James Phlegley, of Brownsville will run the Harrisburg Hotel on the moval of Mr and Mrs Wigle to Brownsville.

Judge O N Denny, of Portland, recently chief adviser of the King of Corea, is in the city, the guest of his two sisters, Mrs Wm Rajston and Mrs W H Goltra.

Rev S E Webster, late of Williamsport, Pennsylvania, will preach at the Congregational church in this city next Sunday, morning and evening. The public is invited.

Milton Condra, of this county, who has been attending school at Monmouth for some past, left on Monday evening for Washington D. C., to accept a position in the War Department.

Prof J B Marks, of Lebanon, was in the city yesterday on his way to Walla Walla, where he has accepted a position in the business college, run by his brother-in-law, Prof Stubbfield.

Attorney General Chamberlain alone maintained the dignity of the state house and did not rush down stairs to see the circus go by, says the Salem Journal. He merely stood on the west portico; but then he has seen it twice before.

LEBANON.—R H Liggett has sold his farm and will remove his family to California.

Dr Courtney is manufacturing brick with which to build three business houses.

The Baptist church which is under construction on Bridge avenue will be an ornament to that part of the city. The building is 50x30 in dimensions and will therefore have ample seating capacity.

Dr L Foley and associates have asked the city for a franchise to equip and operate an electric-light plant for a term of fifteen years. The parties asking the franchise agree to begin work within four months and to have the system in operation within eight months from the passage of the ordinance. The Dr intends to have the plant in operation in three months.

W B Donaca was knocked senseless last Thursday by an enraged brute. In attempting to bring the animal into town, it ran madly at him, but fortunately did not horn him. Martin Hickman, who was with him at the time, ran to his rescue, and after procuring some water for him, he regained consciousness and came home apparently but little the worse for the encounter. The cow killed herself before they got her into town.—Advance.

AN INSURANCE SUIT.—A few days ago the State Insurance Company began a civil action in Justice Fouts' court against W A Casedy for the payment of a note which the defendant had formerly given for an insurance premium. The trial took place before a jury called by the defendant. The defense was that the company's agent in negotiating the insurance had committed a fraud by misrepresenting the character of the instrument to which Mr Casedy had affixed his name. He had led the defendant to believe that the little paper he signed was a "certificate," whereas it happened to be a promissory note for the payment of $17.60, the premium for a certain amount of insurance. The jury returned a verdict for the company.—Oregon City Courier.

A RELIABLE MARKET.—Wheat is now coming in rapidly and the price still stands at 80 cents per bushel.—Gazette of Aug. 21. The price at Albany is 81 1/2 cents, which shows Albany to be the best market. Corvallis always starts out like a meteor that soon vanishes; but the market at Albany is the one to stand by. We mention this on account of several boasting remarks in the papers there.

THREE OUT OF ELEVEN.—Eleven persons were examined by county school superintendent, W E Yates, last week, but out of the entire number there were but three who obtained certificates to teach. Ellen Sedgwick of Albany, and Gertrude Vaughn of Philomath, were granted second grade certificates, and A W Skinner, of this city, was given a third grade certificate.—Gazette.

NEW SPRING GOODS.—I keep a full line of spring and summer dress goods, in wash fabrics, prints, ginghams, seersuckers, etc. I have also a new line of summer plaids, besides other novelties in biges and all wool springings. SAMUEL E YOUNG.

REMOVED.—W E McPherson has removed his loan and insurance office to opposite the Masonic temple, where at present he has plenty of money to loan on Albany real estate.

NOTICES.

Life insurance companies are reaching this way for investment for their accumulating millions. This year two of these big companies have placed $350,000 in Portland; the New York life putting $150,000 in the chamber of commerce building and the Equitable $200,000 in the Oregonian building.

J H Stine, formerly editor of an Independence and seven or eight other newspapers, will start a newspaper at Whiteson. The McMinnville T. M. says Whiteson shows up fine on all the maps etc, but there is no denying the fact that it is a very small town, in fact so small that you hardly know whether it is a town or not when you pass through it. What a newspaper will do there is a conundrum.

They have been trying several months to elect a new night watchman at Corvallis. The Times tries to settle the matter as follows: With all the burglarizing that has been done on Main street, it is strange that the officers have never made a detection. This matter is provoking bitter comment, and it has been suggested that we do away with the office of nightwatch altogether, and use the $700 per annum for purchasing new safes for business men who may have their's broken open.

If the recruiting officers now doing the Willamette valley would follow the plan of Balnacada their record would be better than four or five a month. His plan is to send out a detachment of cavalry and round them up like cowboys do cattle, and those who resist are handcuffed and told to take their position in ranks, and the few who still resist are shot. A recruiting officer a short time ago sent in to the commanding officer 400 recruits, saying: "I send you 400 volunteers, please return the handcuffs."

A H Siefried, eastern representative of the Chicago News, delivered a most able address before the National Editorial Association recently in session at St Paul. In the course of his remarks he said, "The foolish and inexperienced advertiser buys so much space in a newspaper and fills it to the very edge with extravagant puffings of his wares, written in superlatives, and printed in almost microscopic type. Few read his advertisement, and nobody buys his goods. Then he is angry and cries out in his blind wrath that advertising does not pay, or other idiocy to that effect. But the wise and experienced advertiser, buying the same amount of space, devotes the larger portion of it to clearly written, cleanly printed, modest and reasonable statement of the merits of his goods—such a statement as he is willing to stand by. For that man, advertising pays."

RATHER RETROSPECTIVE.—The Independence West Side says: Sol Woods, from near Prineville, is in the neighborhood. He is a son of Doc Woods, who brought the first bees into Oregon. He settled on a place near Independence and remained there until he died. His bees he lost in the Umpqua canyon, by the upsetting of his wagon. This was in 1846, when the first wagons came through the canyon. Had he saved his bees they would have made him a fortune. Bees afterwards sold for $300 a stand. Mr B Staats paid $150 for one.

TWO YOUNG MEN, from Powells Prairie, this side of Portland, stopped off in Albany today on a trip through the valley. They became rather too smart for their position in the world, and were gobbled up by the Chief of Police; but discharged after some very fatherly advice was given them, and no doubt will be more careful in the future about monkeying with the buzz saw.

All his teas and baking powder bears the name of Julius Gradwohl's Golden Rule Bazaar, and are expressly put up for his business, and he still continues to give with each pound of tea or baking powder an elegant piece of glassware.

The Weekly Advance, the farmers alliance paper, appears this week from Lebanon. It is well gotten up and is alive with local news. Editor Adams is a spicy writer. Sladden & Son have sold their grocery store, on the corner of Willamette and 7th streets, to T A Henderson, who was formerly in the tin business in this city. What is Home Without a Mother?

"What is home without a mother," Sang the poet long ago. What is life without good food? We should really like to know.

What's a boat without a rudder? Or a ship without a sail? What's a goose without a gander, Or a "hoss" without a tail?

What's a life without a baby? What's a hen without a coop? If your groceries don't come from Parkers' You may find you're in the soup.

What's a sermon without chestnuts? What's an old maid without hope? What's a dago's squeaky organ, Without a monkey at his rope?

What's the need of all this rhyming, Unless to save you lots of fuss? One thing sure you will be happy If you come and trade with us.
