

Daily Democrat

From our regular correspondent,
WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18th, 1889.

According to promise Chairman Mills has reported the Senate tariff bill to the House. He accompanied it with a resolution declaring the bill to be unconstitutional and directing the clerk of the House to return it to the Senate. This resolution will be voted on early this week, and its passage is expected, which will dispose of the Senate tariff bill. There have been, in the last two days, three other Revenue bills reported to the House. Mr. McMillan, from the Ways and Means committee has reported a bill which is the original Mills bill, with the cotton, metal and chemical schedules left out. From the same committee Mr. Breckinridge has reported a compromise measure, which provides for free wool, free tin-plate, the repeal of the tobacco tax, and the same woolen and worsted schedules as the Mills bill. Mr. Randall, from the committee on appropriations, has reported the Cowles internal revenue bill, which repeals the entire tobacco tax and modifies other features of the internal revenue law.

All of these different measures from democrats do not speak well for the unity of the party. A caucus is to be held to-night when an attempt will be made to agree upon something, but the outlook is not assuring.

The clerk of the House has been authorized by a resolution of the House to employ four additional enrolling clerks for the remainder of the session. This is preparing for the rush of bills that always get crowded through in the last days of a session.

The House has given way to the Senate and New Mexico will be dropped from the Springer "Omnibus" bill, and North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington admitted by Presidential proclamation. That is all right as far as it goes, but I cannot see why New Mexico has not as good right to come in as the rest.

The Senate committee on territories will this week report the Oklahoma bill, and its early passage is generally regarded as certain.

The Treasury Department paid out on account of pensions over $20,000,000 during the first half of this month. Who says "republics are ungrateful." Representative Matson, who is chairman of the House committee on pensions, and who was recently the democratic candidate for governor of Indiana, retires after the fourth of March. As a token of esteem his colleagues on that committee have presented him with a handsome French clock. The presentation speech was made by Representative Gallinger, a republican, who expects to get elected to the Senate from New Hampshire.

The Senate got ahead of the House in passing the bill retiring Gen. Rosecrans ("old Rosy") with the rank of Brigadier-General.

Four hundred special policemen are to be appointed in this city to protect us from the republicans that will attend Harrison's inauguration. And it would be impossible even now to throw a stone in the streets of Washington without striking a republican candidate for some Federal office.

Mr. Coleman, lately Commissioner of Agriculture, has been confirmed by the Senate for his new position, and on Friday took the oath and assumed the duties of Secretary of Agriculture. He has received and is still receiving many congratulations, personally, by mail and by wire.

Although Assistant Postmaster General Stevenson has been nominated Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, he has no expectation of being confirmed. A few unimportant nominations have recently been confirmed by the Senate, but there is no hope of anything better during the eleven working days now left to the present Congress.

The Senate has passed a resolution instructing the committee on commerce to consider the expediency of the Government purchasing the Dismal Swamp Canal with a view to making it a highway between the Chesapeake Bay and the North Carolina sounds.

Although the session is so nearly ended the introduction of a new bill is a frequent occurrence. Among the latest is one to establish a national system of farmer's institutes, to be devoted to the accumulation and dissemination of information of practical value to farmers. Another which I neglected to mention while speaking of the territorial bills is a separate bill for the admission of New Mexico, offered in the House, and which Mr. Springer and other leading democrats will endeavor to rush through.

Mrs. Cleveland held her last public reception on Saturday afternoon, and in spite of a cold dreary rain nearly 2000 people attended.

The wife of a prominent Ohio Congressman, who has recently returned from a fortnight's visit to Mrs. Harrison, was asked many particulars about it at the White House lately as she sauntered through the East Parlor. She said it was very amusing to read the letters that were flowing in upon Mrs. Harrison from all sorts of people and on all sorts of reform topics, begging her to do this and not to do that, and to give some assurance in advance that she positively would or would not do the other. On leaving, the lady said to her hostess:

"What shall I tell your old friends in Washington, besides telling them that you are not a bit spoiled, but the same whole-souled, genial woman as in the old days there?"

"Well, tell them," said Mrs. Harrison, laughingly, "that as to low-necked and short sleeved dresses, personally, no; as to wine, I haven't made up my mind; as to bustles, yes."
