FACTS

ABOUT THE TEA WE DRINK.

But few people know that there is such a thing as an euror die a in existence, and fewer have seen it. But there is, and it is of all tras-the swootest, purset, and most fragrant. You set at once how it is that it is not offered for sale and that you know nothing of it. That is answered easily; but it is necessary to present first a few details. The public only knows two general classes, viz., the green and the black teas. Green Teas. Green Teas. Few people know that the bright blutsh-

Few people know that the bright blutsh-green color of the ordinary tess exposed in the windows is not the matural color. Un-pleasant as the fact may be, it is nevertheless artificial: Frussian blue, silica, gypsum, juunbago, and other unhealthful mineral colors being used for this purpose. The effect is twofold. It not only makes the tess a bright, shiny, attractive green, but also permits the use of "off color" and worthless tess, which, once under the green cloak, are readily worked off as a good quality of tes. Theshom-inable coloring practice even admits of the use of foreign substances, and the English government, which looks closer into the gen-ulineness of its staples than ours, has in gone of the alleged "finest" of tess found redried of the alleged "finest" of test found redried leaves, straw, fragments of matting, rice-husks, and willow leaves. In fact, it is openly stated by an English sufficiently that hundreds of thousands of pounds of shoe, she, and wil-low leaves are annually imported as tes, which without the coloring process would be impossible. They report the as one of the most notorionally adulterated articles of commerce. The termelium in under averaging and here of the alleged "finest" of tess found redried

The temptation to make sweepings and bad ten into a morbantable product with a few cents' warth of green coloring matter is too strong to withstand, and the worthlessness of the trash that often finds its way to this market labeled "New Crop," "Best Quality," "Green Ten," etc., would simply astound the public if revealed, to say nothing of the un-healthfulness of the Prussian blue, plumbago, gypsum, and the other mineral colors that are employed,

Black Teas. Black Teas. The basket and pan-fired Japan teas, as well as the China teas that may be included under the general heading of "black teas," get their color from the firing or toasting process, but mineral coloring matter is also frequently used to give a certain desired commercial appearance. The firing and the coloring, as in the green teas, largely conceals the iden-tity of the tea, and permits the use of the very cheapest teas, to argue nothing; for the deteriorating effect of excessive firing, which must be resorted to when a very cheap prodn all courts of the ny, Oregon. must be resorted to when a very cheap prod-uct is used and an extreme color desired.

Beech's Tea (Sun-dried).

Concerning sun-dried teas the people of the Pacific Coast have heard but little and know Pacific Coast have heard but little and know less, although it is extensively used where it is known and understood. We are told that when tea is so poor it cannot be sold at home or asfely ableped to the English markets, it is shipped to America: that we will drink any-thing. That may possibly be one of the rea-sons we have not been offered sun-dried teas. They were not seen for end sun-dried teas. Will practice in all ed States courts is over Bank of They were good enough to send elsewhere. They user good enough to send elsewhere. The sun-dried team being sun-cured, no coloring matter is used, hence nothing but pure tea leaves can be employed; for unas-sisted by manipulation or coloring, all at-tempts at adulteration or the introduction of foreign leaves or material would be bold and glaring. That it is, therefore, sweeter and far more fragrant than the artificially colored more inspirate that the article any coored green tess and the manipulated basket or pan-fired tess, you hardly need be told. That it is more healthful than the mineral-colored tess, is also apparent. That it is more expen-sive, is also true; and that is smother reason you have never seen it. There is not so much wordt in U as these in the same south profit in it as there is in the cheap adulter ated and colored tens.

About the Cost of Tens.

-Corner Second Calls promptly According to the custom-house reports, the amount of tea received at San Francisco last year (1800) was 6,840,157 pounds, and the value $553,200, or a fraction over 12c per pound. The consumer, of which the reader was one, paid for that 12c ten all the way from for to of Bellevus Med atos of women a Albany, Oregon paid for that Lie tea all the way from 10e to $1 per pound. In other words, for that $255,259 worth of tea the consumer paid between four and five millions of dollars. There are your enormous profits, and there you will probably flud the chief reason why most of you never heard of a sun-dried tea. As the sun-dried teas have no mask, they are compelled to be abso-lint g pure and of better quality than the ar-sfielally colored and manipulated teas.
