There were 7648 emigrants who left Germany for this country during January and February.

A butterfly captured in the Sierras was sold to the Smithsonian Institution for $1500. It was an individual of a fossil species, supposed to be extinct.

The governments of Great Britain and Spain have accepted the invitation to make a display at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893.

The number of locomotives in the United States on June 20, 1890, is stated by the Interstate Commissioners' statistician at 29,036, and the total number of cars of all kinds at 1,097,571.

For the want of rye, wheat or potatoes the peasants in the Russian province of Karan bake bread of acorns. It produces colic, swelling of the limbs and distention of the abdomen. The disease is fatal in many cases.

There are 153 British peers who between them own 1529 places where intoxicants are sold. The list is headed by the Earl of Derby, who is the owner of seven-two drinking places. Next comes the Duke of Bedford with forty-eight.

The average soundings in the open Atlantic give a depth of two or three thousand fathoms. The sun's rays illumine this mass of water to a depth of two or three hundred fathoms only. The greater part of the ocean bed is thus pitch dark.

They have a way in China of telling the time by looking at pussy's eyes. The pupils of a cat's eyes, it is explained, are largest in the morning, gradually growing smaller as the light increases, reaching the minimum at noon, then widening again until at night they once more become large.

For a given number of people who can use railroads, Austria provides more trains than India, Germany more than Austria, England more than Germany, and the United States more than England. Each concession to the public convenience in this matter involves a loss which must be paid for somewhere.

The only railroad in operation in equatorial Africa has just been finished from Amla in Low Ambaca, 160 miles in the interior. It has been built entirely by native workman, and daily trains run over the line. The construction occupied four years. The natives show themselves so friendly to the new institution that the road is to be pushed several hundred miles into the interior. The Portuguese Government is thus getting a new hold on the territory which was fast slipping away from its grasp.

A DANGEROUS SPIRIT.

A despatch from Topeka, Kansas says: Joseph Bennett, who bought a farm in Washington township, borrowed money from a Jewell City firm to make the first payment and put in his crops. When the notes fell due, Bennett did not have the money to take them up, and his place was sold by the sheriff. He refused to give possession and was ejected. Joseph Kindesberger then occupied the farm as a tenant of the purchasers. Bennett is a member of the farm alliance. Thirty or forty masked men, with Bennett at their head drew up to the place Sunday night and requested the new tenant to leave. He refused to do so when upon revolvers were drawn and was told that he could either leave at once or his dead body would be carted off. Bennett was then reinstated, and still holds the place. Kindesberger has the names of the leaders of the mob, and will institute civil and criminal proceedings against them. The officers in this county are all farmers' alliance men, including the prosecuting attorney.

This is a very unsafe way for men to secure relief from any imaginary or real wrong, but where a man entered openly and willfully into a contract it is a grave crime to undertake to set it aside by mob force. Farmers' alliances everywhere should be resolution condemn such proceedings and not permit such things to be seemingly done in the name of the order.

One important measure toward making New York and Brooklyn a united city has been accomplished in removal of tolls for foot passengers over the bridge which now connects them. The bridge is really a public highway, and to exact a toll on foot passengers ought never to have been submitted to. The toll on horse and vehicles still remain, but are very light, not much more than enough to pay expenses of running the bridge, but even these will probably have to go ere long.

FAIR WARNING.

Sheriff Scott Does Not Want the World, but he Must Have the Delinquent Taxes.

Sheriff Scott proposes to make it warm for delinquent tax payers unless they settle at once. The following notice has been published several weeks; but it does not work as effectively as it should:

By order of the County Court I am directed to force the collection of all taxes standing unpaid on the assessment rolls of this county. If such taxes are not paid to me I shall proceed to levy upon and sell the property of delinquents to make collection. I mean business.
M. SCOTT,
Sheriff of Linn county.

Now he proposes to enforce the collection of all unpaid taxes, which, though not the pleasantest business in the world, must be done. Delinquents should come to time and pay up, thereby avoiding legal proceedings, as provided by the laws of Oregon. This is positively the last call. Look out for the explosion of the bomb.
