FACTS

ABOUT THE TEA WE DRINK.

But few people knew that there is such a thing as sum-rised ten in cultimes, and fewer have even it. Dut these is, and is to of all tens the process, and need ingreat. You rake at most purces, and most in not offered for rake at the process in the state is not offered for rake and that you knew nothing of it. That is unavered analy; but it is necessary to present first a few details. The public only knews two general charges, via, the green and the black tens.

Green Tens.

Green Tens.

Fow people know that the bright bluishgreen color of the ordinary was expected in the windows is not the netword color. Unpleasant as the fact may be, it is nevertheless artificial; Sussian blue, silice, gypum, plumbage, and other unhealthfu mineral color being used for this purpose. The effect is twofold. It asseming makes the issa shright, shiny, aircashive green, best also permits the use of "off-color" and worthless was, which,
once under the green cleak, are readily worked off as a good quality of tea. The abouninable coloring practice even admits of the use of foreign substances, and the English government, which looks closer into the genunineness of its staples than ours, has in semof the alleged "facest" of teas found redried leaves, straw, fragments of matting, ricehuses, and willow leaves. In fact, it is openly stated by an English authority that hundreds of thousands of pounds of sice, ash, and willow leaves are annually imported as tea, which without the coloring process would be impossible. They report tea as one of the most noteriously adulterated articles of commerce.
The temptation to make sweeplums and had notoriously adulterated articles of comma The temptation to make sweepings and bad tea into a merchantable product with a few cents' worth of green coloring matter is too cents worth of green coloring matter is too strong to withstand, and the worthlessness of the trash that often finds its way to this mar-ket labeled "New Crop," "Best Quality," "Green Tes," sto, would simply astound the public if revealed, to say nothing of the un-healthfulness of the Erussian blue, plum-bago, gypsum, and the other mineral colors that are employed.

Black Teas.

Black Teas.

The basket and pan-fired Japan tess, as well as the China test that may be included under the general heading of "black teas," get their color from the firing or tossting process, but mineral coloring matter is also frequently used te give a certain desired commercial appearance. The firing and the coloring, as in the green tess, largely conceals the identity of the tea, and permits the use of the very chappens teas, to argue nothingfor the deteriorating effect of excessive firing which must be resorted to when a very chap product is used and an extreme color desired.

Beech's Tea (Sun-dried).

Beech's Tes (Sun-dried).

Besch's Tea (Sun-dried).

Concerning un-dried teas the people of the Pacific Coast have heard but little and know loss, aithough it is embensively used where it is known and understood. We are told that when wa is so poor it cannot be sold at home or sabily shipped to the Baglish maskets, it is chipped to America; that we will drink any-dring. What may possibly be one of the reagans we have not been effored sun-dried teas. They were good encush to send elsewhere. The sun-dried teas being sun-sured, no coloring maker is used, hence nothing but may be not been entired to the sun-dried teas being sun-sured, no coloring maker is used, hence nothing but may be leaves on he employed; for unsaffeed by manipulation or coloring, all astendard to the first of the sun-dried teas and the manipulated basket or foreign leaves or material would be bold and given teas and the manipulated basket or pan-dreal teas, you hardly need be told. That it is more healthful than the mineral-colored teas, is also separess. That it is more expensive, is also separess. That it is more expensive, is also sever seen it. There is not expensive, is also sever and that is another reason you have have never seen it. There is not sexpensive in it as there is in the chesp adulterated and colored teas.

About the Cost of Tens.

About the Cost of Tens.

According to the custom-house reports, the amount of twa received at San Francisco last amount of twa anceived at Ean Francisco last year (1802) was a 542,100 yeared, and the value $245,200, or a Francisco last year (1802) was a 542,100 yeared like per pound. The consumer, of which the reader was one, paid for that it was all the way from 500 to 80 per pound. In other words, for that $255,200 wards of twa the consumer yaid between four and five millions of deliars. There are your enormous presits, and there you will probably find the chief reason why most of you never heard of a sun-deled tra. As the sun-dried teas have no made, they are compelled to be absolutely pure and of better quality than the satisficially solored and manipulated teas. Hence the mention on them are smaller, and many designs during about them. But it is the and you know nething about them. But it is the object of this article to tell yes where you one get them, and what to ask for, and all about them. "Beach's Tea," guaranteed to be the pure "Beech's Ten. Run-nutsed to be the pure sub-sured leaves, is now offered to the people of the Faethe Cent. It will be a revelation to you. You doubtless never saw any nat-ural leaf. Have your grocer break open a jachage. It will be found in color to be just between the artificially colored green and the black teat, and the drawn tea presents a clear, brilliant canary color, of delightful clear, brilliant canary color, of delightful fragrance. It is offered to the people at 60c per pound, the same price that many artificially colored tens are sold for. But its guaranteed purity makes it more economical to use; for a less quantity, say about twenty grains, its required per cup. As there are 7.000 grains to a pound, there will be seen to be between three and four hundred cups to the pound, or other not of about one fifth of a cest per cup. Its economy is therefore a cent per cup. Its economy is therefore manifest. It is put up in one-pound packages only, in patent str-light and moisture-proof parchment, with the trade-mark that is found partitions, with the trade-mark that is found at the bottem of this article planty printed on the paskage. It is sold in this form for two reasons; one is, that the original aircraft and aroma is preserved; and second, there can be no deception, which would be quite possible if it were sold in bulk, without the name and trade-mark ancebes. name and trade-mark attached.

Recollect that the margin of profit is so much smaller on Beach's pure sun-dried toas than on the artificially colored teas that you won't get it if tea by any other name can be patoSenyon Ask for
