BUSINESS CHANGES.—A DEMOCRAT man, on entering the C H block, to-day learned that several important business changes had occurred. Mr E. H. Montague, who has been issuing marriage licenses, etc., for two years, has disposed of his interest in the business to Mr N P Payne, who begins business with a large constituency of friends. Mr Montague has not yet decided on a future vocation. Mr John Smallman has retired from the business of serving summings, etc., and Mr Matt Scott is now at the helm by a large majority. Mr D S Smith, a popular young man, with a long experience, will continue to help conduct the business. Mr L M Carl is now preparing to go to Portland to study short hand, but the superintendent's business will continue to be in good hands. Prof G F Russell taking his seat like a veteran. Mr H Farwell, after faithfully taking care of the county funds for a couple of years, has given place to Mr W E Carl, an experienced man in the business. Mr E E Davis has concluded not to dispose of his recording business for a couple of years, and will always be found at his post, one of the best heard and most accommodating men this side of St Petersburg.

WON AGAIN.—Sometime ago, when the mining case of Amos Strong, M V Blyen, et al vs E O Smith, was pending before his Hon Geo Humphrey, the defendant, Smith, filed a motion to transfer the case to Deady's court. Judge Humphrey overruled the motion on the ground that a general demurrer in the case having been argued and submitted. This was taken before Judge Deady, and the matter argued before Deady's court, last week. Judge Humphrey was sustained, and the case dismissed as far as Deady's court was concerned. This is a fine, large, brilliant feather in Judge Humphrey's cap. He thinks it was the most "judicious" opinion he ever delivered.

A FINE CHURCH.—A DEMOCRAT man hearing of the fine appearance of the A Pearce Memorial church, at the corner of Ellsworth and Fourth streets, visited the same, and was surprised at the beauty of the interior. Many pronounce it the handsomest in the state, south of Portland. Not only is the design a good one, but the decorations are unsurpassed, displaying fine artistic taste, not only in the selection of the paper but in the hand work, conferring great credit on Miller & Hart, who did the work. The seats are not yet in, but will soon be placed. Those desiring to see an elegant church interior should visit this one.

HOGS.—The Portland Mercury says, to tell the plain, solid truth, that the celebration in that city was no good. The only creditable thing was the fireworks, and they were given from larges. The Committee, and a few aristocratic friends, hired the T J Potter, out of the general funds, got in front of the fireworks, and had the exhibition all to themselves—the hogs. Another old hog, in Portland, is Harvey Scott, who doesn't want the members of the State Press Association to be entertained. Harvey thinks he is the only editor in Oregon.

TRAMPS.—Mr Palmer, residing near the M E church south, returned Saturday evening from Portland, with his thirteen year old son, who had run away with a tramp. He found him in East Portland with the tramp, and had the latter arrested for abduction. The boy, a few months ago, run away with several other boys, on a tramp expedition, but returned. There are other Albany boys ambitious to be tramps, and of all ideas that ought to be knocked highest out of their minds. Tramps are the human rot of creation.

JEFFERSON.—D H Looney has returned from the east, bringing with him twenty-one head of fine Jersey calves. He paid as high as $225 a head for some of them. G F Long, living near Shelburn, left at our office two turnips that are somewhat large. They measured 45 inches in circumference. How is that for turnips, on the first of July?—Review.

BRING IN SPECIMENS.—Mr J H Townsend, commissioner for Linn Co. for the N W Industrial association to be held at Spokane Falls, desires to secure specimens of the products of this county, of all kinds, to place on exhibition there. As the exhibition will be a big one, our farmers should respond promptly. Samples 1 c. at Townsend & Wilson's will be taken care of.

A CHALLENGE.—The Albany Real Estate Base Ball Club challenge the Legal Fraternity of the city of Albany, for a game of base ball; league rules to govern; stakes to be soda, peanuts, or money. Judge Strahan to be umpire. Signed, MEMBERS OF A. R. E. B. C.

INSTALLATION.—The officers of Safety Lodge, No 13, A O U W, will be installed this evening. Every member is invited to be present.

DIED.—Yank Cole, a son of Harvey Cole, of Millers, died Saturday night, of consumption, after a lingering illness, at the age of about thirty three.

IN MEMORIAM

At a regular session of the Sunday School of the M E Church South, at Albany, Or., the following resolutions were adopted.

Resolved, That his associates have lost a truly faithful friend, the Sunday School a bright, earnest and attentive pupil, whose influence would ever be to lead those of his companions to higher and nobler thoughts, and his parents a loving, dutiful son.

Resolved, That this our great loss is Allen's eternal gain, and as he will be seen no more with us here, that we will all strive to so live that when death shall come to us we may see him in that mansion prepared for the finally faithful at God's right hand.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, a copy sent to the family of the deceased, and copies sent to the Spokesman Democrat and the Herald-Democrat for publication.

In this dark hour of affliction we can only say to the parents that God can sanctify all our afflictions to our soul's eternal good. Let us take comfort in the fact that

There is no death! what seems so is transition, This life of mortal breath Is but a suburb of the life elysian, Whose portals we call death.

COMMITTEE.

IN THE FRONT ROW.—A moss-back settler, may the tribe decrease, awoke one night—awakened by the fleas, and saw, within the moonlight in his slumbers, here showing patches and there a crack, a spirit writing in a book of gold—Great ignorance had made the moss-back bold, and to the presence in the hut he said: "What yer writin' of?" The ghostlet raised his head, and with a voice that filled the room, answered, "The names of those who try their town to boom." "Is my name there?" said Moss-back. "Nay, not so," replied the spectre. Poor Moss-back spoke more low, but still with gall, and said, "I reckon you had better, sonny, set me down as one who saves his money." The critter wrote and sloped. The next night it came again with more moonlight, and showed the names of those as kickers know the best, and lo! Old Moss-back's name led all the rest.—Leigh Hunt.

MISCELLANEOUS

Of all foolishness getting married professionally for 4th of July and other celebrations is the greatest.

One of the Wayback teams will probably be from Albany, and if it doesn't make a hobble, gets the nozzle on and runs fast enough will probably win.

Col Parker informs us that a reporter of the Statesman, in crossing the plain from Milton to Walla Walla, the other day, saw a complete mirage of The Dalles, and could even discern the Unmilla House, and the spires and towers of the churches and school houses.—The Dalles T. M.

ASTORIA MUST send a hose team to the coming tournament to carry away the prizes, smash the records and uphold the city's reputation of having the best team in the world. After carrying away the championship last year and breaking the world's records, Astoria should not sustain defeat at the hands of the ebullient team from Wayback.—Columbian.

The New York World, of Sunday, June 25th, had a big expose of police corruption. A reporter for two weeks conducted poker rooms under police protection. The story of his career in this deplorable occupation tells how he bribed policemen and detectives, and gives their names, and the amount of money paid them.

One day last week, says the Astoria Chronicle, a little girl, belonging to a poor family living in Spokane Falls was struck by lightning while helping to do up the family washing, and blinded and otherwise disfigured for life. There also lives in the same town a man who bent his wife and abused his children until the authorities were compelled to take cognizance of his actions. We have this to say. The kind that fired that lightning was a mighty poor marksman.

Ben Hagen related a good joke on himself to a number of Penitentiary friends last evening, which happened during his stay at the metropolis. There was a fire in East Portland, and Ben, in his hurry to "see the fire," jumped over the iron fence at the entrance of the Morrison street bridge, and started across without paying the customary nickel, shaking loose the toll-keeper, who grabbed him by the coat tails. A policeman followed hot in his wake and finally captured him. Ben would soon have had a chance to examine the interior of the Portland jail had not he and the "cop" belonged to the same secret order. As it was, he contributed the nickel, and was allowed to depart in peace.—Pendleton E O.

AN ELECTRIC ACCIDENT.—Salem is now fashionable. It has had a regular eastern electric wire accident. The Statesman says:

Yesterday forenoon, about 11:30 o'clock, John Redmond, a workman for Geo D Goodhue, was driving along Court street, and just as he crossed over the track of the electric railway his team fell to the ground and appeared to be in great distress. Mr Redmond, in an instant, saw that they had run into a wire charged with electricity, and hastened to apply some remedy for their release. About 15 after the wire was pulled away from the dumb brutes they managed to get up, but acted dazed for thirty minutes, and were finally able to be driven away.

A small wire for a private telephone had been stretched, for a long time, over the southeast corner of the opera house and across to and over the residence of Dr L L Rowland, but yesterday forenoon it broke and fell to the ground, striking the wire of the electric railway, where it hung, in noontime and almost invisible, waiting for a victim.

MRS. C. D. STUART. Mrs. C. D. Stuart, of 400 Hayes St., writes, "I have for years had spells of indigestion and dyspepsia, and tried nearly everything. Finally I took a well known Sarsaparilla. It caused pimples to break out on my face without helping me. Hearing that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla did not contain mineral, and might act differently, I sent for it. The pimples disappeared immediately, and I had no more returns of the old spells." Although the above was written a year ago, Mrs. Stuart now attests the permanency of its effects. Says she takes an occasional dose to suppress a symptom of return and that she has perfect command over her old trouble.
