

Daily Democrat

The prize singleton of the season is the young man who goes away for his health and spends the time smoking cigarettes.

Tell a woman that she looks fresh and she will smile all over. Tell a man the same thing, and if he doesn't kick you it is either because he has corns or darsen't.

According to a republican exchange Wanamaker takes great interest in the affairs of his department. Certainly an office that costs a man four hundred thousand dollars naturally excites his interest.

Another woolen mill has failed, this time in Connecticut. Thus the beauties of a home market and a wool tariff receive another striking illustration in this off year in politics, which appears also to be an off year with some of the infant industries.

Russell Harrison's latest business venture is the erection of a new hot swimming bath at Helena, Mon. The bath is to be 120 feet square, and the water as it flows into the bath from the springs will drop a distance of forty-two feet in a cascade. Mr Harrison has recently returned to New York from a trip to Helena. He will sail in a few days for Europe.

The friends of Corporal Tanner are engaged in a desperate attempt to prove that his predecessor, Gen. Black, is responsible for the exhaustion of the pension funds because his estimate for the appropriation was too low. In the same way it may be argued that the father of a bankrupt spendthrift is responsible for his poverty because he did not leave him more money to waste.

The removal of Mr T B Fowler from the postmastership at Augusta, Me., in order to make a place for Mr Blaine's friend, "Joe" Manley, it is safe to say is not in the line of the President's professions with respect to the conduct of the civil service. Mr Fowler's term has not expired and he has expressed no desire to resign. The principle involved is that the country shall reward Mr Manley for his affection for Mr Blaine.

The Philadelphia American, an earnest, but candid republican paper, says: "The partisanship and proscription shown under President Harrison so far in the Post Office Department is twice as great as Mr Cleveland showed, with even the offensive and narrow Vilas at the head of the department. Scandals will multiply, of course, under such a system." By the way might it not be very truthfully and appropriately said that it has been a long time since there were two more narrow and shallow men in the cabinet than Wanamaker and Tanner.

The superintendent of the next census, R P Porter, calls the attention of farmers throughout the country to the importance of having the returns in relation to farm products and live stock in the forthcoming census as complete as possible. The census year began June 1 and will end May 31, 1890. The enumerators will visit the farmers during the month of June, next year, and if they would keep an accurate account of their farm products during the intervening period, it would aid greatly in securing trustworthy returns. It would also be an incidental benefit to the farmers themselves to keep such a record, not only this year but every year.

It is soberly related that a youthful married couple whose house has recently been glorified by the addition of a facsimile of the beautiful little mother decided to have the christening service at home. A venerable minister was called to officiate. He took the babe in his arms very affectionately and addressed a few words of advice to the young parents. "See that you train up this child in the way that he should go; that you surround him with the best influences, and that you give him a good example. If you do so, who knows but he may become a John Wesley or a George Whitefield? What is his name?" "Nellie, sir," replied the mother.

According to the official report of the Treasurer of the United States, the gold coin in the Treasury the 31st of May aggregated $236,052,511.90 coupled with bullion to the value of $85,241,565.06, making a total of $321,294,076.96 gold coin and bullion, offset by outstanding gold certificates, to the value of $129,044,662. At the same time, there were 275,484,223 standard dollars in the Treasury offset by outstanding silver certificates to the value of $255,537,810, leaving 19,944,413 standard dollars owned by the Government out of the 330,238,340 that had been coined up to that date, and leaving in circulation $54,754,325, as well as silver certificates to the amount of $255,537,810, constituting so important a part of the paper currency of the people. In other words, no less than $310,292,135, or about 93 1/2 per cent of the whole amount of our standard dollar coinage is being utilized as the most active part of the currency, namely, that which is used in the daily retail business of the country, a fact either ignored or stupidly overlooked by those financial writers of the secular press who continue to prate of the impendency of financial dangers from a redundant silver coinage, so little of which goes into the public Treasury through the doors of the custom houses.

Mr Joseph Manley, a right hand man of Mr Blaine, has been provided with the Augusta (Me.) Post Office, and Mr Blaine's nephew is to be Mr Manley's first assistant. There is not much of that repeatedly promised civil service reform about this, but there is in it a beautiful example of how thoroughly an ancient friendship can be maintained between two men like Blaine and Manley.

While Corporal Tanner is making the Treasury suffer he does not forget his own household. He draws a salary of $5,000 and a pension of $864 a year. His daughter, who acts as his private secretary, receives $1,800, and a younger daughter has a clerkship which pays her $720 a year. The Corporal also has a son who receives a snug salary as a Government employee.

Vegetables and meats are sealed up in airtight vessels to preserve them, so that the bacteria or minute organisms which are always present in the air, and which would cause them to putrefy and decay, are thus excluded. The jars are heated before they are finally sealed, so as to destroy any bacteria that may already be present in the food.
