AN EDITOR THERE.—One of the men in the R. R. accident near the California line a few days ago was Hon. J. P. Wager of the Pendleton E. O. He had taken a cigar in the smoker and then proceeds with the matter in the following graphic manner: "After the cigar, there was a period of dozing from which, there was a sudden and none too gentle an awakening. When the occupants of the "smoker" recovered from the first momentary stupefaction of their surprise they found themselves sprawled out or doubled up in the top of the car, amid a chaos of seats, valises, lamps, expectation, et cetera. The car, on account of a widened track or a broken rail, had jumped off upon the ties, bumped along on them for a distance—at a speed of twenty-five miles an hour—then dissolved its connection with its companions and rolled over down an embankment. The first thought of all, I presume, was of fire—and a tragedy; but, as all individually felt themselves over and found themselves really alive and with no bones broken and in pitch darkness, the situation, in spite of bruises and scratches, began to assume faint outlines of a comedy. The train stopped, backed up, the window of our dungeon was broken open, the various "traps" rescued, and all were able to eat breakfast at Redding after all."

SPECIAL MEETING.—A special meeting of the city council was held last evening to consider the matter of the Washington street grade. Hon. J. K. Weatherford and Cap. N. B. Humphrey were retained to conduct the injunction suit for this city, and Councilmen Gradwohl, French and Burkhardt were appointed a committee to attend to the interests of the city in the matter. The case will no doubt settle the question as to whether the city has authority to grade its streets or not.

RAILROAD CONTRACT.—E. J. O'Conner, our efficient County Surveyor and W. B. Barr have taken a contract in the Fairhaven and Southern, a railroad now being built by Nelson Bennett from Bellingham Bay in W. T. to coal mines on the Skagit river a distance of thirty miles. These gentlemen have a contract to build a portion of this road and left to-day to enter upon their work. Mr. Ed Harrigan will accompany them to engage in the work. These gentlemen do good work as Mr. Bennett already knows. Mr. O'Conner has just returned from an extended trip up the Washington Territory coast including Tacoma, Seattle, Olympia, Whatcom and many other points, and says he finds no place that offers such fine inducements for investments as Albany.

A REAL SURPRISE.—Wednesday evening a large number of friends of Mr and Mrs Rhodes, living in East Albany, gathered themselves together, loaded down with palatable viands, and wended their way to that gentleman and lady's residence completely taking them by surprise. It was their 20th marriage anniversary and their friends took this means to show them the high esteem in which they are held. Many valuable presents were given and a hearty good time was had.

REFORM SCHOOL.—Hon. R. A. Irvine has returned from Salem, where he presented the petition to the governor and reform board for the location of the reform school here. He states they are favorably impressed with Albany for the location. We get it will require a tract of land adjoining the city, and Mr. Irvine is keeping his eyes open for a suitable location.

EXCITING TIMES.—One needs to go away from home for the news, as the following indicates: The real estate boom has become so exciting in Albany, it is reported several lots were bought and sold there last Sabbath. The devil must be doing a good business over there among our neighbors.

ANOTHER R. E. OFFICE.—W. C. Tweedle has rented the building now occupied by G. W. Harris, the same will be improved when he will open a real estate office. Mr. Harris, we understand contemplates retiring from the business.

THE FIRST.—Mr. John McCoy, and Mr. Jason Hecker, the first sheriff, were introducing each other around the city to-day. The former swore the latter in in 1848 or 9. The gentlemen are split on which date is correct.

WILL BE RAISED.—As predicted by the Democrat the Woolen Mill subsidy will be raised this week, the total amount subscribed being sufficiently large to make a statement with confidence.

OLD OREGON.

WALLA WALLA, March 18th, 1889.

Editors Democrat: It may not be out of the way to give you a short chapter on Oregon, Washington and Idaho; the old territory of Oregon. We need not go back over twelve years to find that this section of our Pacific slope, confining our reference to Eastern Oregon, Washington and Western Idaho, was in an undeveloped State. No railroads, nothing to give the promise of future greatness that now dawns upon this extensive body of lands. When the road bed was run out from Umatilla landing, a proposed extension of travel from the boats on the Columbia river; it was hailed as the coming boom of that section of Oregon. The North Pacific was then in its throes for life; and the projects of the O. R. N. were flickering between doubts and promises. Pendleton had a population of two hundred. Umatilla county had given promise of great productiveness in cereals from experiments made. The Government had given the Indians over two hundred thousand acres of land, the best there was of the area adjoining the Pendleton location. Stages were on the roads and the teamster was the civilized. Now at this day a change has overcome the country. That railroad from Umatilla is built, and runs via Pendleton to Moscow, Idaho and to Rockford in Washington, twenty miles from Spokane Falls. A branch a few miles east of Harington at Tekoa, will run to Coeur d'Alene mines. Pendleton has two railroads, the short line and the road mentioned. It is a growing center with 4000 inhabitants at the present time. Much of the immigration does not center here, but it passes on most generally to Eastern Washington. At Pendleton and surroundings there is every inducement offered to settlers and new comers. Already the citizens are negotiating to have the Hunt railroad to the Sound country come in here. "There is always trouble on the Reservation," is an old story in Oregon. And at this outing it is so on the Umatilla, but when it is sifted out the charges against the Superintendent will not amount to much. Most of the trouble grows out of the leasing of lands by the Indians, which may be the best thing to do. Here are a great number of persons who have leased these lands of Indians, to the displeasure of the new agent, who has secured the assistance of U. S. troops to remove the intruders. It would be a blessing if these reservation lands could be thrown open to settlement. There are not to exceed a thousand Indians, and not ten per cent of them will follow the permit of agriculture. Until the Indian right is extinguished settlement will not increase on these lands. The present condition of things is a drawback to the development of Umatilla county. The Government is responsible for this hindrance to the progress of this country. Notwithstanding this obstacle Pendleton is growing. A new Court House and a new hotel, mark the progress of those laboring to remove this reservation weight from their necks. Two hours ride takes us to Walla Walla in Washington. A more lovely country along the road cannot be found. Walla Walla has a pleasing history, it being near the old mission, and the commercial center in the days of the mines and pack train. It is a neat city and should be the Capitol of Washington. Here Mr. G. W. Hunt, the contractor will reside, having paid $10,000 for his residence. His headquarters are here for the Hunt trains and railroad that will run to Seattle by the 1st of April. This is the route Pendleton aims to bring to its city. Ten years ago Mr. Hunt kept a ferry on Snake River, was accommodating and industrious. When the Northern Pacific R. R. came into the country he with his male team entered the service as railroad worker. Being a brainy man he soon learned the business of contracting by sub-contracting and then contracting direct. His success is well-known. He is now very rich and a railroad magnate of no mean parts. Backed by the Northern Pacific he has engineered a new system that is now in operation. As the Dolphin goes before the shark, the echo of Mr. Hunt's success is "N. P." He will build up Walla Walla and add to the material wealth of that section of Washington and Oregon. Gratification at his great success is general. He has earned it. The North Pacific is building a large wheat elevator at Walla Walla, which like Pendleton will have a steady growth in wheat export. The stock through this part of the country did not winter well, but as the weather has been mild and the grass is coming on there will be no loss. A boom is looked for and it will come. More anon.

ITINERARY. A HEADDRESS.—Mr. Dave Burkhardt has shown the DEMOCRAT one of the finest Indian headdresses he has ever had placed before its optic nerves. It consists of bear's claws, beads, etc., and is worth about $25. It was brought from Arizona by Henry Kirchoff, who is working for Mr. Burkhardt, and is a curiosity in the line of Indian relics.

ANOTHER ATTORNEY.—It has been several years since Albany had a new lawyer. Mr. Geo. W. Wright, of Heppner, though, has concluded to fill the position. Having bought considerable property in and around the city, he will locate here and bring his family to the city in a few days. He is a live, energetic gentleman, who seems to have considerable rustle to him.

PAID IN FULL.—County Treasurer Farwell sent a draft to-day for $6719.83, to apply on state taxes. This settles Linn county's taxes for this year. She is next to Multnomah, the largest taxpayer in the state.

SNAG BOATS.—The government snag boats, the Willamette and Corvallis went up the river this morning, the latter going under the bridge without the draw being turned. They are putting the river in good condition for navigation.

HOME AND ABROAD

New style jewelry at French's. Mrs Rev Thompson, of Corvallis, is in the city.

A second-hand organ for sale cheap at Mrs Hyman's. Buy your watches at French's. Big bargains.

Go to R M Robertson for oats, cheat hay and timothy. Wheat has dropped to 63 cents, and the market is exceedingly dull.

Rev A M Acheson, of Oakville, is in Colfax assisting Rev Allter. The south jetty at the Bay was considerably damaged by the storms of last week.

A republican paper says the president's cabinet is pretty near solidly Presbyterian. Have you paid your county taxes. The first of April is almost here if you have not.

Mrs Cleveland, it is reported, will write a magazine article. We predict it will be full of sense. The arrivals at the Portland hotels amount to about five hundred a day and fill a column in the Oregonian.

Miss Mary Monteith and niece, of Corvallis, are in the city, the guests of Mrs. Waller Monteith. Is your name on the woolen mill subscription. Then put it there. It means a great deal for Albany.

Rev E R Prichard, of this city, and Rev D Thomson, of Corvallis, will exchange pulpits next Sabbath. Misses Annie and Kate Riland have gone to Mt Angelo, to be present when their sister, Annie takes the white veil.

Wanamaker is said to be in favor of a one cent postage for letters. So are we. The combination ought to settle the business. The "Baby Home" is a new institution being started at East Portland. Its proper use will decide on how good a thing it is.

G. W. Wright, the Heppner lawyer, has purchased of H Flindt, the house and one lot adjoining Mr. Flindt's residence. Consideration, $900. Eugene City has a Board of Trade just like Albany's, a twin sister. Really it takes a large place like Portland to handle a Board of Trade properly.

Dr Starr, C H Cable and Geo D Overton, of Brownsville, have been in the city to-day. Mr Overton offers to move his farm here if a sufficient subsidy is raised. There will be a debate at the college tonight by members of the class on political economy on protection or free trade. The public is invited to be present.

There will be preaching at the Oakville United Presbyterian church next Sabbath, the 24th inst., at 12 m., by Rev. A M Black, D D, of Monmouth, Ill. A cordial invitation is extended to all. M Heisler, of Dufur, Wasco county, is in the city on business, and will return in a few days. Mrs Heisler was a daughter of Mr White, who resided near this city for many years.

Mr Chas McClure, of LaGrande, a former neighbor of Messrs Crasman and Allen, is in the city. We understand Mr McClure was at one time a member of Buffalo Bill's wild west troupe, and is one of the best riders in Eastern Oregon. A correspondent from Irving to a Eugene paper writes: "This place is getting to be quite a strong-hold for tramps, the people feed them well and several have camped in and look as if they meant to stay." This gives the keynote to the whole business. Don't feed them and there will be no further trouble.

Darrab, a Portland man, who went to the penitentiary says: "You may think I am a fool for giving the snap away to the Judge, but I wanted to go to the pen; I like it. I was there for a year and I found the fare so fine that I think it is better than knocking about on the cold charity of the world. When my year is out I'll tumble in again."

Greenwood's Fine Art Studio. To the public: When I bought L. W. Clark's photographic business, I did not buy in one day to sell out the next, but I am here to stay. I also bought his negatives which I have carefully registered so that duplicates can be had at reduced rates. I am prepared to make all kinds of pictures from the smallest gem to full life size in the latest style of the art, having just arrived from the East on the 1st of January, 1889. All copying done at my gallery, no work sent away. Old pictures copied and enlarged to any size, colored in oil, India ink, water colors or crayon. Call and examine our specimens and accessories and be convinced. All the instruments used are of the latest improved even to the Venus camera the only one in Albany. Soliciting a share of your patronage, I am Very respectfully yours, W. H. GREENWOOD.

CROOK COUNTY.

Mr H E Burmester returned on Monday from a trip to the mountains. Mr Burmester says that the snow on the summit of the Cascades on the Santiam route is not over two feet deep, and it is his opinion that it has not been over four feet deep any time during the past winter.... Sheepmen in this county have not suffered any losses to speak of during the past twelve months. We believe one per cent. will cover the average losses that took place during the past winter months in this county.... Perry Poindester is the owner and proprietor of a tailless calf. The calf is about a week old and is as destitute of a tail as a fair haired woman is of whiskers. It looks like the poor thing might catch cold.... The reason Prineville is called "she" or referred to as "her," is because there is a good deal of "bustle" about it, and (fact) it has out-skirts.... School teachers are still scarce in this county, and those qualified can command and receive almost any wages they ask.—News.
