"August Flower"

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. I then used your August Flower and it was just two days when I felt great relief. I soon got so that I could sleep and eat, and I felt that I was well. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. The beauty of the medicine is, that you can stop the use of it without any bad effects on the system.

A Revelation.

Few people know that the bright bluish-green color of the ordinary tea exposed in the windows is not the natural color. Unpleasant as the fact may be, it is nevertheless true; and unless counteracted by some better tea, the effect is twofold. It not only makes the tea a bright, shiny green, but also permits the use of "off color" and worthless tea, which, once under the green cloak, are readily worked off as a good quality of tea.

An eminent authority writes on this subject: "The consumption of poor tea, rather than a finer appearance, is a serious mistake. Green tea, being in this country especially popular, are produced to meet the demand by coloring cheap black tea by the coloring or fading of its natural color, thereby giving it a bluish-green hue. This method is an error, and that very little genuine unadorned green tea is offered for sale."

It was the knowledge of this condition of affairs that prompted the plan of this tea. You before the public. It is a revelation to you and without color. Did you ever see a genuine unadorned tea in this country? To preserve an unadorned tea, you must will see it, and probably for the very first time. It will be found to color for the first time the unadorned green tea that has been mentioned to be of the black tea.

It is a beautiful, pure, and healthful tea. It is a revelation to the drinkers. Its purity makes it also more economical than the adulterated tea, for tea of this quality is required in quantity, and is found in packages bearing this trade mark.
