HOW THOMPSON PROCURED HIS NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR OF THE STATE.

It is well known in this State that D P Thompson's fight for the gubernatorial nomination was made in the City of Portland, and that James Lotan was his agent or "Boss" in carrying the primary elections in that city.

On the 7th of April last, after the result of the Republican primaries was known the "Daily Oregonian" said:

"The result of the primaries held Saturday is regarded by the defeated faction as showing a very ominous state of affairs. Thus in South Portland, precinct No 3, where charges of ballot box stuffing were claimed, there were 852 votes cast, against a total vote, democratic and republican, of two years ago, of 650. So also in North Portland, No 1, carried by the Lotanites, there were 780 votes cast at the primaries, where two years ago the total vote of both parties was only 531. Other similar discrepancies occur in North Portland, No 6, where 387 now are contrasted against 279, and in North Portland, No 3, where the combined vote, two years ago was 675, this time at the primaries 988. The precincts carried by Simon do not show up in any such shape. South Portland, No 2 polled combined two years ago 816, Saturday 515 republican votes, North Portland No 2, shows now 570 against a former record of 545."

"More money was used in the primaries than has ever been used in a primary election in Oregon before."

"Of course no one will ever know exactly how much was spent, and random estimates are so susceptible to exaggeration."

"While there is doubt as to the exact sum spent, there is no doubt that money was used openly and shamelessly. Both sides were in glass houses and there was no stone throwing. Neither dared go into the contest without money, and each relied upon its ability to out-work, out-count, and last, but not least, out-buy the other. Men walked like sheep to the polls, deposited their ballots and turned and received the paltry price of their votes from henchmen who stood within a yard of the polling booth."

"The price for votes in the early stages of the primaries was $2.50. In the last hour or two, when both sides felt confident, only $1.00 was paid at some places."

None of these statements have been denied by Thompson and they may be taken as true.

By the use of money Thompson was able to vote 852 men where there were but 650 voters in the precinct two years ago, counting both democratic and republicans.

In North Portland, Thompson's faction of the Republican party polled 780 votes while both the political parties could muster but 650 voters at the election two years ago.

The paper says, "The precincts carried by Simon do not show up in any such shape." This makes it very clear that Thompson bought his nomination and the "Daily Oregonian" is the undisputed witness.

If this method of procuring a nomination is winked at and allowed to pass unrebuked, the election will next be carried by the "open and shameless use of money" and the state will become the property of the rich Portland men as they take turns buying it.

In nearly every republican paper of the state we find statements like the following: "D P Thompson will not make any public speeches in this campaign. He will make a canvass of the state however and talk business to the voters."

Yes, in deed, "talk business." He intends to "talk business" to the voters of this state in the same manner and on the same line of policy that he and Jim Lotan "talked business" to the voters of Portland before the primaries. Everybody knows how these two worthies carried the primaries in Portland. The Oregonian told all about it at the time. Bribery, repeating, stuffing ballot boxes and cheating, were the means used by dollar-mark Thompson and his man Friday to carry the primaries, and they are relying implicitly on the surplus in Thompson's eighteen banks as a means to corrupt the voters of this state and buy the office of governor. Their agents are now selected in nearly every part of the state and are making preparations to do their nefarious work. We warn voters who love the fair fame of this young commonwealth to arouse to a sense of the danger of this disgrace to the state. It is not a question of politics, it is whether Oregon is to become a pocket borough for Thompson.

Albany has three restaurants, all being well patronized. This fact speaks loudly of the transient residence in the city. It is larger than ever before.
