

BROWNVILLE.

BROWNVILLE, Feb. 1, 1892.

Oh, the la grippe how it has done us all up of late. Most folks are on the improve of late.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. C. Averil have been quite sick of late, but are reported better.

F. M. Cooley, of Salem, is on a visit with his brother of this place.

Four railroad men were arrested on Friday on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, and arranged before the Hon. O. P. Costow. Two were fined $5 and two $10. We need an ordinance to put such claps to work on the streets, then the city would get some good, and people would be a little careful how they got in our city cooler.

Geo. Smith, a violinist of no small note of this place, died Jan. 25, of pneumonia. He was a fine looking man, and one would think him good for fifty years yet. This is another evidence that we should all accept the reminder, "Be ye also ready."

Politics are quiet here and we seldom hear of a candidate. Few are talked of as yet, but suppose they will come out all right in time.

Believed of Kidney Trouble.

S. J. Cronin, Russell House, Toronto, Canada writes:

"I have been troubled with a headache for some time past, and great difficulty in passing urine. Three weeks ago I applied an Allen's Pain Expeller, and have done so every three days since. Almost immediately I had partial relief, and now I am entirely free from pain—water passing freely and perfectly clear, without burning. I owe my great relief to Allen's Pain Expeller and heartily recommend them in any case of kidney trouble."

LA GRIPPE.

By using S. B. Headache and Liver Cure, and S. B. Cough Cure as directed for colds, They were SUCCESSFULLY used two years ago during the La Grippe epidemic, and very flattering testimonials of their power over that disease are at hand. Price 75 and 50 cts per bottle. For sale by Foshy & Mison.

"German Syrup"

G. Gloger, Druggist, Watertown, Wis. This is the opinion of a man who keeps a drug store, sells all medicines, comes in direct contact with the patients and their families, and knows better than anyone else how remedies sell, and what true merit they have. He hears of all the failures and successes, and can therefore judge: "I know of no medicine for Coughs, Sore Throat, or Hoarseness that had done such effective work in my family as Boschee's German Syrup. Last winter a lady called at my store, who was suffering from a very severe cold. She could hardly talk, and I told her about German Syrup and that a few doses would give relief; but she had no confidence in patent medicines. I told her to take a bottle, and if the results were not satisfactory I would make no charge for it. A few days after she called and paid for it, saying that she would never be without it in future as a few doses had given her relief."

FACTS ABOUT THE TEA WE DRINK.

But few people know that there is such a thing as a natural tea in existence, and fewer have even heard of it. But there is, and it is of all teas the most pure, and most fragrant. You see at once how it is that it is not offered for sale and that you know nothing of it. That is answered easily; but it is necessary to present first a few details. The public only knows two general classes, viz., the green and the black teas.

Green Teas.

Few people know that the bright bluish-green color of the ordinary tea exposed in the windows is not the natural color. Unpleasant as the fact may be, it is nevertheless artificial; Prussian blue, silica, gypsum, plumbago, and other unwholesome mineral colors being used for this purpose. The effect is twofold. It not only makes the tea a bright, shiny, attractive green, but also permits the use of "off-color" and worthless teas, which, once under the green cloak, are readily worked off as good quality of tea. Theobombinable coloring practice even admits of the use of foreign substances, and the English government, which looks closely into the genuineness of its staples than ours, has in some of the alleged "first" of tea found red lead, straw, fragments of matting, rice-husks, and willow leaves. In fact, it is openly stated by an English authority that hundreds of thousands of pounds of rice, ash, and willow leaves are annually imported as tea, which without the coloring process would be impossible. They report as one of the most notoriously adulterated articles of commerce. The temptation to make sweepings and had tea into a merchantable product with a few cents' worth of green coloring matter is too strong to withstand, and the worthlessness of the trash that often finds its way to this market labeled "New Crop," "Best Quality," "Green Tea," etc., would simply astound the public if revealed, to say nothing of the unwholesomeness of the Prussian blue, plumbago, gypsum, and the other mineral colors that are employed.

Black Teas.

The blackest and purest Japan teas, as well as the China teas that may be included under the general heading of "black teas," get their color from the firing or roasting process, but mineral coloring matter is also frequently used to give a certain desired commercial appearance. The firing and the coloring, as in the green tea, largely conceal the use of the very cheapest teas, to argue nothing for the deteriorating effect of excessive firing, which must be resorted to when a very cheap product is used and an extreme color desired.

Boschee's Tea (Sun-dried).

Concerning sun-dried teas the people of the Pacific Coast have heard but little and know less, although it is undoubtedly what is known and understood. We are told that when tea is so poor it cannot be sold at home or shipped to the English market, it is shipped to America; that we will drink anything. What may possibly be one of the reasons we have not been offered sun-dried teas. They were good enough to read elsewhere.

The sun-dried tea being sun-dried, no coloring matter is used, hence nothing but pure tea leaves can be employed; for attempts at adulteration or the introduction of foreign leaves or material would be bold and glaring. That it is, therefore, sweeter and far more fragrant than the artificially colored green teas and the manipulated black or purpled teas, you hardly need be told. That it is more healthful than the mineral-colored teas, is also apparent. That it is more expensive, is also true; and that is another reason you have never seen it. There is not so much profit in it as there is in the cheap adulterated and colored teas.

About the Cost of Teas.

According to the custom-house reports, the amount of tea received at San Francisco last year (1891) was $14,000,000 pounds and the value $44,250, or a fraction over 3 cts. per pound. The cost of which the reader was asked, paid for that tea was all the way from 10 cts. to 16 cts. per pound. In other words, for that $44,250 worth of tea the consumer paid between four and five millions of dollars. These are your enormous profits, and there you will probably find the chief reason why most of you never heard of sun-dried teas. As the sun-dried teas have no profit, they are compelled to be absolutely pure and of better quality than the artificially colored and manipulated teas. Hence the margins on these are smaller, and many dealers don't care about handling them, and you know nothing about them. But it is the object of this article to tell you where you can get them, and what to ask for, and all about them.

"Boschee's Tea."

"Boschee's Tea," guaranteed to be the pure sun-dried leaves, is now offered to the people of the Pacific Coast. It will be a revelation to you. You doubtless never saw any natural leaf. Have your grocer break open a package. It will be found in color to be just between the artificially colored green and the black teas, and the drawn tea presents a clear, brilliant canary color, of delightful fragrance. It is offered to the people at 60c per pound, the same price that many artificially colored teas are sold for. But the guaranteed purity makes it more economical to use for a less quantity, say about twenty grains, the required per cup. As there are 7,000 grains to a pound, there will be seen to be between three and four hundred cups to the pound, or at the rate of about one-fifth of a cent per cup. Its economy is therefore manifest. It is put up in one-pound packages only, in patent airtight and moisture-proof parchment, with the trade-mark that is found at the bottom of this article plainly printed on the package. It is sold in this form for two reasons; one is, that the original strength and aroma is preserved; and second, there can be no deception, which would be quite possible if it were sold in bulk, without the name and trade-mark attached.

Caution.

Recollect that the margin of profit is so much smaller on Boschee's pure sun-dried tea than on the artificially colored tea that you won't get it if you buy any other name can be put off on you. Ask for

BEECH'S TEA

"Pure As Childhood"

If your grocer does not have it, he will get it for you. Price 10c per pound. The above trade-mark and price is plainly printed on each package.

Perhaps the best way to get it is to go where you know they have it and are willing to sell it. For instance, it can be had without difficulty at

The Voice

Is easily injured—the slightest irritation of the throat or larynx at once affecting its tone, flexibility, or power. All efforts to sing or speak in public, under such conditions, become not only painful, but dangerous, and should be strictly avoided until every symptom is removed. To effect a speedy cure no other medicine is equal to

Ayer's

Cherry Pectoral

The best of medicines, this preparation rapidly soothes irritation, strengthens the delicate organs of speech, and restores the voice to its tone and power. No singer or public speaker should be without it. Lydia Thompson, the famous actress, certifies: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of very great service to me. It improves and strengthens the voice, and is always effective for the cure of colds and coughs."

"Upon several occasions I have suffered from colds, causing hoarseness and entire loss of voice. In my profession of an actress, any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter, but at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordinary care, has worked such a that I have suffered very little inconvenience. I have also used it in my family, with excellent results, in coughs, colds, &c."

Wm. H. Quattri, Minnato, Australia.

"In the spring of 1883, at Portsmouth, Va., I was prostrated by a severe attack of typhoid pneumonia. My physicians exhausted their remedies, and for one year I was not able to even articulate a word. By the advice of Dr. Shaw I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to my surprise and great joy, in less than one month I could converse easily, in a natural tone of voice. I continued to improve and have become since a well man. I have often recommended the Pectoral, and have never known it to fail."—George H. Lawrence, Valparaiso, Ind.
