THE PROFIT OF BEING DOUBTFUL.

Some striking evidence of the way in which the pension bounty of the government has been prostituted for political purposes was brought out by Senator Vest during the debate on the disability bill. Massachusetts, for example, furnished 157,785 soldiers and Indiana only 165,147; but only 20,272 of the Massachusetts men are on the pension rolls, while 42,553, or more than twice as many. Indiana vetexans are pensioners. It is ridiculous to suppose the Massachusetts men were exposed to less dancers in battle or suffered less from would and server would be the removed from the track, ers in battle or suffered less from wounds and ers in battle or suffered less from wounds and disease than the Indiana men. How is it, then, that while nearly as many soldiers went from Massachuvetta as from Indiana, less than half as many of them draw pensions? Illinois y twice as many men as Indiana, and has only about 4,000 more pensioners. The reason of all this is that Indiana is a doubtful store positically, and the pension office has been used to make votes.

It is noticable that when the repullican leaders want to pass anything through congress which they know will not go trrough on its merits, and which they know will have to go through under the "gag-rule" of autocrat Reed, they first begin to accuse the democrats of being obstructionists. They are now set ding out the report all over the country saying that the democrats are going to use all parlia-mentary rules in their power to defeat all legislation now before congress. These reports are sent out to poison the average republican mind against democrats in order to prepare republicans for what these leaders intend to do them selves. It is a scheme much used but the people are becoming acquainted with it and it to long r arouses them.
