

From our regular correspondents.) WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18, 1890.

Will Mr Harrison dare to jump into the breach in his party in the senate? He has been asked, eye begged, by Senator Hoar, who recently expressed himself as preferring to see every manufactory in New England in ashes and the mechanics reduced to 50 cents a day and a diet of cod fish than to see the failure of the Force bill, and his associates to come to the rescue. Mr Harrison favors the election bill, and ever since his election he has bitterly hated Senator Quay on account of the part, not to say manner with which he treated his highness; therefore if he did as he would like to he would throw the weight of his influence, which isn't very heavy after all, against Mr Quay; but he hesitates, because he fears that Mr Quay may succeed in having his resolution shelving the Force bill and appointing August 20, as the day for taking a vote on the tariff bill, adopted by the senate.

Can Mr Quay get his resolutions passed? To what extent will the democrats support it? It now looks as if the first question might be answered in the affirmative, and that the democrats in a body will support the Quay resolution; not because they endorse it but because they recognize in it a weapon to which more than half of the republican party over the head. The democrats would much prefer continuing the debate on the tariff bill for that debate is making hundreds of democratic voters every day, but if Quay should be defeated he and his followers would probably be willing to vote with the rest of the republicans to adopt a "gag" rule and pass both the tariff and election bills. Senator Vest says the tariff bill is worse than the election bill.

Prominent republicans openly admit that the fight which is now going on in the senate has already practically settled the congressional election in favor of the democrats. The openness with which Mr Quay is acting for the special interests of a single clique of moneyed men so disgusted some of the republicans that they announced their intention to defeat certain clauses of the tariff bill. As quick as the telegraph could notify these men, and special trains could bring them, a delegation was before the senate finance committee demanding, not politely asking, what these rumors meant. The republican members of that committee humbly informed them that their interests should be taken care of as had been promised them when they made their campaign contributions, and these robbers of the tolling millions returned whence they came.

Representative Baker, of New York who enjoys the notoriety of being the only man who ever had a resolution returned to him by a vote of the house, because of his bad taste, made an ass of himself again by offering a resolution reflecting upon Mr Mills because of his making tariff reform speeches. It was too much even for Speaker Reed, and he certainly isn't over squeamish about such things. Mr Baker was asked to withdraw the resolution but he refused, insisting upon having it printed in the Record. The speaker then quietly ignored Mr Baker and the house proceeded to business and he did not get his resolution printed.

Public opinion is a great lever. Secretary Winchom has decided that the prices paid by the government for silver bullion shall be made public. They never should have been hid.

The republicans don't do much talking these days about a congressional re-appointment this year. Cause why; the census shows that the south will gain instead of lose congressmen. For a few weeks past Superintendent Porter has worked his force night and day to get the count completed in order that the re-appointment might be made; but the result has not been just what was anticipated, and no re-appointment will be made. The population of the country is in round numbers 64,000,000.

Recognizing the fact the congressional campaign this year was to be run on "gag" and "boodle" Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson, who has an unlimited supply of the republican congressional campaign committee. The "boodle" will be furnished by the usual crowd.

The anti-lottery bill was passed by the house Saturday afternoon by a unanimous vote.

After numerous scares the river and harbor bill went through the senate Saturday.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

Hard wood should simply be wiped off with a soft cloth or sponge wrung from clear, warm water and dried at once.

Wash ink stains from carpets with milk, and afterwards with hot water, when fresh. Old ink stains must first be wetted, then rubbed with bits of lemon and washed quickly.

Brighten your silver by boiling it up in soapy water for a few hours, cover with whitening moistened with some spirits, dry in the oven, and rub off and polish with chamois.

The way to wipe the walls of a room is to cover a broom with a piece of cheese cloth, and beginning at the ceiling draw the broom down in lines, changing the cloth as it becomes soiled.

Keep celery fresh by filling it in brown paper sprinkled with water, then in a damp cloth, and put it in a cool, dark place. Before preparing it for the table submerge it in cold water and let it stand for an hour. It will be found very crisp.

How many women know how to prepare a perfectly fresh egg so that an afflicted stomach can eat it? Pour boiling water over the egg in its shell, let it stand on the tank in the water for five minutes. The egg will be nearly as smooth as custard, and is somewhat easily digested as a raw one, while its flavor is something delicious.

To brighten gilt picture frames take sufficient flour of sulphur to give a golden tinge to about a pint and a half of water, and in this boil four or five linnseed cakes, or galls, which will answer the same purpose. Strain off this liquid, and with it, when cold, wash with a soft brush any gilding which requires renewing and when dry it will come out bright anew.

In washing very fine muslins, they should be soaked in tepid water in which borax has been dissolved, one tablespoonful of borax to a gallon of water being sufficient. After half an hour they can be rubbed gently in soapsuds made of fine white cast soap, and boiling water then poured over them and left to cool. They should be well rinsed and squeezed rather than wrung out.
