Important to Housekeepers.

It gives Julius Gradwohl great satisfaction in selling his fine Golden Rule toss and baking powder, with elegant prizes or with-out them, that his customers who have purchased invariably return and say they are well pleased, that the tea is No. 1 and the baking powder is as good as the best. All his teas and baking powder betrathe name of Julius Gradwohl's Golden Rule Basser, and are aversally not no fee his Bazzar, and are expressly put up for his business, and he still continues to give with each pound of tea or baking powder an ele-gant prece of glassware.

German Syrup"

icians now believe that Consumption is a germ disease. In other words, instead of being in the con-stitution itself it is caused by innumerable small creatures living in the lungs having no business there and eating them away as caterpillars do the leaves of trees.

A Germ Disease.

The phlegm that is coughed up is those parts of the lungs which have been gnawed off and destroyed. These little bacilli, as the germs are called, are too small to be seen with the naked eye, but they are very much alive just the same, and enter the body in our food, in the air we breathe, and through the pores of the skin. Thence they get into the blood and finally arrive at the lungs where they fasten and increase with frightful rapidity. Then German Syrup comes in, loosens them, kills them, expells them, heals the places they leave, and so nourish and soothe that, in a short time consumptives become germ-proof and well. @

FACTS

ABOUT THE TEA WE DRINK.

But few people know that there is such a thing assun-cured lea in existence, and fewer have seen it. But there is, and it is of all teas the sweetest, purest, and most fragrant. You sak at once how it is that it is not offered for ask at once how it is that it is not offered for sale and that you know nothing of it. That is answored easily; but it is necessary to present first a few details. The public only knows two general classes, viz., the green and the black teas.

Green Teas.

Few people know that the bright bluishgreen color of the ordinary teas exposed in the windows is not the natural color. Unpleasant as the fact may be, it is nevertheless artificial; Prussian blue, silics, gypsum, plumbago, and other unhealthful mineral colors being used for this purpose. The effect is twofold. It not only makes the teas bright, shiny, attractive green, but also permits the use of "off-color" and worthless teas, which, once under the green closk, are readily worked off assa good quality of tea. The bominable coloring practice even admits of the use of foreign substances, and the English government, which looks closer into the genulucness of its staples than ours, has in some Few people know that the bright bluishulucness of its staples than our, has in some of the alleged "finest" of teas found redried leaves, straw, fragments of matting, rice-husks, and willow leaves. In fact, it is openly stated by an English authority that hundreds of thousands of pounds of sloe, sah, and wil-low leaves are annually imported as tea, which without the coloring process would be impossible. They report tea as one of the most impossible. They report tea as one of the most noteriously adulterated articles of commerce. The temptation to make aweepings and bad tas into a merchantable product with a few cents worth of green coloring matter is too strong to withstand, and the worthlessness of the trash that often finds its way to this market labeled "New Crop," "Best Quality," "Green Tea," etc., would simply astound the public if revealed, to say nothing of the unhealthfulness of the Prussian blue, plum. healthfulness of the Prussian blue, plum hago, gypsum, and the other mineral colors

Black Tens.

The basket and pan-fired Japan teas, as well as the China teas that may be included under the general heading of "black teas," get their color from the firing or toasting process, but mineral coloring natter is also frequently used to give a certain desired commercial appearance. The firing and the coloring, as in the green teas, largely conceals the identity of the tea, and permits the use of the very cheapest teas, to argue nothing for the deteriorating effect of excessive firing which must be resorted to when a very cheap product is used and an extreme color desired.

Beech's Tea (Sun-dried).

Beech's Tea (Sun-dried).

Beech's Tea (Sun-dried).

Concerning sun-dried teas the people of the Pacific Coast have heard but little and know less, although it is extensively used where it is known and understood. We are told that when tea is so poor it cannot be sold at home or safely shipped to the English markets, it is shipped to America; that we will drink anything. That may possibly be one of the reasons we have not been offered sun-dried tear. They were good enough to send elsewhere.

thing. That may possed, or sun-dried tear sons we have not been offered sun-dried tear they were good enough to send elsewhere. The sun-dried tear being sun-cured, no coloring matter is used, hence nothing but pure tea leaves can be employed; for unassisted by manipulation or eoloring, all sitempts at adulteration or the introduction of foreign leaves or material would be bold and glaring. That it is, therefore, sweeter and far more fragrant than the artificially colored green tear and the manipulated basket or more tragrant than the artificially colored green tens and the manipulated basket or pan-fired tens, you hardly need be told. That it is more healthful than the mineral-colored tens, is also apparent. That it is more expensive, is also true; and that is another reason you have never seen it. There is not so much profit in it as there is in the chem, edularprofit in it as there is in the chesp adulterated and colored teas.

About the Cost of Teas.

According to the custom-house reports, the amount of tea received at San Francisco last amount of tea received at San Francisco last year (1890) was 6,80,127 pounds, and the value 836,290, or a fraction over 13c per pound. The consumer, of which the reader was one, paid for that 15c tea all the way from 50c to 15 per pound. In other words, for that $25,290 worth of tea the consumer paid between four and five millions of dollars. There are your enormous profits, and there you will probably find the chief reason why most of you never heard of a sun-dried tea. As the sun-dried teas have no mask, they are compelled to be absolute g pure and of better quality than the ar afficially colored and manipulated teas. Hence the margins on them are smaller, and many dealers don't care about handling them, many dealers don't care about handling them, and you know nothing about them. But it is the object of this article to tell you where you can get them, and what to ask for, and all about them.

"Reech's Tea."

"Reach's Tea."

"Beach's Tea." guaranteed to be the pure sun-cured leaves, is now offered to the people of the Pacific Coast. It will be a revelation to you. You doubtless never any any natural leaf. Have your grocer break open a package. It will be found in ealer to be just between the artificially colored green and the black teas, and the drawn tea presents a clear, brilliant canary color, of delightful fragrance. It is offered to the people at 60c per pound, the same price that many artificially colored teas are sold for. But its guaranteed purity makes it more ecanomical to coally colored tens are sold for. But its guar-suited purity maker it more evanomical to use; for a less quantity, my about twenty grains, its required per cup. As there are 7,630 grains to a pound, there will be seen to be between three and four hundred cups to the pound, or at the rate of about one fifth of a cent per cup. Its economy is therefore manifest. It is put up in one-pound packages only, in patent air-tight and moisture-proof at the bottom of this striles heighly related at the bottom of this striles heighly related. parchiment, with the trade mark that is found at the bottom of this article plainly printed on the package. It is sold in this form for two reasons; one is, that the original strength and aroms is preserved; and second, there can be no deception, which would be quite possible if it were sold in buik, without the name and trade mark attached.

Recollect that the margin of profit is so much smaller on Beech's pure sun-dried teas than on the artificially colored teas that you won't get it if tea by any other name can be put off on you. Ask for

Perhaps the best way to get it is to go where you know they have it and are willing to sell it. For instance, it can be had without diffi-
