

Daily Democrat.

One of the most singular facts about the growth of London is its regularity. It may be roughly taken that every month about a thousand houses are added to London. In August of this year 765,577 houses had to be supplied by the water companies with water; in September that number had increased to 766,797. In August of last year 754,464 houses had to be supplied, or 11,113 below the number in the same month of this year. In September of this year the companies had to supply 10,976 houses more than in September of 1889. This extension is not confined to any one portion of the capital, but a preference is still being shown for the north and northwest suburbs.

Since Mr McKinley has introduced a bill appropriating $25,000 to pay duties on plate glass imported for the lighthouse board it would be eminently proper to include in the measure a provision stipulating that the duty must be handed back to the "foreigner who pays the tax." And it might also be well to suggest to the author of the scheme entitled by enraged republicans "Protection run mad" that, thanks to this iniquity, there are many houses away from the coast which need glass and whose occupants would like to be embraced in the same appropriation bill.
