

For more than six months past the Washington correspondence of the Oregonian has been hot with fulsome reports of the greatness of the Dolph family, the greatness of Cy Dolph as a jurist, and the greatness of his recommendation for the office of U. S. Circuit Judge. To the uninformed public it appeared on the surface that Mr Dolph was really seeking in proper manner a high and honorable office; and to those ignorant of his qualifications, it would seem that the mantle of John Marshall had certainly descended upon the shoulders of Cyrus A. Dolph, of Portland, Oregon. But there is an inside history of this affair which no one would suspect; and it discloses a scheme of self-seeking at the expense of public interests, which has ever been regarded by honorable men, as one of the most scandalous traits of partisan politics.

We have it from the very best authority, so that we know whereof we speak, that this whole scheme of putting forward Cyrus Dolph for this judgeship, was a mere ruse and family job to keep other lawyers in Oregon from applying for the place, and to impress the president with the wonderful greatness of the Dolph family, so that when Cy Dolph should decline the Circuit Judgeship the president might the more readily consider the name of Senator Joe Dolph for the chair of Judge S. J. Field on the Supreme Bench. Of course Judge Field has not yet resigned, although he is entitled to retire now on full salary, and make this vacancy for which Joe Dolph is looking with wistful eyes. That Senator Dolph is waiting for Field's place is an open secret at Washington, well known to all the corporation senators. The family plan was as follows: Joseph to go on to the Supreme Bench as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court; and Cyrus Dolph to take his brother's chair in the senate. To carry that scheme out, Senator Dolph carries a recommendation around and gets Senator Stanford, of California, the senators of Idaho and Washington to sign it, and then goes to Senator Mitchell, and Mitchell could not, dare not refuse to sign it. In fact, Mitchell has to dance to the Dolph music all the time. And then he files this recommendation, and the Oregonian commences to puff the Dolphs to the skies.

Now look at the record. At the very time of filing this recommendation Joe Dolph has in his possession the following telegram and letter from Cy Dolph, which he now makes public for the first time. Cyrus Dolph telegraphs on March 11:

"I am glad to hear that you would have to decline the judgeship. If I were equal to it, it would be the height of my ambition."

The 15th of March he wrote him a lengthy and among other things said: "The position is beyond the reach of most men, and might tempt any man but I feel that after all my consideration was a wise one. You may consider it as such."

If Senator Dolph had not been pushing a selfish scheme he would have made these telegrams public then, and given such men as Judges Burke, Loe, Watson Smith, Stott, Richard Williams, and J. W. Wrenley, all better lawyers than Cy Dolph, a chance to apply for the office, and the president an opportunity to consider their names. But not the friends of the Dolph family must overshadow all else, and a great public office be made the foot ball of mercenary scheming and self-aggrandizement. With all competition shut out until it was too late for an Oregon man to make a case for the Circuit Judgeship, it was the brilliant idea of J. N. Dolph, that President Harrison would immediately "catch on" to his little scheme of putting himself into Judge Field's shoes. And then safely on the Supreme Bench he could say to those great corporations controlling the railroad in Oregon—"You know I was one of your fellows in the senate, and now I am on the Supreme Bench I can do you much harm or favor, now you see to it that a legislature is elected out in Oregon that will put my Brother Cyrus in the seat I have just vacated in the senate."

This is the scheme of the Dolph family; and mark our words if Joe Dolph don't try to carry it out. This exposure may defeat it, we trust that it will, and that President Harrison will not lead his sanction to such a disgraceful intrigue with great public interests.

The bare recital of such a corrupt effort to pack the Supreme Court and United States Senate with two railroad attorneys from one family, should double the membership of every Farmer's Alliance in Oregon, and call out a protest from the whole state.—Alliance Farmer.

The Road to Wealth

Control us successfully, without any outlay of money. To reach wealth or any other position in the world is the full possession and operation of the faculties of the mind. It is the only way to success. It is the only way to wealth. It is the only way to power. It is the only way to fame. It is the only way to glory. It is the only way to honor. It is the only way to respect. It is the only way to admiration. It is the only way to love. It is the only way to friendship. It is the only way to influence. It is the only way to control. It is the only way to rule. It is the only way to govern. It is the only way to lead. It is the only way to follow. It is the only way to win. It is the only way to lose. It is the only way to succeed. It is the only way to fail. It is the only way to live. It is the only way to die. It is the only way to be. It is the only way to have. It is the only way to do.
