelssohn, Ravina, Dvorak, Nevin, Chamade and Schubert. Lisa and Miss Rawlings, three from Beethoven, two from Chopin and one each from Moszkowski and Weber, displaying excellent training and a talent for the most popular of instrumental music, that gives promise of much usefulness in musical circles.

Mr. Fortmiller was heard in three solos. He has a very pleasing voice, which he uses easily, with excellent enunciation and expression.

7 to 0.

The Pi-Bankers last night scraped together enough players to fill the field and did their best in a game against the well-trained high school team, who were only able to make 7 runs off them, after some desperate base running, and changing pitchers. The Bankers did not score. Their line up consisted of Anderson, C. Torbet pitcher, Marsden 1st, Vannys 2nd, Harriman 3rd, Fessel 4th, Abrams, Kennard and Stewart fielders. The H. S. as usual.

The game was played for the fun of it and was enjoyed by the performers and the shivering audience of three ladies and several enthusiastic fans.

Krutschmitt Here.

General Traffic Manager Krutschmitt, one of the greatest railroad men in the country, General Manager O'Brien and Superintendent Fields, of the Harriman lines, were in the city last Monday. Last night Mr. Krutschmitt left for San Francisco, while Manager O'Brien and Superintendent Fields and Younger, started on an inspection trip over the C. & E. going to the Bay this afternoon.
