MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR.—"Who struck Billy Patterson" was for years a deep mystery; but a greater one, and only surpassed by the Charley Ross abduction, occurred yesterday near Gervais. A gentleman about thirty-five years of age was standing on the rear platform next to the last car talking with a friend, when a man in front of him began firing at him. He jumped into the car, but the man continued firing through the window, shooting four times. The shooter then disappeared, and has not been identified since, nor was he seen sufficiently to be recognized.

MRS. D.—Several have inquired of the DEMOCRAT recently as to the whereabouts of one Abigail Scott Duniway. The following despatch, dated at Boise City, Idaho, Jan. 15th, will explain matters: "Mrs. Duniway addressed both houses of the Idaho legislature last evening on the suffrage question. The house was crowded with an interested audience, and applause was frequent during the lady's brilliant and interesting lecture."

A POINTER.—The Salem Statesman's Rock Creek correspondent says: "It is the general opinion that the O. P. railroad company will resume work in a short time. THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

The time of the State Legislature yesterday was taken up almost entirely with the presentation of bills. In the Senate the standing committees were presented with the Democrats at the tail end. Barin heads the judiciary; Carson the ways and means; Moore, elections; Walte, claims; Watts, corporations; Fullerton, public lands; Mackay, federal relations; Hilton, mines; Sinclair, printing; Steel, railroads; Chamberlain, public buildings; Tongue, roads and highways; Norval counties; Dimick, military affairs; Gray, commerce; Hatch, education; Watkins, engrossed bills; Eakin, assessments; Looney, agriculture, Hon R A Irvine, of this county, is on mines, counties and agriculture; Hon S A Dawson, on ways and means, roads and highways; Hon T E Cauthorn, of Benton Co., on ways and means, and education.

The following bills were introduced by Linn county members: Irvine, to amend Albany charter, amending code in reference to service of papers by Sheriffs. Dawson, to amend firelaws, making exemption of firemen possible in five years, to confirm deeds, in reference to record of mortgages. The following are among other bills of importance that were introduced: To prevent betting on elections, regulating trust companies, providing for county board of school commissioners to select school books, exterminating Canada thistles, exempting homesteads from execution, providing for discharge of mortgages by affidavit, aiding Coos and Curry counties in building roads, providing for county recorders in Lane, Yamhill, Clackamas and Jackson counties, providing for State board of agriculture, providing for Circuit Court stenographers.

No PASSES.—In the days of the patriarchal fathers conductors on railroads were never annoyed with the "dead head," who carried his "pass" in his pocket. The "pass" was expressly forbidden. "Search the scriptures" and you will find the following biblical prohibitory commands against the "pass": "I hou shalt not pass." Num. 20, 18. "Suffer not a man to pass." Judges 3, 28. "The wicked shall no more pass." Nahum 1, 15. "None shall ever pass." Isaiah 34, 10. "This generation shall not pass." Mark 13, 30. "Though they roar, yet can they not pass." Jer. 5, 22. For there is more rejoicing over one passenger that payeth his fare than over ninety and nine that goeth upon a "pass."
