GOING THE ROUNDS.—No one expects to buy a postage stamp on credit. If he has not the money to pay for one he cannot mail a letter. No one expects to buy a railroad ticket on credit. If he has no money to pay his fare in advance he must remain at home. The like is true in regard to riding in street cars. Tickets to places of amusement are not sold on time but are spot cash. No trouble occurs on account of these arrangements, and none would occur if every retail store conducted business like a postoffice, railroad or theater.
