

Daily Democrat

From our regular correspondent,
WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 29th, 1889.

President Harrison has refused to extend the time for the Railway Mail Service to pass under the rules of the Civil Service Commission. Consequently no appointment can be made in that branch of the Government service after May 1st, except through the Civil Service Commission. This action was taken in opposition to the wishes of Postmaster General Wanamaker, who had asked to have the time extended.

The most thoroughly disappointed man in the United States—Billy Mahone, of Virginia—had quite a long interview with the President on Saturday, and it is said that he made a most piteous appeal for recognition of some sort. He is no longer choice about what he gets. He started out by demanding a Cabinet position, but now he humbly asks to be allowed to name a few of the smaller Federal officials in Virginia, and it is by no means certain that even that privilege is to be allowed him.

President Harrison, as a lawyer, must be familiar with the old English legal maxim which says, "the receiver of stolen goods is as bad as the thief," but his action in cutting the acquaintance of his old friend, W W Dudley, who organized the doubtful voters of Indiana into "blocks of five," and stole the state, proves that he does not believe in the aforesaid maxim. It has been hinted around Washington for some time that President Harrison had refused to speak to Col Dudley since the latter was unfortunate enough to get shown up in the "blocks of five" business. Could it be because the President disapproves of such crookedness? Why, Dudley has been one of the crookedest and ablest lieutenants for lo these many years, and it was for just such work that he, by special request, had Dudley made treasurer of the republican National committee. Gen Harrison did not seem to object to the crookedness then, on the contrary he accepted all the benefit therefrom. But when Col Dudley was stupid enough to be caught, Gen Harrison's virtue developed, and he resolved to have nothing more to do with such a very wicked man as Dudley. It is strange that everybody else should know all about Col Dudley's dark ways all these years and that the President should have been entirely ignorant.

Dudley, himself, has made the rumored snubbing a certainty by giving out a letter which he wrote to a gentleman in Indiana, who had asked his influence in getting an office for which he was an applicant. The following paragraph from Dudley's letter tells the whole story: "Perhaps there is no one in the whole country who has done as much for General Harrison during the last twenty years as I have, but because our democratic friends down in Indiana have started the hue and cry on me, brother Ben does not seem to feel that he can afford to recognize me as an acquaintance, and consequently I don't take dinner at the White House as might be expected."

If President Harrison believed his friend Dudley to have been such a rascal that he could not afford to recognize him as an acquaintance, would he not have been more consistent to refuse the fruits of that rascality—the Presidency? No sane man doubts that New York was carried by the same methods as Indiana. If Col Dudley is a thief, who is the receiver of the stolen goods?

Private Secretary Halford says that the President's health has not been better in twenty years than it is now. This story is gotten up for out-of-town consumption; it will not pass here where people can see the President's chalky face and the watery looking puffs under his eyes.

Senators Sherman and Quay who have been saying uncomplimentary things about each other, have shaken hands and outwardly made up, but they have both doubtless made up their minds to get even with each other at the first opportunity.

The General Land Office will investigate the charges that Government officials took advantage of their official positions for taking possession fraudulently of choice town lots and homesteads in Oklahoma before the bona fide settlers arrived.

Dr C E Simmons, who is trying to secure $143,350 from the executors for medical advice to the late Samuel J Tilden, figures up the sum by charging $50 a visit for 2200 visits and $50 a day for holding himself in readiness to devote his exclusive attention to Mr Tilden. It is a magnificent bill of its kind.

The leaders of the big sugar trust defiantly declare that their mammoth combine is here to stay. That depends altogether on which party the people put in power in 1893.

If you have any job work to do call on G W Smith who is prepared to do it with neatness and dispatch and as cheap as anyone.

Do not wait until to-morrow, when you feel sick, but take immediately a dose of Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier and prevent a serious attack of sickness. It is the best liver regulator and blood cleanser in existence. Try it.

ELECTED.—6000 rolls of wall paper in an immense number of patterns at Fortmiller & Irving's, the finest line in the central Willamette Valley. It is an art gallery to see it all.

A large sycamore tree, planted in 1832, by Alice and Phoebe Cary, on the Hamilton turnpike in Hamilton county, Ohio, is still standing and one of the finest trees in the county. They were children, returning from school and saw a farmer grub and throw a small tree on the road. This is the tree they planted, and often afterward visited when they and it had grown up and flourished.

The most influential American at the Japanese court, it is asserted, is Henry Denison, a young New Englander of about 35, who acts as the foreign adviser of the state department at Tokio, and to whom the mikado has given a fine house and court rank.
