

Daily Democrat.

There are now 9420 lodges of Odd Fellows with 665,000 members, and 75,000 Rebekah Degree members.

The Statesman says Governor Hill of New York draws pay as governor and United States senator. The World says that a senator does not draw pay as senator until he is sworn in as such, and that any one who says he does is a liar and the truth is not in him. Governor Hill will not be sworn in as senator until the next congress meets in December.

The Capital Journal says nearly all the strikes now being carried on throughout the country are for higher wages. The truth is, very many of them are against a reduction of wages, but if the Journal is correct it does not help that paper out of its awkward tariff attitude. The labor people of the country had been taught by the "protectionists" that an increase of tariff duties meant an increase of wages. McKinley gave us an increased tariff but where is the increase of wages? Labor people were credulous enough to believe that these promises of higher wages were made to be redeemed and hence (if the Journal is right) ask for what they have been promised.

The democrats have for months been endeavoring to create the impression that the president was at heart opposed to reciprocity, but all their carefully built theories have tumbled back into nothingness from which they were created since Mr Harrison made that ringing reciprocity speech at Galveston, Texas. —Corvallis Gazette.

Is our contemporary conscious that when it boasts that Harrison is in favor of reciprocity that that is tantamount to boasting that he is a free trader simple and pure? Is it thus that protectionism is to be deserted? What will the country come to now that so distinguished a republican as Harrison turns free trader? Surely, (as the old darkey said), the world do move.

WASHINGTON.

(From our regular correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, May 4, 1891.

Secretary Foster's recent alleged free and frank discussion of the condition of the treasury of the United States is the forerunner of some republican juggling with the figures purporting to represent the condition of the treasury that will probably take place as soon as Mr Harrison returns to Washington, that is, in the next statement of the public debt, which will be made public June 1. Mr Foster proposes to change the form of that statement, for the evident purpose of showing a fictitious amount of cash available. It will not be the first time by many that the condition of the treasury department has been falsified by official figures. Old timers will recall the congressional investigation which brought out the fact that during one year, 1870, I think, nine of the treasury ledgers showed 2,577 erasures and several entire leaves were cut out of two ledgers, all caused by the efforts to make the books accord with the falsified statements prepared to mystify the public. I shouldn't wonder if the House of the Fifty-second congress didn't do a little investigating of Mr Foster's figures.

The treasury department offers to send all the small silver that the banks in any section of the country will take, free of carriage, which, if the banks take any considerable quantity, will be a mighty fat thing for the United States express company, of which ex-Senator ("metoo") Tom. Platt, of New York, is the controlling spirit. Perhaps Mr Foster did not think of benefiting the New York republican boss when he hatched up this scheme, and then again perhaps he did. This mixing of business and politics is a striking trait of the republican party.

This same thing, mixing business and politics, has brought about a disagreement between Secretaries Blaine and Foster. Mr Blaine doesn't want the catching of seals stopped for a year, because a number of his personal friends, including "Steve" Elkins, have invested their money in the North American Fur company, which is the present owner of the sealing privileges Behring Sea, and Mr Foster, who believes the seals are about to be exterminated, would like to have it stopped. In the meantime the British Minister is insisting that Mr Blaine do something definite. Taken altogether this matter is in a very interesting stage and it will surprise no one here if it develops some highly sensational features before long.

The payments on account of the direct tax act to date amount to $9,184,734.80.

The presence of three candidates for speaker—Messrs. McMillin, of Tennessee; Bynum, of Indiana, and Springer of Illinois—made a good deal of talk around the hotels during the last two days. Mr McMillin has been travelling in the eastern states for several weeks and I am told by a friend of his that he secured pledges of support from quite a number of representatives in that section. I hear that Kerr, of Pennsylvania, has a dead clinch on the clerkship of the House, having received pledges enough to make his nomination by the caucus certain. I am inclined to think though that many of these pledges are contingent upon the election of the speaker.

Representative Edmunds, of Virginia, who is a democrat farmer's alliance man, was in town long enough Saturday to commit himself to Crisp for speaker.

The oldest freak in the way of a rumor that has turned up here for some time was the one that was hatched out, from nowhere, Saturday afternoon, to the effect that Mr Harrison had somewhere, at some time intimated to somebody that he did not think that the bench ought to be constructed on a pronounced political basis, and that he proposed appointing three or four democrats when the nine new United States circuit court judges were named. That's very rich! When Mr Harrison nominates a democrat to a judgeship the millennium will certainly have arrived, and as far as the strongest glass can see there are no signs of it yet.

It is expected that the national association of democratic clubs, which, its secretary tells me, is booming, will shortly establish permanent headquarters in this city, and it is hoped that the national committee will do likewise.

When Secretary Proctor goes into the senate I shall not be surprised to see two new cabinet officers, as it is known that Secretary Noble would gladly lay down his portfolio if he could get one of the new judgeships, and that Mr Harrison would like to have a better politician at the head of the interior department.

PARK - ADDITION TO THE TOWN OF LEBANON

This Beautiful Addition to the Town of Lebanon is Now, for the First Time Placed on the Market, at Prices to Suit the Times, and Terms to Suit the People.

We would much prefer that all who wish to purchase lots in this addition, would come and personally inspect the grounds and learn for themselves the many and varied advantages this addition presents to the public. By a personal inspection you will discover the following facts:

Lebanon has a population of 1500. One hundred and twenty-five new substantial houses were built here during the year. The Lebanon and Santiam Canal Company has been incorporated, and work will begin thereon as soon as the necessary preliminaries can be arranged.

This canal will give steady work to hundreds, and will furnish mill-sites for many manufactures, and the town—this and other advantages—will be a city of 5000 inhabitants. It has nearly doubled its population in the last year. A $150,000 paper mill is now completed and work will begin therein this July 1st.

—NOW FOR THE—

PARK - ADDITION.

It lies along the route of the Lebanon and Santiam Canal. It is platted with wide level avenues; planted with most beautiful young shade trees; each lot fully large enough for a comfortable residence, and each has a natural drainage. We sell no lots that are unsuitable for building purposes, and give a clear title to each lot. This addition joins the beautiful Isabella Park—from which it derives its name—and which will afford to residents in the addition beautiful recreation grounds. All lots are 66 feet front and from 232 to 185 feet deep.

LET THIS FACT BE REMEMBERED:

The price of all these lots will be advanced 25 per cent. after May 15th. This property will be shown to parties desiring to purchase by
