

SPRINGER'S VIEWS

The Oregonian, from time to time, without the least reason, represents democrats as seeking to put raw material on the free list without making any reduction in the duty on the manufactured product.

It does not follow, however, that nothing can be done on the subject of tariff legislation. Many of the provisions of the McKinley bill are so outrageous and oppressive as to demand immediate repeal or modification.

By the introduction and passage through the house of a series of bills attacking the most objectionable parts of the McKinley bill we may reasonably expect that some of those measures at least will receive the favor of the senate and president.

A SAFE LEADER

In the vast multitude of democratic expressions made yesterday in commemoration of Andrew Jackson, the cherished apostle of aggressive democracy, the utterance of Grover Cleveland will stand out almost single in its patriotic candor.

Mr Cleveland is one of the very few of our great men who always dare to utter the truth for the truth's sake. He is an entire stranger to the diplomatic or demagogic theory of employing words to conceal ideas.

Mr Cleveland's speech delivered in New York last evening is exquisite in its simplicity and impressive in its candor. It takes no note of the sectional political eruptions which come to-day and perish tomorrow.

We have reached a crisis in our political contest when integrity and statesmanship are more valued by the people than political expedients, and of that supreme sentiment Mr Cleveland is the ideal representative.

CONDENSED BY HIS OWN WORDS.

Major McKinley in a speech before an agricultural convention at Columbus, Ohio, on the 14th inst, said:

There is one thing that they all might as well make up their minds to do now: That they can't have wool free when it comes from the sheep's back and put a tariff on it when it comes on our backs.

But, Major, is it possible that you have forgotten that you told us forty times in the last two years that the tariff is not a tax, and that the foreigner pays it any way, and that placing a tariff duty on imported goods makes them cheaper?

A correspondent writes the DEMOCRAT that a so called newspaper says there is no difference between the democrats and republicans on the tariff question. Such statements always come from men who have sinister, selfish purposes to accomplish.

WHERE IS THE FAULT.

The Portland Telegram says: It is true that a great many men in Portland do not pay half or a quarter of the taxes they ought to. The same is true in a less degree throughout the state.

How the legislature is to make assessment matters better by assuaging and abolishing the present law is a great commendation. Efforts have been put forth the last eight or ten years in that body to practically no purpose.

No, sir, party success is not the first consideration with the democratic party. If the election of a democratic president and both houses of congress is not to result in a better general welfare for the masses of the people than they receive under a republican administration, then there is no sufficient reason why the democrats should succeed.
