One hundred and fifty-six applicants for a single Consulate in South America! And after the appointment is made one hundred and fifty-five of them will be convinced that this administration is not living up to the pledges of the republican party.

On the way from Brunswick to Harpswell is a point where four roads meet. Nature smiles on the spot, but it marks a uniquely cruel episode in the history of the New England colonists. In 1752 Ann Conner committed suicide in the old town of Brunswick. In accordance with the old blue laws she was buried at this place of the meeting of the four roads, with a stake driven through her body. This is said to have been the only instance in which this old law was put into execution in this country.

Justice and Mrs Lamar will go South while the former makes his circuit, and later on in the summer they will go abroad for a short stay. Justice Lamar has not been abroad for many years, and now that his favorite daughter-in-law, the wife of his son Louis, will reside in Paris next year, he is more than anxious to make her a visit. Mrs Lamar, jr., has been a diligent student, and her success in portrait painting already warrants the high hopes that have been expressed of her career under competent instructors abroad.

Asparagus is just now being imported into England in large quantities from Toulouse and the north of Spain. The bundles are packed in wooden crates and, considering the transshipments en route, reach Covent Garden in excellent condition. Spain is also sending large quantities of tomatoes to the London markets. Last year as many as thirty vessels were engaged in transporting the fruit, and this year it is expected that larger quantities still will be sent. The profit yielded last year was often 100 per cent. The Spanish specimens, though cheap, are only fit for cooking, being very ugly in shape and color.

Robert Browning goes out a great deal in society, and has an especial weakness for dinners. He is short and stout with white hair and a glow of ruddy health. He wears his hair quite long and has a mustache and goatee. He enjoys the best of health and has an almost boyish flow of animal spirits and enthusiasm. Society is his life and he is always en evidence. He dines out nearly every night and loves balls and receptions. Most agreeable in conversation, of course he is well posted on every subject and his friends number the great men of the entire world. He is a great flirt and very proud of his conquests. Of course all bow down to the Browning name, one of the grandest in literature, much sought after by all classes of society. His presence is thought to put a most learned and distinguished stamp on any reunion.

The law offices of Mr Bayard in the old family homestead, at Ninth and Market streets, Wilmington, are being refitted and put in condition for early occupancy. Young Tom, who comes from Yale in a short time, will share the offices, and under his father's tutelage will equip himself for the practice of law. There is no doubt that Mr Bayard will refrain from entering public life again. He has expressed himself to friends as being heartily tired of public affairs and of desiring to pass the rest of his years in the quietness of his home, with his family and his books, devoting his energies to the practice of law and the training of his two younger sons for the same profession. In young Tom the hopes of the family probably rest. He is the exact counterpart of his father, a shade taller perhaps, with broad shoulders—a picture of fine young manhood. He is open and frank in manner and immensely popular with those of his own years. Philip, the youngest of the family, is likewise a youth of fine promise.

Miss Carrie J Bartlett, the first woman to occupy a pulpit in Dakota, and who has been for three years minister of All Souls' Church, of S. Dak., has recently accepted a call to the Unitarian Church at Kalamazoo, Mich. Miss Bartlett, who was for about two years a member of the Minneapolis Tribune staff, and is well known. She resigned her charge in Sioux Falls a short time ago and will be the first woman to occupy a pulpit in the state to which she goes. Miss Bartlett was born at Hudson, Wis., and was educated at the college at Carthage, Ill., receiving the degree of A. B. in 1879, and carrying off the valedictory honors of her class. She spent the next year in special study and later was honored with the degree of A. M. She taught a year as Principal of the schools at Montrose, Ia., and was then, on account of an injury received, an invalid for two years. The last six months of this period were spent on a claim near Ellendale, in Dakota. So beneficial was the wonderful Dakota ozone, breathed constantly because of a life spent mainly out of doors, that the broken down young woman grew well and strong. About this time she sought and obtained employment on the Minneapolis Tribune and remained with the paper two years. Her work, whatever it was, was done thoroughly and well.

BABIES.—The finest line of baby carriages in the Valley just received at Stewart & Sox's. Prices are remarkably cheap considering the superior quality of the carriages.

Just like a man! Nov. 26, 1864, Mrs Hodges, of St Louis, mailed a letter to her husband, who was with Sherman's army. On reaching his regiment the letter was given to Capt Bixby, to be delivered to Mr Hodges. The captain naturally put it in his pocket. Two weeks ago he found it in the same pocket of the same coat, yellow and dingy with twenty-five years' incarceration, but otherwise all right. He immediately mailed it, and Mr Hodges received it in St Louis, the city from which it originally started. The news was a little old, but the family enjoyed reading it.

The Advance Threshing Machinery.
The best and fastest thresher in America, and a machine that stands without a rival. The ADVANCE thresher has NEVER BEEN REPLACED by any other machine on the Coast, but has replaced several others that HAVE FAILED to fill WARRANTEE. The ENGINE is guaranteed to pull more than any other, and will out travel all others on the road. If you hear any loud boasts, please tell the parties the ADVANCE THRESHER and ENGINE are sold on their merits entirely. And I am willing to prove all I claim in my field at any time. Do not be humbugged by buying any machine until you see the ADVANCE. I also handle steam fitting goods, iron pipe, pumps, mowers, senders, springtooth harrows, blacksmith's forges, drills, church, farm and school bells, and many other specialties.
