

From our regular correspondent,
WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 10th, 1889.

Harrison will give anti-Mahone Virginian republicans a hearing to-morrow. A delegation of Virginia negroes called at the White House Saturday. They say that Harrison told them he did not propose to recognize Mahone. But as one of this delegation expressed it: "Its mighty queer if Mahone isn't recognized by the appointing power, that every man appointed to a federal office in or from that state happens to be a shouting Mahonite." While this crowd is quarrelling over the spoils, democrats here are looking forward to carrying the state by much larger majority than Cleveland and Thurman did.

Verily the ways of providence are inscrutable. The fight between Blaine and Harrison has been indefinitely postponed on account of the news received from Hayti. It seems that the fellow who was engaged in making a treaty with France that would endanger the Monroe doctrine has been so badly licked by the rebel general that he is no longer in a position to make treaties, hence we have no need for a commission in that country, and Blaine has no excuse for attempting to bull-doze Harrison into letting him have his way. The next news from Hayti may change the face of the matter.

Secretary Windom has, in deference to a wide expression of condemnation refused to accept the opinion of the Solicitor of the Treasury, that it would be unlawful for the Catholic University of America, that is to be established in this city, to bring from Europe a corps of instructors. The matter has been referred to the Attorney-General and if he decides the opinion of the Solicitor to be good law the officers of the University will go to Congress in order to get an amendment to such an absurd law.

Disappointment at not receiving an office is having a bad effect on James Jackson, of Alabama, who was a candidate for the District Attorney-ship given to Parsons, the engineer of the "white man's party" fiasco. He is in such a bad way that his family has been telegraphed to come on. He is crazy.

Among the appointments by Harrison last week were a democrat and a negro. The negro was made receiver of public moneys at Huntsville, Alabama, and the democrat Marshal of the western district of Louisiana.

Cranks seem to have the advantage of ordinary people in the matter of "luck." For instance, look at the case of Capt G. A. Ames, U. S. A. retired, who has just had his third sentence of dismissal from the army commuted by the president to confinement within such limits as may be presented by the Secretary of War, and to deprivation of the right to wear the uniform and insignia of his rank in the army for a period of five years. The offenses for which he was tried this time were intruding into the inaugural parade and attempting to pull the nose of Gov. Beaver, of Pennsylvania. The court martial found him guilty and sentenced him to dismissal. Most people here regard him as crazy enough to be in an asylum.

Julius Caesar Burrows, the Michigan Congressman, whose principal distinction is the possession of a voice that is a pretty good imitation of a fog-horn, and who hopes to be Speaker of the next House of Representatives, is very much troubled for fear that the wicked democrats will give the republicans trouble when the time comes to organize the House. It is a pretty commentary on the rules governing that body for Burrows to say that with the assistance of one experienced member he could keep the House in a dead lock for the two years of its existence.

P. M. G. Wanamaker is anxious to stop the handling of the mails on Sundays. The business men of the country would be likely to vigorously protest against such a move. The Western Union Telegraph Company would probably pay Wanamaker more than he paid for his position if he could stop all mails on Sundays. It would be worth at least one million dollars per year to that concern.

There is a rumor here that Patrick Egan recently appointed Minister to Chili, had been recalled on account of the revelations in the murder case of Dr. Cronin at Chicago. The rumor is denied at the state department.

Ex-Senator Riddleberger is making himself the laughing stock at Washington by his antics. If he is not sent to an inebriate asylum soon it will be too late.

Col. C. Kelton has been appointed Adjutant General of the army, to succeed General R. C. Drum, recently retired. He has been General Drum's assistant for several years.

Two hours a day is the time given by the members of Harrison's cabinet to seeing the public. Quite exclusive these gentlemen are growing.

Returns from the election of School Superintendents in all the counties of Indiana on Monday last have been received here and Democratic gains are conceded. Two years ago the election resulted in the choice of forty-two Democrats and fifty Republicans. Now the Democrats have secured forty-nine Superintendents, the Republicans forty-two and the Independents one, a net gain of nine for the Democrats and a Republican loss of ten.

The members of the local scientific association were opening an Indian mound in Southeast Missouri. The hired native who was digging had already thrown out several pieces of curious pottery and a number of weapons used in ancient Indian warfare. Oppressed by the heat and the closeness of his quarters he tossed up his empty pocket flask for the purpose of having it refilled. The St. Louis Colonel in the party looked at it in utter bewilderment. "Heavens!" he exclaimed in a hoarse, awestricken whisper, "what a highly civilized race of Injuns them mound builders was!"

Senator Washburn, of Minnesota, is now engaged in denouncing the use of money in elections. Mr. Washburn has probably repented; for it is known that not many months ago he was charged with buying his way to the United States Senate, and it took the biggest whitewash brush in Minnesota, wielded by a Republican Legislature, to make him appear at all decent.

Solon Chase, the great Maine Greenbacker and proprietor of "them steers," was recently asked by a friend why he had not done a certain thing. "I've been thinkin' of it," said Mr. Chase, "but, you see, I've been enjoyin' religion too well; and when a man's enjoyin' religion so well he's apt to forget to do his duty."
