NO TINPLATE MILLS YET.

One of the great manufacturing firms said to be preparing for the making of tinplate in this country writes to a Milwaukee correspondent that time alone can tell whether the industry will get a profitable footing in this country or not. They say that much harm has been done to the proposed industry by those papers which insist that the making of American tinplate to supply the trade has already begun, while in fact it is yet in the experimental stage. The letter says that such articles do much more harm than those which decry the industry and declare it can never be made a success, because the latter have some reason, at least, for their assertions, while the former are too easily proved to be absolutely false, and only intended for votes and political effect. "If the press, both for and against us, will let us alone," say the firm, "and await results, they will harm nobody and may do a great deal of good by the tacit encouragement they afford."

This is the first sensible statement that has yet come from the tinplate workers and boomers, and it is entitled to respect. This company say that they think they can make and sell tinplate at a profit. If they can do so at any time in the future every good citizen will rejoice. There has been no opposition to the establishment of the tin plate industry in this country. What the Journal and other papers have done was to expose the false claims of the McKinleyites, as to the present making of American tinplate. Tinplate can undoubtedly be made here. If American mills cannot make the steel plate base they can import it; if American mines do not produce the tin it can be imported; if necessary, skilled labor can be brought on from Wales. There is no reason why the dipping cannot be done under an American sky as well as under a Welsh sky. The only question is of economy in the matter.

In the meantime the people of this country are to be taxed $16,000,000 a year for the tinplate necessary to supply their wants while the experiments are going on and with no very great prospects of success, at least so far as cheaper plate is concerned. For months the importations have been doubled so as to pile up stocks of plate large enough to last one or two years, and upon which the increased prices under the new tariff can be charged while the old rates of tariff only are paid. A year's supply rushed in before the higher rates take effect will cost the American people $8,000,000. A great effort will be made to have some tinplate mills running for the next political campaign, and that is the chief aim of the McKinley tariff.—Milwaukee Journal.

The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette says that "the republican party of Ohio will, in its contest for governor in 1891, either win or lose the battle for the presidency in 1892." It may lose the presidency but can hardly win it. If Ohio, a republican state in every presidential election since that party was organized, should reject McKinley, the leader of the billion-dollar congress and the sponsor of the tariff law, which is the main issue in the canvass, there would be small hope indeed of the election of a republican president next year. The democrats understand this and should act accordingly. But if this long time republican state shall still prove republican there will be votes enough elsewhere to elect a democratic president.

There is a big row on hand among the republican leaders in Ohio, Sherman and Foraker are striving for the senatorship. Foster is pushing his claims which makes Sherman and Foraker hot. McKinley's friends intimate that he will be the senator in case he carries the state for governor. Harrison and his friends as well as Blaine and his are jealous of McKinley and fear he will be a dangerous candidate for president in case he should be elected governor. It is not impossible that in this struggle for the spoils a democratic legislature may result in giving us another democratic senator.

And now we are told that Quay is to resign the chairmanship of the national republican committee and J. S. Clarkson will be elected to succeed him. This will be a great loss to the republicans. Quay is driven to resign on account of the corruption that has been traced to his very door. But Clarkson is no less dishonest and corrupt while he is less able as a campaigner.

For the strengthening and perpetuating of the republican party—"free sugar" is a dismal failure. That paper says the democrats are "free traders." Therefore democrats are in favor of "free sugar." They say "free sugar" is a great thing for the country, therefore democratic policy is a great thing for the country. This is the awkward dilemma into which their inconsistencies place them.

Many republican clubs have been formed in Ohio this summer, but since the organization of so many farmer's alliances there, it looks very much like spades would be trump.

Mamma (tearfully): "It pains me, Tommy, just as much as it does you to have to whip you."

Tommy (also tearfully): "Mebbe it does, but not in the same place."

WANTED, at once, for canning purposes Royal Ann and Black Republican cherries, peach plums, Bartlett pears, black raspberries and blackberries, for which I will pay the highest market price. G. W. SIMPSON.

The North Dakota Alliance cut the sub-treasury plank out of its platform, and now, after a four hours' discussion, the leading lodge of South Carolina resolves against it without a dissenting voice. The farmer is weeding his crop.

The republicans are already claiming credit for the big wheat crop promised at the West. As the campaign advances they will no doubt insist that the McKinley bill caused the short crops abroad. Their modesty is only equalled by their veracity.

Republican organs criticize the democrats of Ohio for adopting a plank in favor of a tax on incomes, saying this was one of the war taxes of which democrats complained, but these organs forget that a billion dollar congress makes it necessary to have war taxes. The blame falls upon Reed's congress.

One reason that Mr. Wanamaker should not be expected to give up his seat in the cabinet is because he owns it by right of purchase.

THE CRY OF MILLIONS

OH, MY BACK!
STOP IT NOW,
SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have bought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over when I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when kind Providence sent Dr. Hensley, with L. O'NEIL'S KIDNEY PILLS, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.
