

February 2nd, 1892.

Sodaville is lively now. Some property is changing hands.

It is very probable a college will be built here the coming summer. An Eastern man is at the head of this move.

Our school now numbers about 80 pupils, with Prof Barzee at the helm.

The C. P. church is finished and contractors gone home.

Miss Fannie Simms died near this place on Sunday last, of lung trouble. She was 22 years old, and was followed to her last resting place by a host of friends.

SUMMONS.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Linn County.

W. C. DAVIS and GEO. W. DAVIS, partners doing business under the firm name and style of Davis Bros., Plaintiffs, vs.
PETER R. BEAR, Defendant.
To Peter R. Bear, the above named defendant:

IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint of the plaintiff filed in the above entitled court, with the clerk of said court, by the first day of the next regular term of the above entitled court, to wit: on the 14th day of March, 1892, and you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint the plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $400.00 with interest thereon at the rate of 10 per cent per annum from the 2nd day of September, 1891, and for the costs and disbursements of this action to be taxed; and also take an order and decree of said court, to sell the following described land to wit: all your defendant's right, title and interest in the donation land claim of Owen Bear, being notation No. 2240 and claim No. 41 in township 12, south Range 4 West and claim No. 48 in township 12, south Range 4 West, in Linn county, Oregon, containing 644.50 acres, less than 41 acres heretofore sold to various parties, leaving 603.50 acres; which said land was duly levied upon by writ of attachment duly issued out of the above named court, in the above entitled action on the 8th day of September, 1891, for the purposes of securing any judgment that the plaintiff might recover in the above entitled cause.

This summons is served by publication in the State Rights Democrat by order of the Honorable R. P. Boise, Judge of the above entitled Court, made at Chambers on the 16th day of January, 1892.

J. K. WEATHERFORD,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

SUMMONS.

In the Circuit Court for Linn County, State of Oregon:

H. A. FRANCE, Plaintiff,
vs.
ORVILLE FRANCE, Defendant.
To Orville France, the above named defendant:

IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the first day of the next regular term of the above entitled court, to wit: following the expiration of the publication of this summons to wit: the 14th day of March, 1892, and if you fail to answer as herein required, the plaintiff will take judgment against you for the relief demanded in her complaint, to wit: a decree of the above entitled court dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between plaintiff and defendant above named and awarding to plaintiff the custody of Ael Warner France, the minor child of plaintiff and defendant.

This service of summons is made by publication by order of Hon. R. P. Boise, Judge of said court, made at Chambers, in the city of Salem, on the 11th day of January, 1892.

"German Syrup"

J. C. Davis, Rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Eufaula, Ala.: "My son has been badly afflicted with a fearful and threatening cough for several months, and after trying several prescriptions from physicians which failed to relieve him, he has been perfectly restored by the use of two bottles of Boschee's German Syrup. I can recommend it without hesitation." Chronic severe, deep-seated coughs like this are as severe tests as a remedy can be subjected to. It is for these long-standing cases that Boschee's German Syrup is made a specialty. Many others afflicted with this lad was, will do well to make a note of this.

J. F. Arnold, Montevideo, Minn., writes: I always use German Syrup for a Cold on the Lungs. I have never found an equal to it—far less a superior.

FACTS ABOUT THE TEA WE DRINK.

But few people know that there is such a thing as a pure tea in existence, and fewer have seen it. But there is, and it is of all teas the sweetest, purest, and most fragrant. You ask at once how it is that it is not offered for sale and that you know nothing of it. That is answered easily; but it is necessary to present first a few details. The public only knows two general classes, viz, the green and the black teas.

Green Teas.
Few people know that the bright bluish-green color of the ordinary tea exposed in the windows is not the natural color. Unpleasant as the fact may be, it is nevertheless artificial. Presumably blue, green, yellow, plumage, and other unsuitable mineral colors being used for this purpose. The effect is twofold. It not only makes the tea a bright, shiny, attractive green, but also permits the use of "off-color" and worthless teas, which, once under the green cloak, are readily worked off as a good quality of tea. Theobromine coloring practice even admits of the use of foreign substances, and the English government, which looks closer into the genuineness of the staples than ours, has in some of the alleged "best" of tea found red lead, arsenic, fragments of maiting, rice-husks, and willow leaves. In fact, it is openly stated by an English authority that hundreds of thousands of pounds of sloe, ash, and willow leaves are annually imported as tea, without the coloring process would be impossible. They report that as one of the most notoriously adulterated articles of commerce. The temptation to make sweepings and bad tea into a marketable product with a few cents' worth of green coloring matter is too strong to withstand, and the worthlessness of the trash that often finds its way to this market is too great to be overlooked. "Green Tea," etc., would simply delude the public if revealed, to say nothing of the unhealthfulness of the Prussian blue, plumage, green, and the other mineral colors that are employed.

Black Teas.
The basket and pan-dried Japan teas, as well as the China teas that may be included under the general heading of "black teas," get their color from the firing or roasting process, but mineral coloring matter is also frequently used to give a certain desired commercial appearance. The firing and the coloring, as in the green teas, largely conceal the identity of the tea, and permits the use of the very cheapest teas, to argue nothing for the deteriorating effect of excessive firing, which must be resorted to when a very cheap product is used and an extreme color desired.

Boschee's Tea (Sun-dried).
Concerning sun-dried teas the people of the Pacific Coast have heard but little and know less, although it is extensively used where it is known and understood. We are told that when tea is so poor it cannot be sold at home or easily shipped to the English markets, it is shipped to America; that we will drink anything. That may possibly be one of the reasons we have not heard of sun-dried teas. They were good enough to send elsewhere.

The sun-dried tea being sun-dried, no coloring matter is used, hence nothing but pure tea leaves can be employed; for unsalted by manipulation or coloring, all attempts at adulteration or the introduction of foreign leaves or material would be bold and glaring. That is, therefore, sweeter and far more fragrant than the artificially colored green teas and the manipulated basket or pan-dried teas, you hardly need be told. That it is more healthful than the mineral-colored teas, is also apparent. That it is more expensive, is also true; and that is another reason you have never seen it. There is not so much profit in it as there is in the cheap adulterated and colored teas.

About the Cost of Teas.
According to the eastern-house reports, the amount of tea imported to San Francisco last year (1891) was $44,136,000, and the value $44,200, or a fraction over 12¢ per pound. The consumer, of which the reader was ago, paid for that tea all the way from 6¢ to 10¢ per pound. In other words, for that $44,200 worth of tea the consumer paid between four and five millions of dollars. There are your enormous profits, and there you will probably find the chief reason why most of you never heard of a sun-dried tea. As the sun-dried teas have no profit, they are compelled to be absolutely pure and of better quality than the artificially colored and manipulated teas.

Hence the margins on them are smaller, and many dealers do not care to handle them, and you know nothing about them. But it is the subject of this article to tell you where you can get them, and what to ask for, and all about them.
"Boschee's Tea," guaranteed to be the pure sun-dried leaves, is now offered to the people of the Pacific Coast. It will be a revelation to you. You doubtless never saw any natural leaf. Have your grocer break open a package. It will be found in color to be just between the artificially colored green and the black teas, and the drawn tea presents a clear, brilliant canary color, of delightful fragrance. It is offered to the people at 6¢ per pound, the same price that many artificially colored teas are sold for. But the guaranteed purity makes it more economical to use; for a less quantity, say about twenty grains, is required per cup. As there are 1,600 grains in a pound, there will be seen to be between three and four hundred cups of the pound, or at the rate of about one fifth of a cent per cup. Its economy is therefore manifest. It is put up in one-pound packages only, in patent airtight and moisture-proof parchment, with the trade-mark clearly found at the bottom of this article plainly printed on the package. It is sold in this form for two reasons; one is, that the original strength and aroma is preserved; and second, there can be no deception, which would be quite possible if it were sold in bulk, without the name and trade-mark attached.

Caution.
Recollect that the margin of profit is so much smaller on Boschee's pure sun-dried tea than on the artificially colored tea that you won't get it if you buy any other name can be put off on you. Ask for

BEECH'S TEA

"Pure As Childhood"

If your grocer does not have it, he will get it for you. Price 6¢ per pound. The above trade-mark and price is plainly printed on each package.

Perhaps the best way to get it is to go where you know they have it and are willing to sell it. For instance, it can be had without difficulty at

The Voice

Is easily injured—the slightest irritation of the throat or larynx at once affecting its tone, flexibility, or power. All efforts to sing or speak in public, under such conditions, become not only painful but dangerous, and should be strictly avoided until every symptom is removed. To effect a speedy cure no other medicine is equal to

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The best of anodynes, this preparation rapidly soothes irritation, strengthens the delicate organs of speech, and restores the voice to its tone and power. No singer or public speaker should be without it. Lydia Thompson, the famous actress, certifies: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of very great service to me. It improves and strengthens the voice, and is always effective for the cure of colds and coughs."
"Upon several occasions I have suffered from colds, causing hoarseness and entire loss of voice. In my profession of an actress, any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter, but at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordinary care, has worked such a that I have suffered very little inconvenience. I have also used it in my family, with excellent results, in coughs, colds, &c." Wm. H. Quarry, Minotau, Australia.

"In the spring of 1888, at Portsmouth, Va., I was prostrated by a severe attack of typhoid pneumonia. My physicians exhausted their remedies, and for one year I was not able to even articulate a word. By the advice of Dr. Shaw I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to my surprise and great joy, in less than one month I could converse easily, in a natural tone of voice. I continued to improve and have become since a well man. I have often recommended the Pectoral, and have never known it to fail."—George H. Lawrence, Valparaiso, Ind.
