

THE DAILY DEMOCRAT.

(From our regular correspondent.)
WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 14, 1890.

Senator Gorman has by general consent, been put in charge of democratic interests in the fight which it is now evident will soon be engaged in upon the floor of the senate. It will be a consolation to democrats throughout the country to know that under his skillful leadership everything will be done which is possible to be done to prevent the consummation of the republican threat of throttling the minority in the senate, as Speaker Reed has already so effectually done in the House.

The republican senators who have been opposed to the new Force bill, otherwise known as the federal election bill, are slowly yielding to the pressure which has been brought to bear upon them. Even Senator Everts, it is said, has, under compulsion, promised the new republican boss—Representative Belden—that he would vote for the bill. It is regarded by the republicans as a last desperate chance to gain enough congressmen in the south to offset the losses which they are certain to have in other sections. In fact Mr Belden openly uses this as an argument to convert republican opponents of the measure.

Many of the more decent republicans are disgusted with Mr Belden's attempt to manufacture sentiment in favor of the Force bill, by sending that remarkable appeal to the republican editors to come to the rescue of the g. o. p.

Much indignation is expressed here over a rumor which has leaked out through British sources to the effect that Mr Blaine has completely backed down in the Behring Sea negotiations, and that Great Britain is to have everything her own way. Should it turn out to be true, goodbye to Mr Blaine as a public man. The American people forgive every thing except cowardice.

The two subsidy shipping bills, about which, for certain reasons and promises, Harrison has been fretting a great deal, have passed the senate. Even such hide-bound republicans as Senators Edmunds and Plumb could not stand this bill, which will take millions—just how many no one can say—out of the treasury, all of which will go to a certain well known ring already formed in anticipation of the feast at public expense which awaits them when the bills become laws. Only one democrat—Senator Payne—voted for these bills. Thanks to the solid republican vote of the senate and of the House, it now only requires the signature of Mr Harrison to complete the degradation of silver and put it on the same footing as coal and iron or any other commercial commodity. Senator Sherman, the man who is responsible for demonetizing silver in 1873, is also responsible for this latest fraud upon the people, under the guise of friendship. Mr Sherman is, and has always been the humble tool of Wall Street, and the provisions of this bill, with which he so adroitly bamboozled his colleagues of the conference committee, are in the interest of those money sharks. No democrat stultified himself by supporting it.

Speaker Reed is as mad as a hornet over an article signed "X. M. C." which appears in the "North American Review," showing the mistakes which he (Reed) has made since he became Speaker. What adds to his anger is the fact that the article is generally understood to have come from Mr Blaine, who is madly jealous of the prominence the Speaker has recently gained, although "Gall Hamilton" is the writer of it.

The tariff bill is now the "unfinished business" of the senate, the majority having repented of the "cussedness" which made them refuse to take it up last Monday. How fast it will be pushed through will depend largely upon the action of the republican caucus.

It has been the boast of Speaker Reed that the House was no longer a deliberative body, and now that the senate seems about to adopt the gag rules of the House, the question naturally arises, why not abolish congress, and let those immaculate saints who now run the republican party decide upon what shall become laws? There is one consolation however. The further the republicans go in their encroachments upon liberty, the more certain it is that the people will rise in their might and thrust them from the power which they have so gloriously misused.

Gen. Schofield will soon be Lieut. General of the army, unless the republican bosses shall decide that the bill reviving that grade in the army, which has been favorably reported from the House committee on military affairs, shall not be passed because the officer to be promoted under it is not a republican.

Already there is a scheme on foot to secure a repeal of the law by which the governor appoints a superintendent of the penitentiary, and to provide for his election by the legislature. The circumstances seem to be these: The republicans want the office of superintendent (now held by a democrat,) and they want it badly. The legislature is republican, the governor is a democrat. The legislature would elect a republican if it had the power of election. It is a very small business to indulge in—this stripping the governor of the power to appoint a superintendent, but the business is as large as the capacity of a large number of men who will hold seats in the next legislature.
