S.A. Newberry, the pedagogue of Lyons, came down on this morning's O.P. train to visit friends in the city.

Mrs E. L. Thompson and son came up from Portland last evening on a visit. The son of Hon R. A. Bilyeu is also a guest of Hon R. A. Irvine.

Mr Mingers, one of the five attorneys of McMinnville, is in the city, having been at Brownsville with his sister, Mrs W. S. Thompson, to attend the funeral of Mrs Dr Tucker.

Mr Haley, residing near Halstead, in Marion county, who recently sold his farm there for $4000, has been in the city a couple days, viewing the sights of the metropolis of Linn county.

Rev Davis, of Shedd, has accepted a position as clerk in any Albany store. He is greatly missed by his friends, while they wish him every success in his new vocation.—Haley News.

Mrs R. M. Robertson went to Ashland last evening to be at the bedside of her sister, Mrs Norcross. Mrs Norcross had nursed Mrs Dr Rice for sometime previous to her death, and it is thought exerted herself too much.

The Rev J. R. N. Bell has sold the "City" hotel at Independence to James Gibson, and that gentleman has already taken charge of the house. Rev Bell went to Roseburg last evening, where his son-in-law, W. D. Wimbler, is dying of consumption.

Mrs Goldsworthy, daughter of Mr and Mrs Samuel Hitchens, of Corvallis, and sister of Mrs C. O. Lee, of this city, will start Monday for Mineral Point, Wisconsin, to permanently reside. Her husband has been there for the past six weeks, since which time he has his father and mother have died.

A 5 o'clock tea was given yesterday at the residence of Mr Jay W. Blain. It was a nice affair. Besides a tasty repast favors were presented the guests and prizes were given for guesses on the number of beans in a small cup, Miss Sarah Albhouse winning the first prize, and Mrs Elizabeth Blain the booby prize.

Mr Milton Beach, one of the pioneer residents of Albany, and at one time one of our leading merchants, arrived in Albany a few days ago from Garfield county, Wash, where, and at Colfax, he has been residing several years. He is greatly improved in health, and now feels as if he were strong enough to again enter into active business duties.

H. J. Clark and family arrived Wednesday morning from Seattle to make this their home. Mr Clark is well known throughout Southern Oregon, having superintended the brick work on the opera house in this city, also on The Oregon hotel at Ashland. Mr Clark says we have the climate here and his health is always better here than anywhere else on this coast.—Grant's Pass Courier. Mr Clark formerly resided in Albany, where his parents reside now.

Mr Peter Hume returned last Friday from his trip through Southern Oregon and the coast country. He has decided to move his family to Roseburg, which their many friends at this place will be sorry to hear. Mr Hume says he saw no place, during all his travels, that he would compare with this country, but he would move in hopes of bettering the health of his family. The good wishes of their many friends will accompany them.—Brownsville Times.

THE ELEGANT ROOMS OF Mr J. M. Irving were filled last evening with a large number of the observing people of Albany. Electric lights and a profusion of flowers added to the effect. So well were the plans laid by the ladies of the Presbyterian church, that there was not a dull moment during the entire evening. Many games were played in different parts of the house by old and young. The feature of the evening was the observation contest. A stand in a private room was covered with sixty different articles. The contestants entered the room and were given two minutes to observe the articles, and then three minutes in another room to write a list of them from memory. The first prize, a cake, was won by Richmond Wheeler, with a record of thirty-two, by Prof McKee, with a record of nine. A choice program was presented. H. M. Hopkins and daughter were heard in a piano and violin duet, and warmly encored. Miss Minnie Van Horn delighted the audience with a song, and Rev Prichard's popular tenor did credit to the occasion. A fine lunch was served, after which games were resumed, and another short program rendered, consisting of a speech by McGinty (Prof McKee), a bodiless man, whose gesticulations were a captivation of the audience. This was an exhibition of forensic erudition, without tergiversation, though with considerable circumlocution, surpassing in execution and presentation, without enervation, the orations of Demosthenes and Cicero, causing an exudation or percolation, of transportation from or through the cuticle of the physiognomy of the speaker, to the exultation of the applauding spectators. It was nearly midnight when the party adjourned, after one of the most enjoyable evenings of the season. Mr Irving's beautiful home is peculiarly well adapted for such a social gathering.

MISSISSIPPI.

A farmer with $100 in his pockets this morning, only had $10 of it left this noon. He was trying to find where it had gone for, but any one without much observation could solve the problem.

Salem has a new ordinance prohibiting the suspension of signs and trans-parencies over the sidewalk. The ordinance is one that should be in force in all well regulated cities. The awnings should also go.

The Junction Pilot and Harrisburg Courier have been consolidated with the publication office at Harrisburg. This leaves our sister town without a newspaper. We are informed that the failure of the paper at Junction was caused by the proprietors antagonizing a majority of the citizens of the town without reasonable cause.—Guard.

The worst kickers in a city are generally the men who sit around on dry goods boxes, too lazy to lift their hands. Nothing goes to suit them. Everything is run wrong. People are wrong themselves generally see more wrong in others than the busy people of the world who have their hands full attending to their own business.

A physician who understands human nature, who plays with the baby, makes friends with the children, and listens to the woes of the poor wife and mother, says a medical journal, is the fellow to whom the master of the house most cheerfully pays the largest bills. It isn't the medicine that's bottled up, but it's the comfort and consolation that are un-bottled that mark the bond line between an unsuccessful and a popular physician.

The Sunday Oregonian April 20th, 1891, says: "Her August Asmold, the Norwegian violinist, played with his accustomed brilliancy and skill, and was encored in each number. His playing of Schumann's Transcendental as an encore to Sarasate's 'Zigeunerweisen' must be especially mentioned, and at this concert in the whole of the numbers played by him he undoubtedly proved himself a real artist and master of violin."

James Simpson, conductor and driver of one of the electric cars, was scolded most out of his wits Wednesday night. He was driving his car at the usual rate and no thought of harm or malice entered his mind. When near Twelfth street some one who was standing behind one of the wire poles fired a shot at him from a revolver. The blaze of fire passed just in front of his body and for one time in his life Jim smelt powder. The only passenger was badly frightened as the conductor and asked him to give the car its full speed, which request was complied with.—Capitol Journal.

The survey of the Siuslaw & Eastern Railway and Navigation company shows that the Long Tom at Elmira is 45 feet lower than Eugene. The summit of the mountain, 22 miles from Eugene, is 700 feet above the sea level and 293 feet above Eugene. The line of the proposed road enters the valley of the Siuslaw along Wildcat creek. It is not surprising that railroad men look with favor on this route on which the highest elevation between the valley and the sea is only 293 feet.—Guard.
