Daily Democrat.

IN IT AGAIN.

Our cotemporary, the Herald, earnestly believes that when a duty is placed upon an imported article, the foreigner pays the tax or duty. McKinley believes it. The Herald makes the following quotation which it says was taken from a "London exchange": (Very few papers in America have London exchanges.)

"One of the greatest arguments against the theory that the consumer pays the import duty is to be found in the fact that when a foreign nation increases the tariff on a British product, the establishment charges as well as the wages on this side of the water are lowered, in order to give the manufacturer or the merchant a chance to deal successfully with the change. If the consumer paid the duty there would be little cause for our exporter to grumble. But our manufacturers and work people do make sacrifices to meet the extra duty, and we accordingly hear grumbling from both."

Now, the only inference to be drawn from this is, that the English or other foreign manufacturers, when receiving notice that the United States government has levied a duty upon the article which he manufactures, proceeds at once to reduce the price which he pays for his raw material, and to lower the wages of his employes in order that he may continue to export his product in the same quantities as before the leving of the duty, to the United States and to sell them at the former prices. Now, this argument our cotemporary accepts as conclusive of the allegation that the foreigner pays the duty. It is evident that the Herald does not know it, nevertheless, it is a fact that if the foreign manufacturer pursued that course it would knock the whole foundation from under the protection scheme and destroy the whole iden of protection.

Let us apply this to a familiar example —tin. Now, suppose that the foreign tin manufacturers so reduce the cost of wages, etc, that they may be able to send as much tin to this country as before the duty was placed upon it and to sell it at the same price, where is the protection to the "infant tin industry" in this country. This argument of the Herald is like all its arguments on this question, they prove too much. We make this proposition: In order to protect our home manufacturer congress must so legislate as to compel the foreign product to be sold at a higher price in this country or to reduce the amount of importations of such foreign products. With out these there can be no protection. To do this would utterly destroy the Herald's argument.

Republican papers all over the country have taken much delight in publishing a letter said to be written by Mills after his defeat for the speakership, to John P Phillips of Austin, Texas, which letter showed Mr Mills to be in a very disgruntled state. The attention of Mr Phillips having been called to the matter, he denies emphatically having received such a letter He is attempting to find out the first paper that published it that he may prosecute them under the laws of Texas.

Tony Noltner, of the Portland Dispatch, has gone east to attend the meeting of the national democratic committee which convenes in Washington City next Thursday, Jan. 21, to fix the time and place for holding the next national democratic convention. St Paul, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Cincinnati and New York are candidates. Give us St Paul or Milwaukee.

T B Reed, the ex-speaker, is quoted as saying that he does not think that either Blaine or Harrison will be the next republican nominee for president, on account of the strife that will exist between the friends of the two when the convention meets. He thinks a dark horse will be selected.

President Harrison is opposed to gerrymandering—democratic gerrymandering, hence he condemns in a message to congress the "Michigan plan." He sends no message to congress about the proposed republican gerrymander in Ohio, hence it is safe to say he is not opposed to republican gerrymandering.

The republicans who expect the democrats to split in congress will soon find their entire attention necessary for the work of holding their own forces together against a united and aggressive democracy. In view of this it is rather unfortunate that there are not enough republicans in the house to make two sides and a split.

The volume of the hollows filled by the ocean, says Prof Catley, is 14 times as great as the volume of the land projecting above the sea. If the land were leveled down and built up at sea-level, it would cover only 65,000,000 square miles, leaving over 131,000,000 of water surface; and if the whole lithosphere were smoothed down to mean sphere level and the ridges laid to rest in the hollows, a vast ocean 1¾ miles deep would roll around the shoreless world.

The New York World, the fairest partisan paper in the country, has been figuring out what the legislature of New York will be after the democrats shall have made a fair apportionment of assembly men and senators and finds that the democrats will have from 24 to 40 majority on joint ballot.

DON'T MISREPRESENT.

The Scio Press says:

An exchange very justly remarks, "We are told every day that "a tariff on wool does not benefit the wool grower." Mr Springer, of the ways and means, now also says it. Now let us ask, Does a tariff on woolens benefit the manufacturers? If not, why do the manufacturers insist that it be continued, and why does Mr Springer agree with them?

Now, the facts are that Springer does not agree with manufacturers that the duty in full should remain on woolens. It is within the knowledge of all newspaper men that Springer proposes to reduce the duties on woolens from an average duty of 91 per cent to an ad valorem duty of 35 per cent. And, if the Scio Press man will read the address and petition to congress from the National Association of Wool Manufacturers of Boston he will see that the manufacturers are fighting Springer's proposition to put wool on the free list and reduce woolens to 35 per cent ad valorem. No, the manufacturers stand by McKinleyism with as much zeal as the Scio Press man.

The New York World in speaking of ex-President Cleveland's speech at the banquet given in that city in honor of the memory of Andrew Jackson, says: "The speech is in Mr Cleveland's best vein. It is direct, forcible, explicit and courageous. It breathes a spirit of honesty and sincerity which gives the ex-president's utterances great weight in the country. The speech is admirable and interesting." Cleveland is the greatest living representative of Jacksonian principles, hence his fitness as a democaatic leader is unquestioned.—East Oregonian.

A convention is called to meet in the assembly chamber at Madison, Wisconsin, Feb. 2, for the purpose of reorganizing the original state farmer's alliance. It seems that the officers and some of the subordinate lodges have seceded from this organization and joined what is called the industrial union. At a meeting held recently by the remaining alliance in the state to discuss the subject it was decided to drop the question of a third party and reorganize under the original alliance.

Bad Blood.

Impure or vitiated blood is nine times out of ten caused by some form of constipation or indigestion that clogs up the system, when the blood naturally becomes impregnated with the effete matter. Thousands upon thousands attempt to reach this condition by attacking the blood with the drastic mineral "potash." The potash theory is old and obsolete. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is modern. It goes to the seat of the trouble. It arouses the liver, kidneys and bowels to healthful action, and invigorates the circulation, and the impurities are quickly carried out of the system.

Try it and note the delightful action. Chas.
