

Daily Democrat

From our regular correspondent.
WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 17th, 1889.

Mr Harrison is falling from grace in an extraordinary rapid manner. He spent yesterday on a Sunday excursion aboard of Wanamakers yacht, the "Restless," in company with Blaine and Windom, and last week he appointed the notorious Robert Smalls, the negro ex-Congressman from South Carolina, to be collector of customs at Beaufort, South Carolina. Two very disreputable things to happen in one week.

Mat Quay and Postmaster General Wanamaker have arrived at an agreement about the Philadelphia federal offices and the appointments are expected daily. The basis of the compromise is understood to be that Mr Field, to whom Wanamaker tendered the postmastership when he first entered the cabinet, shall have that position and that Quay be allowed to name the surveyor of the port and the collector of customs.

The Samoum commission which has been sitting at Berlin has reached an agreement and adjourned. Nothing is known with any certainty as to what has been done. Blaine says he is entirely satisfied, but of course he would say that, and besides his being satisfied does not signify that the country will be in the same condition when it knows what has been done.

Corporal Tanner is inclined to be personally thrifty with all of his recklessness in wasting the people's money. He has just appointed his daughter, a girl just out of school, to be his confidential clerk at a salary of $1800 a year. Quite a snug salary to step into right out of school. Miss Tanner's father is a very prudent man. He proposes to "make hay while the sun shines," for he knows there are breakers and storms ahead.

The Civil Service commission is proving to be a thorn in the side of the administration, notwithstanding its two republican members. It seems to be starting out with the determination to have the law enforced impartially. Before leaving for the West the commissioner called Harrison's attention to the fact under the law all appointments made in the Census Bureau should be taken from its list of eligibles. This question was brought up just before Messrs Thompson and Roosevelt were appointed members of the Commission, and the republicans indulged in the hope that it had been finally shelved, but the commissioners intended to compel Mr Harrison to say yes or no as to these Census bureau appointments. It is believed that he will decide against the Civil Service commission.

The U S S Kearsarge has been ordered to Haiti, but it seems impossible to learn the why or wherefore except that it is the result of a conference between Secretaries Blaine and Tracy held over a cablegram from Commander Kellogg who was recently ordered to make an investigation and report thereon. Many people argue that it must be something very serious that sends a vessel to Haiti this sickly season of the year.

The election of Mr Calvin S. Brice to be chairman of the National democratic committee is very well received here. By his conduct of the last campaign he fairly won the honor, and it is not begrudged him by those who if personal preference alone had been consulted would rather have seen Senator Gorman at the helm.

Mr Harrison was greatly outdone when it was learned that "Billy" Chandler would again represent New Hampshire in the United States Senate. And small wonder, for it was a very sharp slap on the face for President Harrison, as it was an open secret that the administration was supporting Dr Gallinger, Chandler's principal opponent. Score one more vote for the anti-administration republican senators whenever the fight begins.

The Minnesota senators—Washburn and Davis, are engaged in open war over the federal appointments in that state. Washburn is thought to have a little the best of it so far.

Ex-Representative Horr, of Michigan, the funny man, wanted to be consul at Montreal, but he has been "turned down" very abruptly. He says that President Harrison promised him another consulship.

Land Commissioner Stockslager, whose resignation takes place on the 30th inst, took leave of the employes of his office today. They were sorry to see him go as he has made a very popular official.

Somebody asked Sam Randall who would be the next democratic nominee for the presidency, and his answer should be taken to heart by those impatient gentlemen that are trying to precipitate the next campaign. He said: "Two years from now will be early enough to begin considering that question, to say nothing of intelligently answering it."

The opinion is gaining ground here that Harrison fears to call an extra session of Congress. The republican majority is so slim that he prefers waiting for the hoped for reinforcements from the new states.

The fruit growers of California, finding that peach stones make an excellent fuel, are now selling them at the rate of $6 a ton. A sack of stones will weigh about 80 pounds, and is said to last as long as an equal number of pounds of coal and give an even greater heat.

Recent experiments to ascertain within what limits the ear can distinguish the difference in the pitch of two sounds show that the smallest difference perceptible by untrained or only slightly trained ears appears to be from one-sixth to one-fortieth of a semitone. It is said that a peculiarity that seems to apply alike to trained and untrained ears is that they detect upward differences more easily than downward.

A California philosopher evolves the theory that the many divorces in that State are due to the coldness of the climate and the high price of coal. In the evening, he says, it is so chilly that the husband and wife can't sit down comfortably as they do in the East, and with coal at $15 a ton they can't afford to use it. So the husband gets into the habit of going out for a walk in order to keep warm, and the wife often gets into the same habit. Divorces soon follow.

Soapsuds are better than water for washing purposes, because the soap forms a chemical combination with the greasy matters present, and renders them soluble in water. Without this help the water could not dissolve them. Hard water is wasteful of soap, because it contains lime salts, which form an insoluble compound with the soap, thus rendering a part of it useless.

Gladstone says there is now the greatest aggregation of wealth in the hands of the few since the days of Julius Caesar, and, therefore, on the other hand, the greatest poverty and want known to the civilized world for nearly two thousand years. Just in proportion as the wealth of the world aggregates in the hands of the few, the common people become poor and dependent.

The sugar trust continues to advance the price of sugar in a way that indicates that it has accepted Mr Blaine's view—that trusts are private affairs with which the public have no concern. The sugar trusts seem to have no concern for the public either, except to make it stant and deliver.
