Four or five gentlemen in town have enough money between them to take one to the World's fair, and for the past two weeks have been trying, through the agency of draw poker, to determine who shall bave it all. At last accounts no one had won the coveted prize.

On last Saturday evening about one hundred persons assembled at Glaze's hall to witness the glove contest between Billy Ross and Jimmy Woods - Jack Summers Ross and Jimmy Woods. Jack Summers was chosen as referee and Jim Hall timer. Prior Smith was Ross' second and George Barnes, Woods'. At $220 Hall called time and the combatants went at it as if they were in real carnest. For the first two or three rounds neither seemed to have eained any advantage over the Inst two or three rounds herther seemed to have gained any advantage over the other, but in the fourth round it was plain to see that Woods was over-matched, Rose having too much science for his opponent. However the sparring went along with nother garsing any perceptible advantage until the eighth round, when Rose struck Woods wille on his knees, which the referee decided was a foul and awarded the centest to Woods—Review.

OREGON NOT PORTLAND,-The Oregon's World's Fair committee after hard work have succeeded in raising only $2200 work have succeeded in raising only $2200 toward the Oregon exhibit at the exposition of 1893, says the Walla Walla Statesman. The interfor towns are waiting to see what Portland will do. As Oregon, virtually, is Portland, this is nothing but right. We are getting tired of such talk. Oregon is not Portland by a big majority.

THE PROF. HERE -Prof Allen, the fortune teller, who has been getting into most of the calabooses through the valley, arrived in Albany last evening, and began ginning up until he was as drunk as in times past; but he managed to escape arrest up to the time of going to press.

AFRAID OF HIM,-Jas Spencer of the Albany hose team made a match foot race Albany hose team made with Ross, and in Portland the other day with Ross, and a forfelt of Sto each. Ross they posted a forfelt of $50 cach. Ross found out what a flyer he was to run against and refused to run and Spencer took the forfeit,-Telescope,
