SAMOA AND THE SAMOANS.

The Samoan or Navigators group of islands is in the South Pacific ocean, in latitude 14 degrees south and longitude 172 degrees west, and lies directly west of the coast of Peru. They have an area of 2650 square miles and a population approximating 33,000 not including the laborers introduced from other islands to cultivate cotton and coconut.

The native Samoan in stature is tall, inclined to be robust, and of a bright copper color, more pleasing than the dull tint of the Sandwich Islander. His strength is stupendous, and his endurance a marvel, only equalled by his chivalrous bearing toward those to whom he is opposed either in battle or native sports. So chivalrous are they that when two armies are opposed an attack is never made without first notifying the other side, to allow the women and children to be removed to a place of security. If the party notified be not ready for the attack information to that effect causes a postponement to another designated time. When the battle commences it is a bloody one, and noted for many feats of personal bravery.

The women are of medium height, with finely formed limbs and plump in figure and many have beautiful faces. The eyes are the attractive feature, being dark and soft, with unusually long, drooping lashes, combined with pleasing smiles which greet the stranger on every side and impress him at once with amiability and kindly feeling. Virtue and industry are their teaching, and, in fact, the greatest of all ceremonies is the courtship and wedding.

The social relations of the islanders are marked in the different castes. Each village has a chief, who governs by right of birth, his ancestors having lived in the village for hundreds of years, occupying the same house, or at least, the same frame of the house—the central frame supports being an heirloom of many hundreds of years back. The islands are governed by a king and two assemblies called a "fono," a kind of upper and lower house; the members of these two bodies representing villages and localities all over the islands. Their oratory is very effective and full of grace, combining an earnestness and gravity peculiar only to these people. Malietoa, the rightful king, who was enticed on board of a German man-of-war and is now a prisoner in Germany, is an old man of 78 and his next of kin is carrying on the war against Tamasese, who is in open rebellion at the instigation of the Germans.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

Likes His Beer.
NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The Women's Christian Temperance Union will be pleased to learn that Mrs. Harrison does not countenance wine in public. Her table in the hotel is one of the very few where claret is never seen. It is stated here, however, that the general has a fine taste for ale and stout brown, and as his wife is too levelheaded to interfere with any of his plans, it looks as though the country were to see a lop-sided inaugural banquet.

A Plucky Man.
HELENA, Mont., Feb. 1.—One of the pluckiest fellows that ever lived in Montana is John Meyers. He is 20 years old, and has just gone through a terrible experience. He is a cowboy, and was hunting for horses with a party on the Stillwater river. He was missing Tuesday night, when the others came in. It was thought that he had slipped at some "squaw man's" house, and no fear was felt for his safety. Two days afterward the men in the camp noticed a dark object slowly sliding down the side of an opposite bluff. It was Meyers, both of his legs were broken, and his head and face were terribly lacerated. He was weak from loss of blood and the exposure he had undergone, dragging himself along for thirty hours in the snow.

On His Pa's Fame.
HELENA, Mont., Feb. 1.—The proposed new daily at Helena, with Russell B. Harrison son of the president-elect, as general manager and authorized spokesman, seems to be making good progress toward realization. An effort has been made to get the republican campaign paper, the Record, out of the way, and swallow it, but the managers of that concern, knowing the anxiety of the new combination to secure it, are holding the property at an enormously high figure.

A Treaty.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—The special correspondent of a local paper writes from Yokohama Japan, January 9, as follows: "There is considerable excitement here to-day with reference to the report that a secret treaty has been negotiated between Japan and some western power. It is generally understood that the United States has made this entering wedge for the purpose of assisting the government in revising its treaties, as have always admitted the justice of Japan's rights in the matter."

At Samoa.
AUCKLAND, Feb. 1.—Latest advices from Samoa say that Tamasese's supporters have been reduced to 800 men. The British and American consuls have declined to recognize the right of the Germans to establish martial law. The German authorities were willing to recognize Mataafea, providing he ruled under German control.

He Succeeded.
VIENNA, Feb. 1.—It is officially announced that Crown Prince Rudolph committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a revolver.

GOLDEN RULE BAZAAR.

Cash Goes a Long Ways at Julius Gradwohl's
I have made arrangements for buying goods direct from the factories in Europe and will sell at wholesale or retail, cheaper than any where else on the Pacific Coast. The following are some of my cash retail prices:
35 dozen unhandled tea cups and saucers, 35 cts.
15 dozen unhandled coffee cups and saucers, 45 cts.
15 dozen handled coffee cups and saucers, 50 cts.
15 dozen seven inch dinner plates, 45 cts.
These goods are all from stone China and not a cheaper grade of goods. I have also added a good stock of groceries, which I ask people to call and examine and judge for themselves as to cost and prices.
JULIUS GRADWOHL.

A FINE BOOK.—Probably no book that has ever been introduced in Albany is of more real value than Cram's Family Atlas of the World. Besides a geography of the world in splendidly gotten up maps are departments devoted to history, political events, comparative debts, wealth, religious denominations, etc., in well gotten up and compact tables. Going with the work is the Geographical News, a paper giving the latest geographical events of the world. A young gentleman is now canvassing the city for this work, which deserves a good patronage.

Nasal Catarrh is probably one of the most disagreeable ailments that a person can be afflicted with. If Dutard's Specific is used with a douche or even sniffed up the nose, according to directions, morning and evening, a radical cure can in most cases be effected. Sold by Fosby & Mason.
