

CLEVELAND.

Mr Cleveland has a large place in the affections of the people. Notwithstanding that he has been criticised by democrats in various sections of the country, yet there has not been a democratic convention held this year that has not attested its devotion to him by hearty cheering at the mention of his name. He presided at a democratic meeting in New York City some evenings since where Governor Hill made the principal speech. While the reception to the governor was attended by a hearty demonstration of applause, it bore no comparison to the wild and tumultuous cheering that came up from the vast throng collected in Cooper Union when the Ex-president made his appearance on the platform. Since this meeting Mr Cleveland has presided at a grand democratic rally in Brooklyn. The account of the meeting sent out by the associated press goes on to say:

When President Cleveland honored Fremont rink, accompanied by Hon H Carey, the audience went wild. When it was reduced to order Mr Cleveland was introduced, and greeted with "three cheers for our next president." Mr Cleveland, after acknowledging the greetings, made a speech of some length, calling the attention of his hearers to the importance of the campaign and generally scoring the republican party. In conclusion, Mr Cleveland said: "In your relations to the pending canvas, every democrat who likes his country and his party must acknowledge the importance of the services rendered by the representatives of Kings county in aiding the formulation of the declaration of financial principles in the platform which democracy presents to the voters of the state, which leaves no room to doubt our insistence upon sound and honest money for all people."

Here where Hill, as a presidential candidate, is said to be strong, we find Mr Cleveland tendered a reception that would arouse the pride of any man with a spark of vanity in him. The secret in all this is that the people of the whole country have an abiding faith in the sturdy honesty and never flinching integrity of the man. They know that he is without the semblance of political trickery. The people everywhere know, (though they may not all confess it,) that no other man in public life would make so safe a president in all respects as he. Herein is his strength. It is observed now by shrewd people that he is daily growing stronger among the bone and sinew of the country.

RE COURTEOUS

A man or boy who measures his treatment of others by their treatment of him has no character of his own. He will never be kind, or generous, or Christian, in life is ever to be a gentleman he will be in spite of the boorishness of others. If he is to be noble, no other boy's meanness will change his nature. Remember this my boy—you lower your own self every time you are guilty of an unworthy action because some one else is. Be true to your best self and no boy can drag you down. —The West.

Sebastian Cabot, an eminent navigator, was born in Bristol, England, about 1477. He commanded a ship in his father's voyage to Newfoundland, and in 1499 conducted another expedition, and visited the Gulf of Mexico. Having entered the service of Ferdinand, King of Spain, in 1512, he commanded an expedition, which examined the coasts of Brazil and La Plata in 1526. He returned to England in 1548, after which a pension was granted to him by Edward VI. Cabot died about 1557.

The theory of the light of the aurora borealis was evolved from the analysis of its light by the spectroscope, which showed that it was caused by electrical discharges among the particles of meteoric dust in the atmosphere. The broad red line of the spectrum of iron is shown in all these cases, and thus upholds the theory, as it is well known that the principal part of meteors is metallic iron.

The Statesman speaks of Mills and Breckenridge as being pronounced "free traders." But it has never attempted to define the term "free trader" nor has it ever gone so far as to explain what it means by the term "free trader." If it makes up a definition that would include Mills and Breckenridge, it would include itself with them.

A Texas farmer who has 400 acres planted with 11,000 pecan trees, calculates that in six or seven years, on the basis of an average yield of a basket for each tree, he will get a net return of $50,000 from them.

The estimated population of the world in 1893 is as follows: Asia, $50,000,000; Europe, $30,000,000; Africa, 123,000,000; North America, $9,250,000; South America, $6,420,000; Australia, 4,733,000. Total 1,487,600,000.

The assessor of Astoria returns $3,000,000 more property in that city alone than the county assessor returns for the city and county combined.

Here is a shadow. Salem right after a big fire, is experiencing trouble in raising $10,000 for her University. Albany without a big fire is raising that sum and will succeed in getting the entire amount.

Osmond, an English bicyclist, has run a safety mile in 2:16 and twenty four miles in 1 hour 20:45 seconds, an average of a mile in 2 minutes 31 seconds. Wonder-ridden.

The taxable property returned by the assessor in Baker county this year was $2,054,905. The sheriff assessed $53,721 and the board of equalization raised the assessment $43,934 in addition, making the total net assessment only $2,052,560. Baker county, with all her mines, is mighty poor.—E. O.

A year ago in Massachusetts Jonathan Bourne lost $25,000 in a poker game. He didn't squeal, but others did, under the laws of that state any one being allowed to complain. Bourne has been ordered to go back there and testify, and Judge Shattuck, of Portland, says he must; but Bourne says he won't, and has appealed to the supreme court. The case is a funny one.

A McMinnville paper has received the following interesting letter. "Enclosed you will find two dollars for my subscription. I know it is ruleable to pay for a paper in wood or potatoes but I am just out of potatoes, and we didn't have a very good wood crop this year, and if you will accept the money this one time, I will try and do better next year. That is all the excuse I have for not paying it sooner."

Supt. Bollinger has taken charge of the institute for the blind, assisted by Mrs. Barcelo, as assistant matron. Miss Cupwell will remain until Monday and cheerfully lends her assistance to introduce the new administration to the work. Mr Bollinger was not a candidate for the position in any sense of the word. He had strong recommendations on file for a position in the reform school, but did not expect an appointment in the blind school.—Journal.

Afflicts half the American people yet there is only one preparation of Sarsaparilla that acts on the bowels and reaches this important trouble, and that is Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It relieves it in 24 hours, and an occasional dose prevents return. We refer by permission to C. E. Elkington, 125 Locust Avenue, San Francisco; J. H. Brown, Petaluma; H. S. Winn, Geary Court, San Francisco, and hundreds of others who have used it in constipation. One letter is a sample of hundreds. Elkington writes: "I have been for years subject to bilious headaches and constipation. Have been so bad for a year back have had to take a physic every other night or else I would have a headache. After taking one bottle of J. V. S., I am in splendid shape. It has done wonderful things for me. People similarly troubled should try it and be convinced."
