General Removal Sale.

This REMOVAL SALE must clear our old stock to be ready for our NEW STORE.

Most stores are now clearing their decks for Spring by getting out their moth balls and tar paper, and packing their goods away. Not so with us, we are simply sharpening our red pencils, and marking prices way, way down, to keep your interest in our Great Sale.

The crowds come, see and buy; and our entire present stock of merchandise is MOVED out of our store—but NOT into our NEW BUILDING.

Here are a few offerings that laugh at tar paper and moth balls; these mean action.

THIS MORNING.

News from Albany's Six Early Trains.

Henry Kirsch returned to his farm near Millers. He has 21 acres, and is showing what can be done with a small tract. Last year he raised $900 worth of potatoes and has 350 cords of wood cut. Besides he has seven cows and numerous other things.

Mrs. Love, after a visit with her cousin, Mrs. J. A. Dumond, left for her home at Spokane. She was greatly pleased with this part of the Northwest, and enjoyed her visit here.

Mr. Merrill, traveling representative of the Pacific State Telephone Co., returned from Lebanon, where the exchanges have been consolidated into one run by the Independent Co., and went to Portland.

Lawyer L. M. Curl went to Portland on a short business trip.

Prof. Hargrove, the piano instructor, returned to Portland, after a Lebanon trip.

Commissioner Butler returned to Jefferson. He comes up every night while putting in the new ferry boat.

Byron Taylor returned to Corvallis.

Mrs. T. G. Hopkins went to Salem for a several days visit with her folks.

Among the commercial men leaving was Chinook, a popular salesman through the valley.

Manager Jennings of the Oregon Power Co., at Eugene, went to Corvallis, to look after electric light matters.

Nearly Ready.

It is expected the new filter will be running by the 15th of March. Water will be turned in before, but a thorough test will be made before it goes into the mains from the clearing water tanks.

One of the most interesting places in the city will be the operating room of the filter. A series of gauges will show the exact condition of everything in the filter, so it will be known at a glance exactly what is needed, the amount of water in the tanks, the alum solution, and finally the clear water ready for the mains, free, not only from the solution that helped make it clear, but as well practically all microbes, destroyed in the operation.

Albany people will be given a chance to see for themselves, and an inspection will certainly give them confidence in the plant, the best it is possible to construct.

New School House Site.

The school board today went out to Burkhartville to view a site offered for a new school house for the east end. The Burkhart Bros. have offered a choice of two or three good sites, which are being considered. The school population in the east end has grown to such an extent a new building is a necessity.
