The Misfit man got two or three votes himself and J. C. Irvine of the First Savings Bank one for vice president.

The democrats are certainly liberal. As usual they nominated several republicans because of their efficiency in office.

The Lebanon Advocate scores the mayor of that city for his low fine of only $25 in a boot legging case, and asks if Lebanon is proud of the mayor, declaring that Friday must have been a bargain day for booze peddlers. The mayor is entitled to his version of the case, and we wonder what it is that will satisfy a people in a city trying to clean up the booze business.

The Barnes Circus.

The features of the show are: Millie Barnes who presents the famous riding four, a lion, bear, Pomeranian dog, and a Chimpanzee. All riding beautiful Arabian stallions in the big steel arena at the same time, the group of Royal Bengal tigers and Bavian lions, forming one of the most thrilling and spectacular acts of its kind now being presented to an audience, and the youngest lion tamer in the world entering the cage of the untamable lions, Caesar Wallace, showing what a strange nerve and absolute confidence in himself can do with most ferocious beasts of the wilds. At Albany the 25th.
