Daniel Webster went to college in a homespun suit, of which probably every thread was carded, spun and woven by his mother's hand from the wool of their own sheep. It was dyed in the wool suit, and the color was indigo blue, the old New England color. In the South it is butternut, but though our Yankee grandmothers and great-grandmothers knew all about what butternut bark would do, and the subtle power for slate color that lay in sumach berries and dark of white maple, and various dyes that root and flower, bark and leaf could be made to yield the agency of vitriol and copperas to set these fast, the universal standby was the blue pot—par excellence the dye pot—that stood in the chimney corner of every kitchen worth naming. So Webster was fitted out in indigo blue from collar to ankle—unbecoming for his swart skin—and set off grand sophomoric. Before reaching Hanover there came on one of those drenching rains, which, like the Scotch mists, wet a man to the skin. The suit held its own (for has not indigo blue been warranted fast since first indigo was heard of, but it had parted with enough, so that Daniel, too, was dyed blue from head to foot. Daniel Webster had a liberal status of sentiment in his makeup and for some reason this color of his young manhood became his favorite wear through life. He wore blue coats to his dying day. If anyone ever saw him in a different one the fact has not been put on record.

The Canada blizzard was disastrous enough, surely; but the worst thing about it was its coming at about the time Wiggins had set for such a visitation. It was a terrible blow in more senses than one, but it did not last long, while the way Wiggins blows beats the blizzard out of sight.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

A Rumor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A Washington special to the Post says: "There has been for several days a rumor that there is a sharp difference of opinion in the cabinet on account of the alleged Samoan complications. The latest form which this rumor has taken is that Secretary Whitney or Secretary Bayard may resign. Attempts made this morning to obtain any authorized information on the subject were not successful."

Getting Ready.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28.—General Orton is receiving applications from volunteers for service in case of war with Germany. John F. Ford, late sergeant of company M, Second cavalry of volunteers, at Redwood City, was the first to apply. General Orton says that at the present rate 10,000 men could be raised in thirty days. Colonel Keven has had numberless personal applications.

A Ridiculous Law.

SANTA FE, N. M., Jan. 28.—The most notoriously objectionable libel bill that has ever been introduced in any legislature in America, has passed both houses of the assembly. The governor is hard at work preparing a lengthy veto, which will be transmitted to the council tomorrow. It will accomplish nothing, however, as the bill will be passed over his head, as others have been. It makes it a libel for a person to read aloud from a newspaper anything derogatory to the good name of another, and punishable by a heavy fine and imprisonment. This is only one of the outrageous provisions defined in this act. It is the principal topic in this city to-day, and meets with the disapproval of all.

Good Coffee Anyway.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The general meeting of the supreme court has handed down a decision affirming the verdict of the district court of $45,000 against the millionaire coffee merchant Charles Arbuckle, in the breach of promise suit brought by pretty Clara Campbell, of Ironton, Ohio.

Besieged.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The house committee on judiciary held a special meeting to-day to hear addresses from the members of the Woman Suffrage Association in support of an amendment to the constitution of the United States, granting the elective franchise to women. Among the speakers were Susan B. Anthony, Isabella Beecher Hooker, Rev. Olympia Brown Mrs. Clara B. Colby, editor of the Woman's Tribune, Mrs. A. S. Daniway, of Oregon and others.

That Deadlock.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 28.—Balloting for United States senator was kept up in both houses to-day. Delegate Shelton created a sensation in the house by the statement that he had been approached with an offer of money in consideration of the abandonment of his political convictions and affiliations, and of his voting for the republican candidate for United States senator. A committee was appointed to investigate and report as soon as possible.

Did Not Qualify.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28.—It transpires that thirty of the fifty-two county clerks of the state have neglected to properly qualify within the fifteen days allowed by law, and their acts have therefore been illegal, and under strict construction of the statute they have forfeited their places. A bill to validate their acts will be introduced to-morrow.
