

THE DAILY DEMOCRAT.

From our regular correspondent,
WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19, 1890.
Vice-President Morton's sudden trip to Florida has been fully explained to your correspondent by a prominent republican who is not an admirer of the boodle campaign which Mr. Morton has entered upon to capture the republican nomination in '92. "Morton's object," said this gentleman, "in going to Florida at this time is to hold a private consultation with Senator Quay, who is also down there, and to ascertain whether his support can be purchased. He is prepared to pay a big price, and I am afraid he will succeed for Quay has always had a weakness for money, particularly when in large sums, and no man knows the value of money in a political campaign better than he."

There is an old fashioned game called "the devil among the tailors" that reminds one of Frank Hatton and the Civil Service commission. As soon as the testimony in the Congressional investigation, which has been anything else but favorable to the present brand of Civil Service reform, was all in, Hatton threw another dynamite bomb into the reform camp by charging that certain letters written by one W. D. Foulke and printed in the New York Times and the St. Louis Republic which charged Mr. Harrison and his Cabinet with having entered into a conspiracy to break down the system of civil service reform, were inspired by two of the Civil Service Commissioners. The two Commissioners deny the charge. Of course that was to be expected; it was either deny or hand in their resignations. But Hatton will not let the thing stop here, if he can convince Mr. Harrison of the truthfulness of his charge somebody will hear something drop before long.

The democratic members of the House are fretting no little because they lost a seat in the House last week that might just as well have been kept. The trouble is, that certain democratic members of the House refuse to sacrifice either their pleasure or their private business to occupy their seats and attend to the duties that they were elected to perform. There are several of these men who have not voted in the House three times this entire session. In this particular case several republicans, disgusted with the report of the majority of the Election Committee, intimated to democrats that while they would not vote against the contestant they would make it a point to absent themselves without pairing when the time came to take the final vote so as to make it certain that the democrats could defeat the contestant. These gentlemen kept their words, and yet the contestant was seated by a beggarly majority of two votes, all because the chronic absentees of the democratic side were not on hand to vote.

The House committee on Pensions seems to have gone left. A majority of that committee has practically agreed to report bills that would, if they became laws, require nearly $700,000,000 to pay the pensions. These reports are only bunkum, no sane man has any idea that more than one of the bills—the dependent—will be passed, and that is by no means certain, as the rapidly lessening Treasury surplus has already caused the republican leaders to notify the chairman of committees to curtail their appropriations if they expected the bills to get through.

The House will probably take up the bills admitting Wyoming and Idaho this week. The democrats will antagonize the bills with an omnibus bill prepared by Mr. Springer providing for the admission of Wyoming, Idaho, New Mexico and Arizona.

It is impossible to get a republican member of the House Ways and Means committee to say a word about the new tariff bill, and when it will be reported, if it ever is, nobody is willing to even guess.

Out of the four contested elections cases decided by the House only one democrat has been allowed to retain his seat.

Between 1871 and 1889 more than 3,500,000 citizens of Canada left that country for the United States. This exodus has been going on with increasing ratio ever since the reciprocity treaty came to an end in 1864. The efforts of Canadians to recruit their population from England and other European countries have been unsuccessful. Lower passenger rates have been offered to Canadian ports, but this has only brought the immigrants to the United States by way of Quebec and Montreal, instead of by Castle Garden and Boston.

Cinnamon is the bark of a tree, and is grown most largely in Java and Ceylon. Only the young branches are stripped for the cinnamon bark, but very small branches are not peeled. The bark is removed in strips and scraped on both sides, and after wards dried, when it is ready for commerce.

In Germany women physicians, however well qualified, have no legal standing, and are forbidden to sign a prescription. No matter what their attainments, they are only regarded as dabbles (Kurfischer). Thoughtful German women, however, are beginning to put in a plea for women doctors.

If it were possible to rise above the atmosphere which surrounds the earth, we should see nothing but an intense and sharply defined ball of fire, while everything else would be wrapped in total darkness. There could be no difference of light without an atmosphere or some similar medium for it to act upon, but if the air around us extended to a height of 700 miles, the rays of the sun could not penetrate it, and we should be left in darkness. At the depth of 700 feet in the ocean the light ceases altogether, one-half of the light being absorbed in passing through seven feet of the purest water.

At average speed a man walks three miles an hour, or four feet per second; a horse trots seven miles an hour, or ten feet per second; a steamboat moves eighteen miles per hour, twenty six feet per second; a moderate wind blows seven miles per hour, ten feet per second; a storm moves thirty-six miles per hour, fifty-two feet per second; sound travels 713 miles per hour, 1143 feet per second; light moves 192,000 miles per second, and electricity 288,000 miles per second.

When the flower of the chickweed expands boldly and fully, no rain will happen for four hours or upwards. If it continues in that open state no rain will disturb the Summer's day. If it partly conceals its flower, the day is showery; if wholly, a stormy day.

It is stated that the long prevailing drought in Cuba will not only diminish the sugar crop, but cause such a deterioration in quality as to seriously interfere with the manufacture.

SEATTLE'S

Mighty growth the past ten years into one of the world's greatest cities is without a parallel. No pen can now portray her resources or the continued prosperity that the year of the future will pour into her.

World Renowned Harbors

And her SCENIC shore lines on Lakes and Sound! Never has the Hand of NATURE been so lavish in her gifts to make the World's Last Great City.

Rome, on her seven hills, was as nothing to SEATTLE'S SNOW CROWNED OLYMPICS on the North and West; CASCADES on the East and South, and from these mighty bulwarks of health, energy, inspiration-giving, there arises the MIGHTY MOUNT RAINIER, a w-a-y above every competitor on the Pacific, reminding one of

SEATTLE, THE QUEEN CITY,

At the base, which, in another score of years, will pass in POPULATION every city on the Pacific—the World's biggest ocean.

The Wassom Addition TO SEATTLE

JUST PUT ON THE MARKET.

LOTS $200 EACH AND UPWARDS, TAKEN OFF IN THIRTY DAYS.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

Every lot in full view of Mount Rainier and Lake Washington; on railroad; at depot; adjoining Ravenna Park; an electric railway as soon as can be completed to it; half dozen fine residences already under contract on Addition; $25,000 Female College to be opened September, 1890.

WITHOUT DOUBT

THE WASSOM ADDITION

Is the Place where men and women of MONEY and SENSE and REFINEMENT will make their homes—and why?

BECAUSE

The College, the Mineral Springs, Ravenna Park, the view of Mount Rainier [which is grander here than anywhere else on Puget Sound], if for no other reason, would make it most desirable.

In Seattle a mighty city is building. Take hold of the best while you have a chance at Lowest Prices.

TO THE PIONEER, a word:

Why did you cross the plains? Why did you take your life and that of others in your hands and come to the Coast? What pen can write the history? You have conquered this land made the growth of great cities imperative and the amassing of colossal fortunes, almost in a day, possible. Now, by the investment of a few thousand, or hundred dollars, you may reap the harvest that belongs to you. Will you do it? The greatest corporations, the ablest financiers of Europe and America are investing thousands—nay, millions, in Seattle. Will you not invest? Your chance is NOW. Seize it. I have a 60 acre tract, an 80 and two 40 acre tracts. Only a few left—cheap; ripe for plucking, any one of which will make you fortune in a short time. Buy quick. I can't duplicate them.

Rev. J. R. Kirkpatrick is among you and the Sole Agent for

WASSOM'S ADDITION

In Oregon. Call on him at once.

I will be in Albany in a few days and will remain only a day. I would be glad to meet you personally and urge you to join us in the material upbuilding of Seattle, the Queen City of the Pacific. When in Seattle, be in and call at Room 348 Seattle Block, where I will take genuine pleasure in showing you the city.
