THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

Marriage being a lottery the M. A. T. bears the question asked whether it will be illegal to send a proposal through John Wannamaker's mail.

Once in a while a ray of sunshine, the M. A. T. observes, flits across the life of even an editor that makes his task for a moment a pleasant one. The Eugene Journal man has recently had such an experience. Hear him crow: We have received the following invitation to attend the wedding of his daughter from our esteemed friend and former associate and fellow clerk of the U. S. Senate, Robert G. Blaine, brother of Secretary of State, James G. Blaine. We would have gladly been present but regret having been prevented by circumstances and the abolishment of the free pass system.

This is a queer world. Let some man be eating thistles and he will imagine everybody else living on thistles. He becomes a one-sided pessimist. He sees evil in every movement. If he runs against a rotten board in a sidewalk every sidewalk in the city is rotten, and so he continually makes himself miserable. One such fellow is the blind pessimist who has been doing the valley, in the interest of the Reform Journal of Portland, for whom the M. A. T. has great pity. In response to his statement that there was a red flag in front of nearly every store in Eugene, and that laboring men could get nothing to do, the Guard says: "Only one firm in Eugene is closing out and that not on account of a poor business, as they have done a good business for years. The red flags seen by the editor of the Reform Journal were probably the ones used by the merchants to call delivery wagons. The merchants of Eugene have larger stocks and have done a better business than usual this fall. No cessation of business in Eugene has been experienced and laboring men have not been idle except from their own choice."

PRIMARIES.

The primaries of the two parties were held last evening, resulting in the following nominations for Councilmen: First Ward—Democrats, A. J. Anslin, Republicans, F. M. French.

Second Ward—Democrats, C. G. Burkhardt, Republicans, I. Viereck.

Third Ward—Democrats, John Brush, Republicans, C. E. Hawkins.

The following central committees were nominated: Democrats—C. H. Stewart, 1st ward; T. J. Stites, 2nd ward; J. O. Writsmann, 3rd ward.

Republicans—J. F. Conn, 1st ward; O. H. Irvine, 2nd ward; W. H. Huston, 3rd ward.

The city conventions meet to-night. The Democrats will nominate J. N. Hoffman for Marshal, without any opposition. H. Farwell and Cal Burkhardt are named for Treasurer, on which the principal fight promises to be made this year.

F. L. Kenton, the present incumbent, will be nominated for Treasurer by the Republicans. Who will be run for Marshal is not known, there being no candidates.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Prichard is seriously ill at the home of her brother, Rev. Prichard.

Mr. H. L. Kelso, of Santiam precinct, paid the Democrat a call to-day. Mr. Kelso resides next door to the paint mill.

Licenses to marry have been issued to Chas. Denny and Rose E. Watson, O. R. Bond and Maggie E. Boeseman, W. J. Davis and Jennie Shepard.

C. E. Wolverton left this noon for Dallas to attend court. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wolverton, who will visit with friends at Monument.

Anyone who enters the store of L. E. Blain will be struck with the large stock of clothing which he has on hand for the winter trade, and as well with the choice assortment of patterns, the very latest styles being found in his stock. He unquestionably has a fine stock of goods for the purchaser to select from, and when he has made his selection, getting just what he wants. The prices, considering the quality of the goods, are very low. In that respect they talk for themselves. It doesn't take very much money to get a fine business suit of him. One doesn't have to be a millionaire to dress well if a customer of Blain. Mr. Blain has the exclusive agency here for the Albany woolen mill suits, already very popular. His stocks of furnishing goods, boots, shoes, hats and caps, are leading ones in their line. The suits which go from his tailoring department are commented on as being very stylish and splendidly made.

Groceries of all kinds, The freshest vegetables, The best fruits, The nicest canned goods, A splendid lot of pickles, Holiday groceries generally, And everything grand first-class, At Powell & Co's, leading grocers.

The Most Carpets.—Fortmiller & Irving have greatly enlarged their carpet department, and now carry one of the largest and finest stocks of carpets in the valley, embracing a choice variety of the latest designs. This stock is a splendid one to select from, including all grades for all kinds of rooms up to the most elegant parlor. Call on them for bargains in carpets.

KID GLOVES I HANDLE.—Our Own, a genuine kid glove, warranted at $1.50 per pair. The celebrated P. Centimeter at $1.60 per pair. The Mather in button and string fastenings at $1.75 per pair. The genuine Postex book at $2.00 per pair. Also Musketair, Sued and Gaiace finish. SAMUEL E. YOUNG.

WALL PAPER.—I have just received from the east a large invoice of wall paper, borders, decorations, etc., including the plain ingrains which are becoming very popular. These goods are better styles and cheaper than ever before. SAMUEL E. YOUNG.

A SOCIAL.—On next Wednesday evening, Dec. 2nd, the ladies of the M. E. Church will give a social at the handsome residence of Mr. Geo W Hochstedler's. Refreshments, games, and a general good time is expected. Everybody is invited to come and spend a pleasant evening.

ALBANY.

As Given to the World by the "West Shore." This weeks West Shore has a well-gotten up two page illustration of Albany, conferring credit on the journal and artist. The scenes presented are the Oregon Pacific bridge, J. B. McFarland, in a wheat field, Blackman's stone quarry, the Flinn block, St. Charles hotel and Masonic temple, Court House, Central school building, Young, Burkhardt, Oregon Bank, Foshay & Mason and Tweedale blocks, Odd Fellows Temple and Baltimore block. Following are pointers from the general writup of Albany:

Prominent among the interior cities of Oregon is Albany, seat of justice of Linn county, one of the largest and most prosperous counties in the great Willamette valley. On the central pages are given a number of engravings of buildings and scenes in Albany that convey an excellent idea of the city and its characteristics. The business streets of Albany are well built up with two and three story brick blocks, some of them very handsome structures, and all of them occupied by stores carrying large stocks of goods. In fact First street presents a decidedly metropolitan appearance. Three large brick blocks have been erected the present year, also a handsome church, several elegant residences and a large number of other houses and business structures. The city has voted to bond itself for $100,000 for the purpose of paying for a system of sewerage costing $60,000, and for building a wagon and foot bridge across the Willamette at the mouth of the Calipoota, near the west end of the city. The bridge will be a steel structure costing about $100,000. There is already a good bridge across the river, built by the Oregon Pacific railroad.

A line of street cars runs through the chief business streets to the Southern Pacific depot, and there is a project on foot for the construction of an electric motor line through the city and by a circular route reaching all the leading additions. The Oregon Pacific owns a great deal of property in the city, along the river and in the suburbs, and such a line would greatly increase its value. It has a round house there, and has selected this place for the location of machine shops. This road connects Albany with the ocean at Yaquina bay, and has been constructed eastward into the Cascade mountains, leading for Boise City, Idaho. Being where it first touches the Willamette river from either direction, Albany is its most important point and chief shipping station. Steamers on the river run in connection with the railroad. The main line of the Southern Pacific from Portland to San Francisco runs through Albany, and a branch line runs eastward to Lebanon, tapping a fertile agricultural section further to the east. The Union Pacific has a line of boats on the river, running to Portland, so that Albany has three transportation routes competing for business, rendering this the most extensive shipping point in the upper Willamette valley. Immense quantities of grain and considerable flour are shipped. Three large warehouses, belonging to the Union Pacific, Oregon Pacific and Farmers' association, supply storage room for a large amount of wheat. Four flouring mills consume a portion of the crop and ship much flour.

Not only is this a great grain producing region, but it is becoming a fruit growing section of importance. Albany is the shipping point.

Albany is also an important lumber depot, no less than ten lumber yards doing business there.

In the city are a chair factory, furniture factory and a branch of the Sugar Pine Sash and Door factory, of Grant's Pass. There are other important industries that contribute to the city's prosperity. An artificial ice factory supplies not only Albany but all the towns in the upper end of the valley. A large woolen mill was put in operation this year, employing about 200 hands, and using the superior quality of woolen produced in that region. A wire mattress factory, two foundries, a brewery and several other industries are also located there. A company supplies electric lights for the streets and for private use. Three good banks, two of them national, are a good index of the commercial stability of the city, as twelve churches, a fine public school, a Catholic seminary and a Presbyterian college of its moral and intellectual status. Several of the church edifices are large and handsome structures. The imposing court house, shown in the engraving, cost $75,000.

Near Albany is found the finest building stone yet discovered on the Pacific coast. The quarry of fine sandstone belonging to G. L. Blackman and James Abraham, lies 1 1/2 miles up the river, and near both the river and railroad. Stone from this quarry has stood the test of time for twenty years in buildings in Albany.

On the middle fork of the Santiam river, about sixty miles from Albany, and reached by road twenty miles from the Oregon Pacific, is a mining district that promises to equal the most famous in the country. The Albany Mining & Milling Co. has a fire-stamp mill on its claim, which was operated for a time on a trial run of ore, showing an average of $50 to the ton. Five more stamps will be added to the mill in the spring, at which time three Portland companies, one Salem company, and possibly others, will also erect mills on their properties. The Southern Pacific will construct a branch from Lebanon to the Santiam mines just as soon as they have been sufficiently developed to warrant it, as preliminary arrangements have been made.
